Not in this NG I won't, faggotface. You keykweenz are dick sucking pieces of shit and should be continually reminded of it. Tough shit if you don't like it. You can't do a fucking thing about it, nut slurper.

All illegal freeband amp using keykweenz ARE faggots. This has been long proven. They get on the illegal channels cuz the heterosexuals on the regular 40 don't like them. They use amps 'cuz they have to seek each other out over long distances, and then they organize meetings where they get together and suck each others' dicks.

Indeed. Walk the block, find out where the interference fades in each direction, and your new friend will probably be smack in the middle of those points.

Local ham club will have better means, but it sounds like this guy won't be hard to peg.

Localities are allowed to enact local regs, and enforce them, as long as they are not more strict than the FCC regs. Hams are notably exempt. However, they have to have local regs in place first.

Nuisance might work, contact the cops on Thursday night, they'll likely be busy Fri and Sat, with the weekend traffic.

1. the front panel control for the RIT isn't a variable capacitor, it's a variable resistor.

2. the symptoms don't indicate anything wrong with the control, rather something wrong with the circuitry in the radio.

3. if you don't have the technical knowledge to trace the circuit path through the rig, then send/take it to a reliable tech.

It sees more use than my SB-220 and does not requir nearly as much drive. I still have it and use it although I'm still of a mind to sell it as I have a few too many amps here.

If I remember correctly,

No, $375
Not that bad for an amp that uses $7 tubes and make close to 1000 watts.

I would say yes that what I posted is good advice and it works. I have done this many times and it gets the point across better then a lawyer of the feds. It also takes the offending equipment off the air. Nothing wrong with running power so long as it is kept clean. I run a shade over 100 watts myself with no complaints and it doesn't interfere with any of my equipment that is within 5 feet of the radio and feed line.

Amateur Radio Newsline™ Report 1372 – November 28, 2003

Amateur Radio Newsline report number 1372 with a release date of Friday, November 28, 2003 to follow in 5-4-3-2-1.

The following is a Q-S-T. Australia plans a celebration to welcome no-code, a New Zealand ham plans an Amateur Radio replacement for a frequency standard station and the U-S-A is on the verge of banning unsolicited junk e-mail. Find out the details on Amateur Radio Newsline report number 1372 coming your way right now.

RESTRUCTURING: WELCOMING NO CODE “DOWN-UNDER”

Last week Australia’s decided to abolish code exams on the 1st of January. Now its planning a world-wide on-the-air celebration as 2003 gives way to 2004 and Morse testing disappears. Jim Linton, VK3PC, has the story and an invitation for you to take part:

On New Year's Day 2004 Australian radio amateurs will gain access to the High Frequency bands using licenses that don't require the passing of Morse code telegraphy tests. The Wireless Institute of Australia invites the world's amateur radio fraternity to join an on-air celebration of this special occasion.

To celebrate the event, there will be a "WIA Welcome to HF QSO Party" beginning at 0001 Australian Eastern Daylight Time and conclude at 2400 UTC on New Year's Day - a total of 35 hours. The VK radio amateurs appearing on HF bands for the first time can be identified by three-letter VK callsign suffixes that begin with the letters H, T, U, X, Y and Z.

WIA amateur stations will be on air to join the HF QSO Party, and these have two-letter callsign suffixes "WI" or three letter suffixes starting with "WI." Listen for the call "CQ WIA Welcome to HF QSO Party".

Many in Amateur Radio have been campaigning for years to have code tests removed as a license requirement to operate on amateur bands below 30 MHz. For Australia this will happen on the 1st of January, 2004 with this very special on-the-air celebration.

INTERNATIONAL - NEW ZEALAND: A PROPOSAL TO REPLACE VNG

Still down-under, word that well known "Digital Modes" Amateur, Murray Greenman, ZL1BPU, has proposed that New Zealand and Australian hams put together a network of simple and inexpensive transmitters. This, to provide a high accuracy Standard Frequency Service to replace the VNG standards station that has now gone QRT. Amateur Radio Newslines Jim Meachen ZL2BHF is in Auckland with the details:

Amateurs in the South Pacific have for many years relied on VNG transmissions as a prime source of accurate frequency reference. With the closure of VNG in December 2002, the sole remaining precision signal source in our area is WWVH, in Hawaii. Unfortunately the WWVH signal quality in the South Pacific is generally too poor for reliable use, either to zero beat a simple calibrator, or using more sophisticated computer based techniques.

ZL1BPU says that a series of tests over the last two years has shown that simple low power carrier transmissions on the 80m band would fulfill most of the requirements of a Standard Frequency Service:

Greenman: “Using simple HF transmitters that I've designed, we have confirmed that low power transmissions are very useful, for both calibration and propagation study, up to at least 3000 km range.

Anyone can monitor these signals, using a stable receiver and freely available software to look for small frequency shifts that accompany each propagation path. Classic effects such as multiple paths with different refractive indices for different signal polarization’s are easily observable.

Doppler shift is particularly marked around sunrise and sunset. Observing these signals gives a better understanding of propagation, which is the key to accurate on-air frequency measurement.”

The Service now operates on a test basis with transmissions from a high precision local reference on an exact kHz point 80m frequency using a carrier power of 1-5W. The Transmissions are identified in Morse every 30 minutes. Operation is from a different geographical location each weekend. Transmission times are announced and coordinated beforehand by e-mail.

Reporting from Auckland New Zealand I'm Jim Meachen ZL2BHF for Newsline

ZL1BPU adds that these are privately owned, operated and attended test transmissions, not beacons. Establishing a Standard Frequency Service formally, perhaps under the auspices of the NZART, might be considered in the future. (NZART News)

COMMUNICATIONS LAW: HOUSE PASSES ANTI-SPAM LAW

Here in the U-S-A, Congress has moved closer to passing the first-ever federal protections against unwanted commercial e-mails. This, with the House passing a bill on Saturday, November 22nd that would impose new limits on sending direct advertising offers -- commonly called spam mail.

Approved on a 392 to 5 vote, the measure would prohibit senders of unsolicited commercial e-mail from disguising their identity by using a false return address or misleading subject line. It would also prohibit bulk mailers from harvesting addresses off websites and require such e-mails to include a mechanism so recipients can indicate they do not want future mass mailings. Penalties for failure to comply could be up to five years in prison in some circumstances.

The House bill largely mirrors ant-Spam legislation the Senate approved last month. Supporters hope that slight differences between the two measures can be resolved before Congress adjourns for the year. The Bush administration says that it supports the anti-spam efforts. (Published news reports)

RADIO LAW: THE FCC ON PRIVACY OF INFORMATION

The FCC has put in place a temporary policy that will keep the public from knowing who is facing enforcement action by that agency. Amateur Radio Newsline’s Bruce Tennant, K6PZW, picks up the story:

Don’t look for names and call signs of alleged regulatory violators to be released by the FCC anymore. At least not for a while. This is because the agency has revised the format in which it's supplying the media and the public with information regarding alleged regulatory scofflaws, including those in the Amateur Radio service.

The revised temporary policy is based on privacy concerns within the FCC. Until further notice, the agency says that it will only provide the location where a violator lives along with a very brief synopsis of the action taken.

Following a policy review now taking place the FCC says it will announce a new privacy policy for all future information releases.

For the Amateur Radio Newsline, I'm Bruce Tennant, K6PZW, reporting.

No timetable has been announced for the privacy policy review to be completed. (FCC)

ENFORCEMENT: NO MORE ADS AND WE RENEW YOUR LICENSE

And without mentioning any name or callsign, the FCC has acted in a pending non-certified radio equipment marketing case. This, as a Tomah, Wisconsin, licensee is informed that renewal of his Technician license would be granted on the condition that he permanently remove from the World-Wide-Web certain information.

The FCC says what it wants removed includes any advertisements for, or references to, the sale of transmitting equipment that operates, or is intended to operate, on frequencies in the Citizens Band service. Also references to gear for any other radio service requiring the use of certified transmitting equipment but which has not been certificated by the regulatory agency.

If he says O-K, he gets his ticket renewed. If he refuses to comply, the FCC says that his renewal will be designated for hearing before Administrative Law judge. (FCC)

ENFORCEMENT: PA REPEATER PROBLEM

The FCC has also warned a Lewistown, Pennsylvania, Extra class licensee that he must heed the request by a repeater owner to stay off that system and that technical problems with his own repeater must be corrected immediately.

And in an Order issued by Philadelphia FCC office that licensee was told that his repeater could not operate under automatic control until further notice. He was also requested to provide operational information about the repeater, including names and addresses of control operators. (FCC)

ENFORCEMENT: TOWER VANDAL FACES 27 MONTHS IN PRISON

And you can just about write the words "the end" to the case of a Washington man accused of tampering with more than 20 high voltage power towers in four western states that we have been reporting on. 62-year-old Michael Poulin has admitted the charges and has entered a plea bargain agreement with federal prosecutors. As a result, he will serve no more than 27 months in prison. He also faces a possible fine of $500,000. Without the plea agreement he could have been sentenced to jail for up to 10 years. (CGC)

RADIO LAW FOLLOW-UP: THE NEVADA HIGHWAY PATROL VS THE FCC

Some enforcement news of a different kind by way of the Reno Gazzette Journal and the C-G-C Communicator. Both bring word that the Nevada Highway Patrol has turned over a 255 page investigative report and 2,500 pages of supporting documentation to that states Attorney General's office. The Attorney General will now consider the possibility of criminal charges will be determined in connection with the police agency’s use of a radio system on frequencies for which it holds no licenses.

As previously reported, the highway patrol launched the investigation earlier this year when it was discovered that it didn’t have the proper licenses to operate the $14 million communications system built for it in 2000. The FCC has threatened to fine Nevada and block the states future license requests if the Nevada Highway Patrol does not quickly abandon use of the unauthorized frequencies. (CGC)

WITH THE ARRL: 2004 ELECTION RESULTS

The ARRL has announced that Frank Fallon, N2FF, retained his seat as Director of the League's Hudson Division. This, by defeating Vice Director Steve Mendelsohn, W2ML, by a vote of 1933 to 1470.

Ballots were counted November 21 at ARRL Headquarters. The Hudson Division's was the sole contested seat in the current director-vice director election cycle.

Incumbents running in the Central, New England, Northwestern and Roanoke Divisions ran unopposed and were declared elected. Joyce Birmingham, KA2ANF, was the lone candidate for the vice director's seat that W2ML vacated to run for the division's top spot and was also declared as elected.

And don’t look for as many League elections to take place in the future as in years past. These candidates were elected to serve three-year terms of office that begin at noon on January 1, 2004. The change from two year to three year terms was instituted by the ARRL Board a few years ago. (ARRL)

REQUIRED READING: SURGE PROTECTION - SEPARATING MYTH FROM FACT

If you think that $2.98 bargain basement power strip will protect your ham gear from power line spikes, you could be in for a rude and very expensive awakening. This is the gist of a feature article in the December issue of Popular Communications Magazine titled Surge Protection: Separating Myth From Fact.

The author is Popcom Editor Harold Ort, N2RLL. In it, Ort takes you on a mind boggling journey into the world of powerline surge protectors. He tells you why power surges take place and what really works to protect your station -- and -- what does not.

The article is must reading for any ham that operates his station from mains power. You can find Popular Communications on many newsstands worldwide or subscribe over the web at www dot popular dash communications dot com. (ARNewsline(tm))

INDUSTRY NEWS: ROHN ANNOUNCES ASSET PURCHASE AGREEMENT

Amateur Radio and telecommunications industry tower manufacturer ROHN Industries has announced that it's entered into an asset purchase agreement. This with SPX Corporation which is described as a global, multi-industry company.

According to the ARRL Letter, ROHN filed for Chapter 11 debtor-in-possession relief in the US Bankruptcy Court for the Southern District of Indiana on September 16. The deal, if approved by the court would include ROHN subsidiaries that are party to the bankruptcy proceeding. (WA6KLA, ARRL)

HAM HELP: DX SOUND BITE NEEDED

Did you have a tape recorder running the weekend of the CQ World Wide SSB contest? If you did then Glen Lowery, K2FF needs to hear what you have.

The reason? Well, it seems that Daryl Goldman, KD5CQT, and Randy Becnel, W5UE , spent a week in Suriname in October. Goldman operated as PZ5CQ while Becnel was on as PZ5UE. The duo also activated PZ5A in the contest.

Anyhow, when the team got back home they realized that they had recorded everyone on tape except PZ5UE. And now there is a presentation planned for early December and audio of Becnel in QSO is needed to complete the show.

If you happened to be listening in and have the one missing station recorded, please contact Glen Lowery by e-mail to k2ff@aol.ccm Everyone involved will be very appreciative if one of you can help out.

HAM RADIO IN SPACE: ARISS GEAR PASSES PREFLIGHT TEST

Some exciting news on new ham radio hardware slated to be carried to the International Space Station. We have more in this report:

ARISS International Chairman Frank Bauer, KA3HDO, reports that he and other members of the USA team just returned from Russia where we they were supporting a series of meetings and tests at the Energia facility.

According to Bauer, the primary reason for the US team visit was to complete the testing of the Phase 1 Ericsson 2 meter and 70 cm radios, along with the Phase 2 Kenwood D 700 radio system using a set of flight identical ARISS antenna systems.

The tests were performed in the KIS facility at Energia that houses all their flight equipment. Inside the KIS is a flight equivalent Service Module. The good news is that the group not only successfully completed the end-to-end testing of the Kenwood and Ericsson radio systems but the SSTV system as well.

The successful completion of these end-to-end tests was a requirement by the Russian team. This, to clear these radio systems for use in the on-orbit Service Module.

For the Amateur Radio Newsline, I’m Norm Seeley, KI7UP.

By the way, the International Space Station celebrated its fifth anniversary in Earth orbit on November 20th. (ARISS)

ON THE AIR: NEW SPANISH LANGUAGE IRLP REFLECTOR

A Spanish language reflector has come to the Internet Repeater Linking Project. This, with word that Reflector 9201 is in full operation and all users with Spanish skills are invited to join in the fun.

Jay Santiago, KP4EOP, is the operator of node 7040. He and the Chicago based Asociacion Iberoamericana de Radio Aficionados are the people behind the project. They say that 9201 is not closed to non-Spanish speakers. Rather it is a place in ham radio cyberspace where the Spanish language will be primary.

Up until now, IRLP- has been dominated English and French speaking nodes and reflectors. This left a large portion of the worlds Spanish only speakers out of communications over the very popular repeater linking system -- a problem that’s now been corrected thanks to the Asociacion Iberoamericana de Radio Aficionados. PROPAGATION TECHNOLOGY: NEW SOLAR FLARE THEORY

The recent series of solar storms to hit Earth may be caused by the sun's iron-rich interior. So says one solar researcher who theorizes that the sun's core is made of iron rather than hydrogen.

Dr. Oliver Manuel is a professor of nuclear chemistry. He believes that iron, not hydrogen, is the sun's most abundant element. And, in a paper accepted for publication in the Journal of Fusion Energy, Manuel asserts that the standard solar model which assumes that the sun's core is made of hydrogen has led to misunderstandings of how such solar flares occur.

As ever ham knows, these flares can play havoc with high frequency communications while turning some VHF frequencies into world-wide D-X bands. (ANS and Space Daily)

DX

And speaking about DX, word that OK1TN will operate portable KP2 from St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands through the 13th of December. If you make contact, QSL as directed on the air.

Also, K3JT is active as 5X1X from Uganda for the five or six weeks. Sorry. No other information on this operation is available at this time.

Lastly, the Council of Europe Radio Amateur Club, has launched a competition open to all radio amateurs. This, to commemorate the 18th anniversary of its establishment in June 1986. The challenge involves sending a list of all contacts made with their club station TP2CE using its various special prefixes before the end of June 2004. The competitive courses are open to anyone of any age, experienced or not. Here's your chance to learn from experts like Jay Thompson W6JAY, Newsline's Young ham of the year. He was a medal winner at this year's Championships in Ohio.

These USA Championships will take place just in time for final selection of Team USA members who will travel to the Czech Republic for the ARDF World Championships in September.

Event sponsor for 2004 is the Santa Barbara Amateur Radio club. General Chair is Marvin Johnston KE6HTS, a member of USA's first team to the World Championships back in 1998 and winner of medals at the last two USA Championships.

The official Web site of the 2004 Championships is now being prepared, announcing the location of event headquarters, rules and technical details. Just filter out messages with such words in them, and from certain senders who post nothing but abuse.
You will find that the group goes very quiet... there is very little real CB content.

That has to be the best joke on this group for months.

Sure, the "Richard Cranium" nic seems to be used just for the arguments - whether he posts under another name or not is a matter for debate (albeit a pointless debate).
But what does Georgina contribute to this group? Anonymous posts, lying, foul language, arguments, accusations... just what he accuses Dicky boy of.

He will not even give his christian name - like it's some fecking great secret. I don't expect him to give his full name and addy, but a christian name and a regular "nic" would be some use. But then, once you allow people to call you by your christian name, things change - you become more of a friend. It wouldn't do for some people to actually be seen as friends with CBers.

Most of us are anonymous to a degree... but at least most of us are willing to give our a name, be friendly, help people when they ask for information, etc. Some of us even tell people what they can do on CB - not just what they cannot.
Hey, even Sparkles gives his name, posts some very useful stuff at times, and has been known to post some helpful replies. Being a real pro-legal person does not mean that you cannot be friendly and helpful - being an a$$h*le troll does.

Brainbuster.

That goes without saying! They still think that I'm AE352 although they have never presented any proof. I've never belonged to the American Eagles nor posted as one.

Clueless morons they are, for sure.

Hi Sideband, nice to hear from you. No it's not George Busch WA3MOJ@Aol.Com, it was me using that random letters and # to keep Spam down. But now that George has sent multiple complaints to my ISP from his AOL account, I again have proved that George has an AOL account and has been trolling rec.radio.cb for years.
Sorry for an confusion this may have caused you, I am not going to use that screen nic again, per my ISP's advice. Because George has been flooding their abuse box over the weekend I'm sure.

Hope you had a great Thanksgiving!

Yeah, but at least we relaxed and had a good time

Hey, off the topic for a minute.....
Did you see monster garage yesterday? They did an Indy car the was a line painter for the road. What was really cool was the cops came to the garage while they were testing it out on the street. The next thing was cool, the cop car did a brake stand burnout.....Pretty funny if you ask me.

Ok.. Go ahead.. figure out my email address and post with it.. I'll have it traced, find the culprit, and have them jailed for identity theft.

Of course, I never believed that the real WA3MOJ would post the drivel that's been posted here under his name. No self respecting Amateur Radio Operator would act in such a despicable manner.

Apparently someone is having trouble with separating quotes from their own text.... Kindof like separating what they think from what others think..

I guess we can safely assume Mr. Wallace (Who's name should be associated with freedom, and is obviously a fake) is a troll.

As I've pointed out before: You're the only one here with any knowledge of such things, Georgie-girl. You are Queenie.

It's obvious who the "dick sucking pieces of shit" are. What is not obvious is why you and DouGay need to be continually reminded of it!

So why are you replying for DouGay "repeaterjammer" Adairierre? Did pervert appoint you as his spokeswoman?

You guys forging WA3MOJ are the same ones crying about ISP TOS etc. how can you condemn one forge and condone another is what I want to know.
Chris you condoned the forgery of MOJ, Mark you pretend that there is no MOJ even though he is in the QRZ data base, Steve you justify whatever foul deed you commit by saying its payback. Dont you see how much of a lieing hypocrite that makes you in others eyes. You are blindly following your leader Twithed who is a fruitloop from the word go and no one in their right mind would listen to. Now you are posting shit about people who have nothing to do with CB and god help you when your harassment blows up in your face because it will, oh yes it will.

Sorry that you have to deal with this stuff Sideband, it was not my intentions that you get harassed by George. If he had just admitted he was WA3MOJ@AOL.COM, then I'm sure no one would be using "his" call sign on here.
Again, sorry you are being harassed by him.

Because you did not agree with him on my use of his call sign. Of course he has said hundreds of times he's "not" WA3MOJ@AOL.COM . Of course the forwarded complaints from my ISP says different.
He is George Busch WA3MOJ, he has a Comcast account along with his WA3MOJ@AOL.COM account and he is a troll.

Who can take a hard dick Suck out all the goo
Stuff his nose up a butt crack
And rim it real good too

Twistedhed

And thinks it tastes real good

Who can bend it over
And beg for throbbing dick
And when he's finished gettin' pumped Turn around and lick a prick

And thinks it tastes real good

Twistedhed thinks

Announce that he'll be reamed
Collect ten bucks a trucker
And then suck up all the cream

Nice radio, but why does the meter on the radio show 2 watts while the meter on top show 4 watts? I mean, radios of that day were rated for 5 watts -input- to the final, which usually resulted in no more than 2 watts at the jack, and that is consistent with the radio's meter. Turning them up higher distorted the audio and burnt out the final in a very short time. Has this radio been modified to meet current specs, or was the external meter adjusted to show 4 watts?

Do you have a pic showing the inside of the chassis like you do for the other radio?

And why do you have the reserve so high?

WHY GOD INVENTED MENOPAUSE

With all the new technology regarding fertility, a 65 year-old woman was able to give birth to a baby recently. When she was discharged from the hospital and went home, her relatives came to visit.

"May we see the new baby?" one asked.

"Not yet," said the mother. "I'll make coffee and we can visit for a while first."

Thirty minutes had passed, and another relative asked, "May we see the new baby now?"

"No, not yet," said the mother.

After another few minutes had elapsed, they asked again, "May we see the baby now?"

"No, not yet," replied the mother.

Growing very impatient, they asked, "Well, when CAN we see the baby?"

"WHEN IT CRIES!" she told them.

"WHEN IT CRIES??" they demanded. "Why do we have to wait until it CRIES??"

"BECAUSE, I forgot where I put it..."

4091. OT - New Julie Andrews song for the AARP

There are rumors that Julie Andrews did a concert for AARP. Ms.
Andrews sang a favorite from the Sound of Music, My Favorite Things.
There were a few changes to the words, to fit in with the AARP theme.
Here are the new words to the same tune:

Maalox and nose drops and needles for knitting,
Walkers and handrails and new dental fittings,
Bundles of magazines tied up with string,
These are a few of my favorite things.

Hot tea and crumpets and corn pads for bunions,
No spicy hot foods or food cooked with onion,.
Bathrobes and heat pads and hot meals they bring,
These are a few of my favorite things.

When the pipes leak,
When the bones creak,
When the knees go bad,
I simply remember my favorite things,
And then I don't feel so bad.

Cadillacs and cataracts and hearing aids and glasses,
Polident and Fixodent and false teeth in glasses,
Pacemakers, golf carts and porches with strings,
These are a few of my favorite things.

Back pains, confused brains and no fear of sinnin,
Thin bones and fractures and hair that is thinning,
And we won't mention our shrunken frames,
When we remember our favorite things.

When the joints ache, when the hips break,
When the eyes go dim,
Then I remember the great life I've had,
And then I don't feel so bad.

A well-placed pin in the coax will solve this problem immediately.

Quick, inexpensive, and effective. If done properly, nearly impossible to detect.

> also what does the arrest and conviction of

>Kathy KC8QJP have to do with CB?

The same thing that personal information you posted above has to do with cb.
KC8QJP's overweight, artery clogged, ticking greasy timebomb, fugly squeeze N8WWM has caused trouble in here for years by, among other things, attempting to further his homosexual agenda which has nothing at all do with cb. Ever since KC8QJP's main overweight troublemaking, uneducated dough-boy squeeze N8WWM was caught redhanded by the FCC jamming and deliberately interfering with the Toledo Amateur Radio Club's repeater, her life has been in turmoil.

In addition, N8WWM has consistently harassed this group and all who speak of the hobby in a manner which Adair disagrees (dx, amps, echo, etc.) by repeatedly stuttering lewd outbursts consisting of homosexual remarks and accusations of law abiding cbers, referring to them as "felons". It appears in addition to having a fondness for homosexuals, N8WWM also has a fondness for felons (self-demonstrated by his continual mentioning of the term. Smart money says he was incarcerated at some point ((hence his obsessed preoccupation with police, law, and felons) in his life and was forced)) as he is shacked up with one.
You have been clued in. If you can't follow, please get out of the way, as your old world is rapidly aging and you have become nothing more than an old relic to be taken out and toyed with at other's discretion. Your impotence, as always, duly noted.

Twithed Went up to Jersey----to the tune of "The devil went down to Georgia"

Twithed fag went up to Jersey
She was lookin for a cock to suck
At every truckstop in the southland
She'd plum run outta luck

Then she came across this faggot slurpin on a pekker
And suckin' it hot
So twithed jumped up on another fags cock
And said "Queer let me tellya what..."

"You suck pretty good dick my boy, but give my gay ass it's due..."
"I'll bet a gold dildo against your asshole..."
"cuz I think I'm better that you!"

The fag said "My name is trainedpuppet, and I've sucked dick since age ten"
"I'll take your bet, it aint no sweat...cuz I'm the queerest ever been!"

CHORUS
Trainfag put on your lipstick and get your weiner hard Cuz twithed's in from F-L-A, that fucking gay retard
And if you win you get a shiny dildo made of gold
But if you lose twithed pumps asshole!

MUSICAL BRIDGE-SOUNDS OF COCKS BEING SUCKED BY FAGGOT KEYCLOWNS

Twithed opened her overnite case and took out a pink nightgown
She said "I'll dress up just right, as a faggot assed keyclown."
Then she pulled her 1 inch pecker out and the keyclowns moaned with lust Landcarp and moped joined right in and the faggot sounds were thus...

MUSICAL BRIDGE-SOUNDS OF COCKS BEING SUCKED BY FAGGOT KEYCLOWNS

When twithed fisnished trainedpuppet said "You're a pretty decent fag"
"But sit yer ass down right there, and I'll suck dick 'til I gag!"

Twithed bowed his head, he knew he'd been outclassed
Then he stuck that golden dildo all the way up trainfag's ass

Trainfag moaned "Twithed just come on back if you ever wanna try again"
"It gets boring 'round here just having sex with dogs and the same old men"

THE END

The only thing clear is your incompetence at presenting anything you claim, as one can rest assured the complete opposite is usually true, based on your past lies and efforts you put into telling them, only to be forced to admit you were lying in the first place. This, despite the single fan you managed to garner.
Well, another clarity does exist: your lack of knowledge concerning accoustic properties and history of something you claimed to know much about (read: amps) but , much like all your other lies, were forced abandon due defeat.

but continue your pathetic lies concerning not only my identity, but

Nah,,,you're the only one ate up with identity, well, to be fair, KC8LDO and N8WWM and Gillinad have always been concerned with such personals of others....you share a sickness, which is why it is so difficult to tell you Team Voob members apart. You are all of the same loser status mold. Whether it is yours or anothers, the derangement exhibited concerning anonymous usenet posters in an obscure (?) cb forum, is your cross to carry, Please do not try and drag other forum members down to the level you have become relegated and accustomed.

LOL,,you're not well, my friend.

>Right.

Usually am.

> And you have a transference issue that you >need to resolve with your imaginary shrink.

I'm not the one "trasferring" :) an obsession with identity in all my posts,,,you are. In fact, it's been your MO, despite the challenges you face in this group, such as not being capable of holding on to an access ISP. By subscribing to a suck,,er,,I mean, pay-access group JUST to access rec.radio.cb, illustrates two things right off the bat.. 1) The importance your ego places on your word being seen and heard by others, even at a price, and..2) It's your safe access, leaving you free to create abuse via the throwaways you so value. Don't bother reacting, 'cause we all know it's true. You're the self-admitted (albeit forced) liar of rec.radio.cb.
It's always been you bringing up the identity issue,,,,,,it's your manner of compensating for being an absolute nobody. Such is the manner in which your ego overcompensates for the many dficits you suffer.
Who do you think I am today? :)~

>How did you do on the links last weekend,

>Dave?

Why don't you clue us in on your off-topic, , imbecilic endeavor at uncovering personal information on the one responsible for forcing your head in the sand? In other words,,you tell us. Go on now, run with it, junior. You've waited a long time for this moment. Are you going to allow me to rub your nose in your feces further or are you going to "let me have it" like you claimed so many times? Is this where is "blows up in my face"? LOL,,,you have no choice in the matter,,,,,you never did and you are aware of such, it's what made you MADD! LOL! Now what are you going to do with your new-found information? I'll tell ya' 'nada. Not a thing. Your impotence demands it,,besides,,,I won't have it.....LOL. Now try and remain relevant and on topic. Not all hold me so important as to make me the topic of their world, life, and posts as you are so fond of.. Some folks actually have lives and don't care about internet strangers.

But what would you know about it,,your shame has you too busy trying to convince the world you're someone other than yourself. That's good enough for "ol Twist!

I am doing better, not completely over it yet. Coughed up 90% of my lungs. Ever notice how bad things happen in 2-3? Found out that my grandmother (only surviving grandparent) had a stroke last week in addition to my being sick, wonder what will happen next :/

You need to get a grip on yourself, dogie. You're back to flooding

Is this more Kathy Lee advice? (beware, she's a felon)

What say you, ham operators? Is this dick-head a black eye for no-codes?

To which ISP are you referring? Maybe cet.com from Spokane, WA? Or tincan.org from Spokane, WA? Or dc4pc.net from Spokane, WA? Yeah, we all know just what it takes for you to convince yourself of whatever you want to believe, regardless of the facts. Like your great supernews enigma, and the irrefutable link you made between the names 'Sparky' and 'Sparks' -- you must have thought of yourself as some kind of super-genius to post that stuff! It's really disappointing that you haven't made any more such 'connections' recently, as they provided a great deal of entertainment.

I must agree I have done this once or twice. Also tying a cable to the tower or mast and to the bad CBers car bumper. One I have heard of but not tried is a syringe of liquid mercury injected into the coax.

When you consider that Twisted is the group's punch clown with his crazy talk of a "jock strap" collection on his wall and t alking to "saucer men" you have to wonder where he gets his information.

You seemed to have a problem with me stating the obvious about DouGay.
Therefore I assumed you were jealous of my response because you wanted to come out with an explanation before I did.

If that's not the reason for you questioning the accuracy of my response then what is? Are you saying DouGay post is a normal post from a normal person?

Hi -

I just got my hands on an old Grant XL and it looks like it's had a hard life. Can someone tell me the correct transistors for the Driver, Final, and pre-driver? Also, when I look at the inside with the SO239 jack facing away from me, I see the Final on the left, the driver on the right, and then the pre-driver hanging sideways on the back far off to the right? Is that the correct order?

I'm trying to go from memory back when I had one of these rigs and it isn't going so well :-) I saw the VCO can was messed with when some idiot put in channels so I adjusted it and got the radio to receive and transmit now. But, there's no power output on the wattmeter. However, when I put my Walkie-Talkie nearby it got receive. So, I am convinced one of the three is shot; final, driver, pre-driver. I have seen that two of those three have been replaced previously...hmm.

Any help?

Thanks in advance!

I never even suggested it. But -you- were saying he must be gay because he always talks about the subject. Is there some sort of psychological precedent or research that supports your argument?

All "spring reverbs" sounded like crap.

BTW: I've used a Peavey mixer and it worked fine. And back in the day, most US groups had no high-end unless they had big contracts with the recording companies. Wouldn't know about the "great ashtrays" part since I don't smoke.

Lots of bands used high-end equipment, including Marshall. In fact, I just finished refurbishing one for a local stage-jock who has owned and used it since "back in the day".

I haven't seen too many Peaveys that didn't have a couple burns from a butt that was set down on the amp and forgotten.

Now go back to doing what you do best -- trolling for "George".

Self-contradictory. You most certainly took the time to illustrate a

I did no such thing. That was you. You did exactly that with your communication deficit much greater than I ever could.

>was worth the effort, but then I don't

Just off your rocker. I did no such thing. You nitpicked my

What is "neuroses"? Making up words again?
That is what small children do when they are unable to to express themselves sufficiently. Your communication deficit has you maliciously acting up again and frothing at the snout. Much ado about nada and

Also, your comment concerning people who "couldn't afford a Marshall" is bullshit,

>I suppose there were some people that bought

As I astutely pointed out many times in the past, your suppositions are preceded only by your ignorance.
  There are countless successful bands that used Peavey to achieve a specific sound, especially when Bass was not a desired effect.

>For example....?

You make a bullshit claim concerning something you obviously know little about, then leave the door open for self-doubt? Highly indicative of a low self-esteem and battered ego. For example: The Rolling Stones, Eddy Van Halen, Green Day, Hank Williams Jr., James Brown and the Fabulous Flames, Slayer, Megadeth, Machine Head, and a host of others.

LOL.....whatever you wish. This gets better as you become learned....LOL. Legions of musicians, such as the ones mentioned above, illustrate the incompetence and absurdity of your claims concerning the sound. It also reinforces my much-agreed with statement that you are not in any manner whatsoever indicative of the general masses...you're the problem child.

I place this along the lines of those who always need to have a good view of a band when attending a concert and those who bring their binoculars and base part of their review on the visuals. Peavey amps emit a certain sound strived for by many bands. Your personal distastes, as illustrated by the host of musicians named above, or by viewing www.peaveystore.co.uk/news-1.html illustrate your ignorance concerning such claims, but then again,, you wouldn't need be telling such lies if you didn't suffer from such terrible feelings of self-worth.

Yes. Freud. He compared it to ice cream. A slow, learning impaired child with a subpar IQ who loves ice cream, may take to involuntary insertion and mentioning "ice cream" in parts of their speech where it most certainly doesn't fit and makes no sense. Freud claimed the same flawed behavioral "tick" is responsible for the sexually deranged and obsessed.....that involuntary sexual speech, most notable homophobic/homosexual, and sex as relates to a mother figure, is the subjects most innate desire. This information is available to anyone who wishes to take the time and do a casual search of Freud and his works relating to the sexual and biological conditioning of prepubescents and how they digress (get worse over time). In other words, Freud holds that such sicknesses are incurable and get worse, not better with time as some believe.

neurosis -- n. [pl. -ses], [< Gr. -neuron-, nerve], a mental disorder

I searched on Google for any reference saying that any of the names on your list prefer Peavey amps. Let's take this one by one:

> The Rolling Stones,

Can't find a reference.

> Eddy Van Halen,

Can't find a reference, but it's interesting to note that he recorded "Eruption" with a custom guitar by Lynn Ellsworth, a man who I have bumped into a few times over the years. Quick story: About four years ago I was mixing for Jimmy Shack's band (Jimmy has been a friend for almost 20 years, and also has an Ellsworth original). Lynn strolled through town one day and dropped off a couple absolutely beautiful amps at the club for Jimmy to test run. Turns out that hese amps were custom-built for Santana, and ended up on the stage at the Grammy awards show.

> Green Day,

No reference.

> Hank Williams Jr.,

Don't care.

> James Brown and the Fabulous
>Flames,

One reference, and it is just a rumor.

> Slayer, Megadeth, Machine Head, and a host of others.

This is where I quit because I realized I was wasting my time. I have found no reference that supports your statement. On the contrary, during the search I read dozens of complaints about Peavey support (it sucks, and that's a fact), and many people wanting to get rid of their Peavey for a better amp. So maybe you should go find and post the proof yourself, Dave.

Your illustrations leave much to be desired. Like, the lines define no recognizable figures, the colors are way off kilter..... The picture you paint can only be described as 'schizoid-impressionism'. But nobody's impressed, Dave, which means you are just 'schizoid'.

You bet they do. There are plenty of garage bands that can't afford -any- amp, so they are always striving for anything that will give them that "certain sound" often described as 'loudness'.

"World-renowned musicians from every musical genre use Peavey instruments and sound equipment, from Edward Van Halen to Hank Williams Jr. to the Trans-Siberian Orchestra."

Notice the phrase "Peavey instruments and sound equipment". To further your education, Dave, let me clue you in on a little secret: Peavey makes guitars, mixers, preamps, effects boxes, etc., not just amps. Find an authoritative reference that says any name on your list prefers a Peavey amp and I might just believe it.

Again, since I give you explicit permission to post this "information" you feel is accurate, you have no reason not to do so,,except, of course, you are afraid I will laugh and howl at more of your incompetence.

> Yes, he lives in Florida;

Of course I do. Only yourself has ever taken issue with where I reside. You have debated yourself outloud much to the entertainment of myself and now have been forced to swallow it, despite your mumblings and accusations and outright lies.....LOL.

>and yes, someone ratted him out. No, I'm not >going to reveal his last name, at least not yet.

Aww,,come on now,,,,,what's the matter? Doesn't match anyhing else? LOL.....you're chasing your tail further and further down a dark rabbit hole...LOL,,,but it is great fun to watch the level of importance you place on me. That I lord over your everyday life and thoughts with so little effort illustrates Freud was dead on concerning his work and theories as relating to your sicknesses and psychotic behaviors. That you remain underground obsessed on my identity reveals the magnitude of which my presence and mere posts affect you. You have no choice in the matter,,,you are no longer in control of anything..I took that away from you long before you were relegated to paying an access fee in order to have your menstuating, impotent cries heard by an audience of my choosing. Wah...said the nocode! LOL!

>No, Dave,

I hereby authorize and give you explicit permission to call me Dave, or any other of the plethora of names you have ascertained to be myself.

>Now -that's- funny -- a cartoon character

It's not funny, it's merely your sickness. You not only need, but regularly solicit my attention. You can't help yourself.

>I didn't "forget", I just didn't think it was worth >the effort.

Self-contradictory. You most certainly took the time to illustrate a missed "L" in your talk of Marshall amps,,,,a desperate move by yourself in order to seize on something instead of foscusing on the topic at hand. Everyone knows, even newbies, most cases only trolls not unlike yourself take issue with typos,

>.....and you did, as you have done many times >when you are desperate for a spin.

Incorrect. You told a deliberate lie and now admit you were reaching for a spin. YOU took issue with the spelling and claimed it was I,,,illustrating your pathetic, albeit desperate attempts at unprovoked malice. You can not help yourself. You are a no good lid, forever relegated to hiding your head in the sand. Of course, you can put your nonexistent money where your lying mouth is and send me that 300 bucks you mentioned and you can be twistedfree forever more....LOL!

 illustrating the problem you continually seek and search out. There is a name for such mania where one needs chaos and disorder in oredr to function, but I'd rather not clue you in. To educate you may cure you and I really do enjoy conversing with you, even if you have been reduced to accessing the group via a paid subscription service, in spite of thousands of free accesses.

>You seem determined to shoot yourself in the >head this morning, Dave. Did you party too >hearty last night or something?

LOL.....I don't party..it's why you have been relegated to such remote paid access-only to this group,,,my mental clarity is responsible for forcing you to deal with your mild retardations, culminating in your loss of ISP's and wild speecualtions and deliberate malicious lies. You are attempting to overcompensate for everything you fail at,,,,,result: your repeated exhibited impotence, on display for myself and the rest of those who know me in the group. You can hear the laughter, but in your stubborn insistence at remaining ignorant, are unable to correctly interpret where the laughing is originating, let alone comprehend it is directed at yourself.

>In fact, I didn't think that you nitpicking -my->spelling

I did no such thing. That was you. You did exactly that with your menstruation concerning the "L" typo. That your memory fails you 24 hours after you wrote such illustrates your inane competence and massive communication deficit much greater than I ever could.

>share your neuroses.

Just off your rocker. I did no such thing. You nitpicked my spelling..LOL.
What is "neuroses"? Making up words again?

>neurosis -- n. [pl. -ses], [< Gr. -neuron-, nerve],
>a mental disorder characterized by anxieties, >compulsions, obsessions, etc.

LOL,,that isn't the same word you used above. Your impotence is taking a back seat to your repeated incompetence, illustrated by myself on a regular and quite enjoyable basis.
That is what small children do when they are unable to to express themselves sufficiently. Your communication deficit has you maliciously acting up again and frothing at the snout. Much ado about nada and mountains out of molehills and ......lies..your legacy.

>I suppose that transference/projection could >be included in the definition of neurosis,

Perhaps it could, but you never used the term until now...illustrating your radiating incompetence that is only corrected when I take the loving time to call your attention to your repeated impotence and attempted but failed malice...HAR...LOL!

>especially in your case.

Except that it's *your" problem, not mine, not anyone elses,,all yours to relish with your feelings of self-loathe and diminished ego.

Also, your comment concerning people who "couldn't afford a Marshall" is bullshit,

>I suppose there were some people that bought >one because they were naive, or as a practice >amp for their kids, or because of a pushy >salesman......

As I astutely pointed out many times in the past, your suppositions are preceded only by your ignorance.
  There are countless successful bands that used Peavey to achieve a specific sound, especially when Bass was not a desired effect.

>For example....?

You make a bullshit claim concerning something you obviously know little about, then leave the door open for self-doubt? Highly indicative of a low self-esteem and battered ego. For example:

>I searched on Google for any reference saying >that any of the names on your list prefer

>Peavey amps. Let's take this one by one:
The Rolling Stones,

>Can't find a reference.

LOL..it must not exist then, because your incompetence and double digit IQ will not allow your gray matter to comprehend a manner in whcih to find the info,,,LOL....I'll give you a freebie,,,,,,begin with "Let it Bleed."

Eddy Van Halen,

>Can't find a reference, but it's interesting to >note that he recorded "Eruption" with a custom >guitar by Lynn Ellsworth, a man who I have >bumped into a few times over the years. Quick >story:

<snip>

Nahh,,,anytime you post we get a story.
The subject is about MEMEMEME and your illustrated ignorance brimming with mastered incompetence as only you can achieve, will not change the subject matter <g> concerning your latest of many now-comical claims: that my name is Dave.

Green Day,

>No reference.

Your incompetence....

Hank Williams Jr.,

>Don't care.

Coupled with the repeated ignorance,,,,,

James Brown and the Fabulous
Flames,

>One reference, and it is just a rumor.

No,,actually, you need visit the Peavey Page, as I told you, In fact , if you did everything I told you, there would be no need for you to be underground, ashamed, the ng punch clown, and have feelings of such low selfesteem and self-loathing. James Brown actually endorsed the amps at one point and appeared in the ads.

Slayer, Megadeth, Machine Head, and a host of others.

>This is where I quit because I realized I was >wasting my time. I have found no reference

Agreed. Any attempts made by yourself concerning locating and confirming any information whatsoever is most certainly a waste of time. The determined-to-remain-ignorant-at-all-costs often exhibit such ingrate-like responses as you display. "I can't find it so,,,so,,,it can't be true".LOL
Let's leave it at that. You apparently confirmed that Hank Williams Jr uses Peavey, which is why you had problems expressing yourself but managed the incredible clever "I don't care" in response to your flippant false claims.
This illustrates any provided additional information that proves you wrong (as always) will be met with similar fashion. It pains you to be wrong, and you have a monstrous ego wounded so greatly by myself, that you are unable to accept such easily verified information. Your Twisted psyche is aone way streer and unable to process information that you'd rather not see or hear.

>that supports your statement. On the contrary, >during the search I read dozens of complaints >about Peavey support (it sucks, and that's a >fact), and many people wanting to get rid of >their Peavey for a better amp. So maybe you >should go find and post the proof yourself,

>Dave.

LOL...already did,,,nd a link was provided. You will be provided no more examples than what you have already received. Your insistence at remaining ignorant and callously ignoring the proof offered that counters your ridiculous (ignorant) inquiry concerning professional millionaire entertainers and their using of Peavey amps, soundly illustrates your defeat. But then again, you are used to such defeat,,,you're a loser in life, love, and all you touch, The Midas-touch in reverse. All you touch turns to shit...LOL. You're an all around loser that thinks he's gonna get somewere by impotently threatening me with your flacid threats concerning identity..LOL.....good thing you're too stupid to know when you've been hooked, let alone gutted..LOL.

>They worked, but the spring reverb sounded >like crap, and the boxes weren't built that well, >either.

LOL.....whatever you wish. This gets better as you become learned....LOL. Legions of musicians, such as the ones mentioned above, illustrate the incompetence and absurdity of your claims concerning the sound. It also reinforces my much-agreed with statement that you are not in any manner whatsoever indicative of the general masses...you're the problem child.

>Your illustrations leave much to be desired.

Only to those that have communication deficits, mild retardations, and flawed personality traits comprised of involuntary ticks such as yourself. Again , this is perfectly illustrated by yourself, not I, with your obsessive offtopic inquiries into your lord's personal life, for only you have so many presonal problems shared on this group,,your ignorance is just the entertaining part of it all...LOL

>Like, the lines define no recognizable figures, >the colors are way off kilter..... The picture you >paint can only be described as

>'schizoid-impressionism'. But nobody's >impressed, Dave, which means you are just

>'schizoid'.

Only you care enough about me that you are unable to focus on anything else. I take over all precedence in your life,,,I am your world, your God, your Deity, your lord. There is nothing you can do except threaten impotently with identity,,,the fact that I care not one iota about such information has you beside yourself, as you were never able to comprehend what the majority of folks are about.....they do not share your incompetences and obsessions concerning my identity,,,,this is your sickness you are unable to get over.....blaming me for you falling in love with me is an absolute scream...

I place this along the lines of those who always need to have a good view of a band when attending a concert and those who bring their binoculars and base part of their review on the visuals. Serious audiophiles don't give a damn what something looks like...it's all about the sound, man, the sound..

>Where did I say anything relating to >aesthetics?

The same paragraph I said something about your spelling.

>There is no paragraph where you nitpick my >spelling and where I mention anything about >aesthetics.

>I did. It ain't there, Dave.

Exactly,,,just like there is no paragraph where I nitpick your spelling, yet that didn't prevent you from fabricating a lie and claiming I did indeed attack your spelling. See,,,,,that shoe, when forced on your other foot, appears to be tied a little too tight for your comfort.

>The boxes were built with unseasoned wood >that often cracked, making the amp sound

>even worse. And if the wood didn't crack you >had to tighten the screws every other month >until the holes stripped out, which didn't take >long because the screws were short and didn't >have much thread. They were built for >economy, not quality.

Peavey amps emit a certain sound strived for by many bands.

>You bet they do. There are plenty of garage >bands that can't afford -any- amp, so they are >always striving for anything that will give them >that "certain sound" often described as ' >loudness'.

LOL..your rush to ignore the exampled millionaire, long-time established international entertainers who use Peavey has signaled your defeat at this subject. Let it go before you are forced to admit more than you already have and are labeled the rec.radio.cb fool in addition to the moniker you already sport: "rec.radio.cb.admitted liar" (inaddition to the scarlet "T" forever embossed on your greasy forehead by myslef..LOL personal distastes, as illustrated by the host of musicians named above, or by viewing www.peaveystore.co.uk/news-1.html illustrate your ignorance concerning such claims, but then again,, you wouldn't need be telling such lies if you didn't suffer from such terrible feelings of self-worth.

"World-renowned musicians from every musical genre use Peavey instruments and sound equipment, from Edward Van Halen to Hank Williams Jr. to the Trans-Siberian Orchestra."

>Notice the phrase "Peavey instruments and >sound equipment". To further your education,

>Dave, let me clue you in on a little secret:

>Peavey makes guitars, mixers, preamps, >effects boxes, etc., not just amps. Find an >authoritative reference that says any name on >your list prefers a Peavey amp and I might just >believe it.

You err hugely by assuming I care what you believe. You asked for examples, I provided several. You asked for a refernce, I cited one. As always, the argument is with your feelings of personal self-loathing and self-hatred,,all within.
You need to get some backbone and self-assurance. Your confidence is at an all time low, you are experiencing Deja-Vu again, as the winter sets in, so does your clinical depression, manifesting in you lashing out at others in order to feel good about yoursefl,,,,this is how you compensate for such feelings of inadequacy. You need a confidenct building course, then you won;t feel like everyone is against you,,,wait a second,,LOL,,everyoone IS against you,,LOL!

>Peavey also used low-grade iron in >their output transformers, limiting the >high-frequency response and taking the bite >out of a nice set of pickups. They made great >ashtrays, however.

Many past (and I'm certain, present) successful international touring acts prove such a statement totally incorrect.

>For example.....?

See above.

Some musicians are millionaires many times over, yet remain with Peavey.

>For example.....?

>See above.

Your Tourettes is acting up again. Try to gain that confidence you so desperately need,,perhaps the mild retardation and massive communication deficit you exhibit at my slightest whimsical request will vanish when you stop laothing your true and inner self.

Like manufacturers of cars, all have their fans. You never saw the "Peavey Page".

>I have no doubt that the Yugo, the Bar-Kays, >and Centralia, PA all have their die-hard fans.

Not my genre. I'm not that old. See above for examples and more learning material.

>What's your point, Dave?

You took issue with the mentioning of Peavey and your logic, as well as your failed attempted lie was soundly defeated.

>Attempted lie? What the heck is an "attempted >lie"?

A lie that was shot down with fact before you were permitted to build upon it. C'mon now, you are an old-hat at this lying game, It's how you were forced into admitting you were the rec.radio.cb pathological notorious, repeated liar on MANY occasions (your words).

I guess one could say
"my" point is the one at the top of your head that I manage to ilustrate quite nicely :)~

Why do you insist on changing my identity each time you change yours? It is your right to remain with an anonymous posting service, but to watch you howl in obvious pain about other's identities illustrate how and why I drove you underground in the first place.

>Go throw a few discs, Dave. The fresh air will >do you good.

But once again, it doesn't cure your ailment of worrying about me. You brought your nuances and obsessions to moi, and the group, by making me your lord, master, and topic of all your imbecilic and incompetent offtopic posts. Now that you have my undivided attention calling attention to your incompetences and attempted lies, you wish for me to fulfill yet another of your troubles...your impotence regrading identity,,,LOL,,,,go learn code or do something useful to better yourself and perhaps the feelings of zero self-worth I instilled in you will go away and stop making your life such a pathetic failure.

Let's look at what we do know.

Fact: N8WWM has caused problems in this forum for himself for years.

Fact: KC8QJP, according to the great state of Ohio, is a convicted felon for tax fraud.

Fact: Her address is the same as N8WWM.

Fact: N8WWM had his clocked cleaned many times in rec.radio.cb, had several of ISPs yanked for terminal stupidity, and returned under the cowardly, but mistaken cloak of pseudo-anonmymity.

Fact: N8WW has harassed many participants of this group by calling them "felons" for legal behavior.

Fact: His choice of housemates illustrates his love for felons and felonious behavior. N8WWM hates this country so much he has no problem when his girlfriend steals from it. Tax fraud is stealing from us law abiding citizens who work hard and pay our share of taxes. Scumbags like the aforementioned are parasitical drains, leeches, on society. They are the lowest of the low. It is of little wonder N8's post are laden with sexual, preverted, talk. Look at the level of criminal he surrounds himself with. All his behavior is relative to the world in which he created for himself and KC8QJP.

Fact: N8WWM has submitted many of our email addresses for spam.

Fact: KC8LDO has vehemently defended N8WWM, his actions, and Kc8LDO even threatened this group with the return of pron spam if moi didn;t do as he demanded......LOL. oh yea,,N3CVJ, now on his 5th access to the group in seven months, also claimed to have intimate knowlege of N8WWM's FCC bust. Each claimed they had "inside knowledge" of N8's bust, but refuse to elaborate. Conclusion: Team Densa, er, Team Voob is active once again....LOL. Must be real cold up there already,,LOL!

Fact: This is one topic that will not go away by you becoming abusive.
This is but the tip of the iceberg and hammies are poised just waiting for you to step out of line again,,,LOL,,,you're a marked man in the amateur community,,,,,hahahaha! You're on lifelong probation, mistah, courtesy of the ENTIRE hammie community.... LOL! Wait 'till the group finds out WHY Kat was hit so hard by the courts...go on Dogie,,,tell the group about her priors....since you are so obsessesd on personal lies of those who illustrate your incompetence...,,,,,,,LOL...like watching yourself spin down an endless hole.....hyuk!

N8WWM can't be heard on HF. It's partially what set him off several years ago. He flipped when he learned of all the freeband activity taking place in the open, especially when he failed the code test (despite repeated attempts at learning 5 WPM) and realized he was caught between a rock and a hard place. He couldn't upgrade, yet couldn't get out on the freeband, due to his neck being stepped on. Utterly aghast and horrified by this newfound world of freeband he accidentally discovered, he did the only thing a mildly, overweight, underachiever could do,,,,he reacted with little thought. LOL....my, how green our huge rolly polly buddie N8 was when he landed in our little playground.....LOL. He as had many eye-opeing experiences since then. Imagine N8's preferred tenacity toward homosexuality,,,,now take that same fervor and zeal and apply it to the world of Toledo hammies...LOL....some of them are just sitting around patiently licking their chops in anticipation of N8's next move, guaranteed to be a screw up,,,and it will come. Look at it in this light: he has done nothing BUT screw up all he has come into contact with, his reputation the first in a long line of things to come. Remember, good things come to those who wait,,,,,you have my word.

you can go to the dealership and get one or you can get a chiltons or haynes manual at the auto parts store or
the fuse box lid should have a layout telling you what fuse goes to what.
with a test light or multimeter with ignition off pull the fuse you think you want to use place one probe (red lead on multimeter) on either side of fuse while the other lead (black on multimeter) goes to a known ground. if either side is hot then go to your second choice fuse and continue until you find what you need. Some vehicles usually leave an empty spot or two for the addition of options. again test these . the whole process takes about five minutes

Truth has always been dangerous to the named Team Voob members. The felonius behavior, in lieu of his calling the majority of this group "felons".

I took the course. To which concept are you referring? I don't think it's there, Tnom. I think you are looking for a reason beyond the obvious -- he's just trying to offend you. And the fact that he drew you into the flame-fest is proof that he suceeded. Now you have to decide whether or not you are going to remain in a flame-war filled with child-porn and homosexuality, and if you do, doesn't that give others the perception that you are no worse than him? Think about it.

LOL....as always, the majority of others don't give a damn to the extent you do of what others think. This unhealthy trait is inherent to the loser lids of the group, aptly named by Arron Voobner: KC8LDO, N3CVC, N7VCF, N8WWM, WA3MOJ.
Thank you Mr. "Voobner" (never thought I'd say that).
Keepin with what others "think" it has been your professed wish that a certain element be ignored and go away. This illustrtates your need for "wannabe" moderator status, something you strive for but fall way short of,,the need to be obeyed,,the need to tell others what to do., just like when you impotently begged for followers into the "new" group you failed to start. I'll tell you what one thinks, since I share the average cber mindset much more than you ever can hope......we think that by NOT ignoring the abuse, loser clones like yourself will continue to be chased from ISP to ISP for your inability to adhere to the rules in place to benefit all. By doing what you ask, ignoring the abuse, the abusers are given free reign and a safe haven. Won't happen while I draw breath. Begging me to leave has you coming unglued at the seams and not practicing what you hypocritically preach to others. You need a life....LOL, as you fail miserably at attempts to live vicariously through mine...LOL!

N8WWM is an internet thug, cur to hammie radio, and scab on the human race. All the above has been confirmed, as he has done the same to a the majority of good folks in this group. Your continual defnse of him is out of character, Your posts in defense of anyone who points to the truth about n8wwm and his felonius housemate Kat are out of proportion to the rest of your posts. They don't point to me, Dave. Almost all my posts since day one have my ISP and my name or nic, and the few that don't are easily identified in the header (not too many posts from other people with a Spokane ISP in the header). But I don't think you have any such emails -regardless- of where you claim they lead. Keep bluffing, Dave -- nobody expects anything more from you than that.

No. the fact that you seem to find more problems with my reply than his post shows you are sympathetic towards his leanings. (pedophilia, homosexuality ect.)

For all we know you may be DouGays love partner

You are a hypocrite. You have drawn yourself into this thread yet my legitimate response is somehow not as worthy as yours?

Like I said before. Your sympathy toward posters authoring stories on pedophilia and homosexuality is showing.

I have included my filter figures below.

Well, in total, 66% of this newsgroup is easily filterered crap. I would say that at least another 25% is a bit harder to filter by subject, but is crap just the same.
Look through the figures below, you will see that I do not read much from many of the people on here. OK, so I read less than 1% of twisty's posts... but, whatever you come out smelling of - they won't be using to make perfume, that's for sure.

Until you change your "nic", you are generally in my filter by name, as are several other posters on this group - purely because the posts are rarely of any benefit to the group or readers. When you change your "nic", the new one goes in the filter. Your posts may not be as offensive as certain people on here, but it is almost all just arguments.

For the useful content in their posts, I may as well do the same with Richard Cranium, Chim Bubba, and Twistedhed. Nothing against the chaps, just that I don't have the time to drudge through megabytes of crap looking for that one good post.

Six of one, half a dozen of the other.

Now, for the figures...

I put many subjects in the filter, incuding for sale and Ebay subjects.

I can't believe you're still bothering with him. It's a lost cause. You could tell him that the sky is blue, and he'll turn around and claim that you're delusional, and that everyone knows it's really cerulean. When you then try to explain that they're the same thing, he'll then accuse YOU of having a communication deficit, to cover the fact that HE didn't understand it initially.

You'd do better talking to the wall. Less frustrating, and probably more intelligent.....

We know that, too. You hold me more important than your own mother in life. I'm your world, your life, the Alpha and Omega when it comes to your losing status in life in all that you do, say, see, or touch. You prefer I am your topic. You can't NOT have me on your mind. Hmmm,you're probably right for the first time ever in your life. Any respectable southern man would sleep out in the cold rain and snow prior to accepting hospitality from one with values of that of an ingrate, lying urchin. And your values were not offered freely, lest you are attempting to convey such,,,you were lying repeatedly when you were presented with your self-contradictory posts and had no choice but to admit your lies. Again, a liar is the lowest form of scum. Decent folks know the term "values" means absolutely nothing coming from a confirmed and repeated liar like yourself.

LOL Your priorities have been skewered by your tunnel vision and self-hatred and poor feelings of

Let's put it into an honest and proper perspective. You began menstruating over a post several years old (you went SEARCHING for trouble) and attributed it to myself. Such behavior is what lowlife, trolling lids do.
Merely bringing up the post illustrates your agenda,,the thing was years old...LOL. The fact that you mistakenly and ignorantly attributed it to myself, is beside the point at the present moment. The post was YOU brought up, was directed to, and clearly mentioned "C. Frank Gilliand",,,yet, you maintained I made the post about you. Yet, you continue to cry that you are not C. Frank Gillinad while holding the post directed to him as directed to yourself. Just another in a long, long, line of lies and self-contradictions in your problematic world that you you can't even keep together. You're a tried and true liar and everything you say is susect, despite your single fan you managed to garner......LOL. Liars are sympathetic of each other...just like criminals, illustrated by Dogie and his old lady and your continued defense of him.

Aww,,come on now,,,,,what's the matter? Doesn't match anyhing else? LOL.....you're chasing your tail further and further down a dark rabbit hole...LOL,,,but it is great fun to watch the level of importance you place on me. That I lord over your everyday life and thoughts with so

That you remain underground obsessed on my identity reveals the magnitude of which my presence and mere posts affect you. Not all people suffer from the same poor attitude and malicious lying-sydrome repeatedly displayed by yourself, Hall. It IS nice to see you still come to Team Voob members aid whenever you can...brings a tear to my eye for posterity...you understand....little..LOL.
Concerning the above, you are better off talkning to the wall. That works for me.......

This morning I pondered all the crap Twisty has spewed here, such as accusations of child abuse and homosexuality, posting phone numbers with instructions on how not to get traced, etc; and of all that harassment was initiated not only as Twisty but as numerous other anonymous nics. The harassment wasn't limited to posters in this newsgroup, but extended to people he pulled into his delusions that never even posted here before, such as Glenn Sparks, Ben Lee and N7VCF. His abuse and harassment is well-documented in the Google groups archive. Now I'm not going to disclose my informant, but that's no longer necessary since Twisty was gracious enough to suggest a -second- and -independent- means of identity verification -- ebay. For the record, all the information in this post is available to anybody with a www browser. But first I'll link once again to the best example of Twisty's antisocial behavior and overwhelming stupidity so it will be apparent to all that he truly deserves what's coming to him:

http://groups.google.com/groups?hl=en&lr=&ie=UTF-8&safe=off&selm=28545-3B47202D-100%40storefull-123.iap.bryant.webtv.net

Checking out ebay, it came as no suprise that he changed his old userID of "twistedhed@webtv.net". Fortunately he is too stupid to realize that changing his userID doesn't change the userID of anybody else, nor does it change the transaction numbers. Reading the feedback left to other people by the seller I found one of Twisty's other nics, "asatboy3j8m". How can someone know this is Twisty's account? Look at the feedback and userID histories:

Old account: "twistedhed@webtv.net"
Only feedback received: Jul. 14, 2000
Changed to: "twistedhed4dl3" on Oct. 31, 2003

Old account: "asatboy@yahoo.com"
First feedback received: Aug. 03, 2000
Changed to: "asatboy3j8m" on Oct 24, 2003

Not only was the second account created just after Twisty abandoned the first account, but both userIDs are modified in the same manner (appending a couple letters and digits to the old userID), and both were changed within the last 40 days. Looks like he knew this day was coming and tried in vain to cover his tracks. Ironically, it was his paranoia that was his undoing, as the 'asatboy' account would have gone unnoticed if it had not been changed in that manner. I'm sure that there are more ebay userIDs he has used (and recently changed), but I only needed one. Now some might see this information as a violation of ebay policy, but don't forget that Twisty himself gave me permission -- more than once -- to post the information I have. What an idiot.

Ok, now that we have a different name, a simple search on Google for "asatboy-" turns up the following page:

http://groups.yahoo.com/group/discgolf-fl/message/84?source=1

That page says "asatboy@aol.com" is Dave McCampbell. A quick check of his ebay feedback tends to confirm this, as the user is referred to as "Dave" by the sellers. Also, Twisty practically shot himself in the foot yesterday when he mentioned the "'Mac' man" without any prompting, postively linking himself with the 'asatboy' account. IOW, Twisty is his own worst enemy!

But what else is in the feedback? Glo golfing in Clearwater! Again, a simple search on Google for "glo golf" turns up an interesting website for a frisbee golf course in Florida. Behold, Dave McCampbell appears on the list for missing discs. And if that isn't enough to convince even the most narrowminded skeptics, there is another name on the list that should be familiar to everyone -- our old buddy Pat Murphy, aka Richard Cranium:

http://members.tripod.com/~JOHNBEHNSTEDT/lostplastic.html

Looks like Twisty might have a little explaining to do to the FCC. Now, for this year's best entertainment, let's all sit back and watch Twisty frantically try to claw his way out of the pit he dug all by himself! Good-bye, Twisty, you won't be missed.

Forget the fuse box. Go straight to the battery with a fused 10 gauge wire. Also, run a fused ground wire back to the battery. Use any grommet or other plug through the firewall. This method will reduce engine/electrical noise and prevent a fire if your vehicle ground should go bad. Ideally, you should run a large fused wire to a separate fuse block for use with all the other stuff you will install. Factory wire is barely adequate for the vehicle. Don't trust a chassis ground. Also, mag mount antennas are a cludge. Just drill a hole and mount it right the first time.

Shoot, see, we have something in common..the only thing more boring than playing golf is watching it...ever played Frisbee Golf? It's pretty cool and even a sanctioned sport,,even have a few courses near you (Philly).

Hehe..yea,,watching it sucks....that frisbee thing may have originated with college kids out in Ca,,but it sure caught on big,,I am aware of it because the world champion (there really is such a thing) lives in Clearwater...they fly him around the country all year to play f risbee golf and the dude makes 6 figures..endoresements, products,,..I watched this dude play before and it's like watching any performance artist.the
"holes" are metal garbage can looking things,,there are drivers, putters, etc,,all sanctioned weight in grams are strict enforcement of such......played the exact same way as golf,,,,,,,to watch one of these tournaments and to see someone like this champion whip a frisbee a few hundred yards, up and oversome trees, with a curve back BEHIND the trees, and hit the basket (There have been holes in ones, I've seen it HIT the basket, but never actually witness a hole-in-one) on his first shot..unreal.....I was a frisbee freak from way back.....this fairly new sport has folks our ages active in leagues ,,,,and the wagers are the same as one would find on a regular golf course...I suck at the game, though,,I can match most of these guys for distance, but whe it comes to "driving" it home, most of these guys are all par 3's, as are most of the courses I've seen....Iv'e managed a few par 3's, but six or seven is more like my style.

Yes.

There is a ham in Florida by the name of Dave McCampbell, but there are also two other addresses for the same name in Florida. None of them are listed for Clearwater. IOW, to assume he is the ham is a 'twistedhedsim' -- remember how he assumed I am N7VCF simply because someone with the same name lives in the same state? It's very possible that he is just some deadbeat kid living in his parent's basement.

I should also point out the possibility that Dave McCampbell could be the victim of identity theft by Twisty, a concept which is not so incredible after you read some of Twisty's paranoid, anti-government, and antisocial rants. He claims to steal real-estate, so maybe he steals identities, too. Regardless of who he really is, he is now forced to take responsibility for his actions -- either he is Dave McCampbell, or Dave McCampbell will step forward with Twisty's identity.

Personally, I saw it purely as a begging or submissive position - nothing sexual at all.

Anyone who automatically relates being on your knees with sexual activity, rather than begging, pleading, or just showing submission to authority has a serious problem.

You're kidding, right? You don't consider a comment in rec.radio.cb which includes the phrase "on your knees" to be sexually suggestive? What newsgroup have -you- been reading for the past few years? It sure as hell wasn't was rec.radio.cb. Was it alt.jesus.12_step.keyclown.reformed?

Go away Peter, or you will end up like Twisty.

Let it be known, from this point forward, that CB radio is -NOT- illegal; that illegal operators are -NOT- CBers; and that there are plenty of citizens who, despite their opinions of the current leadership, stand proud behind the US flag and what it represents. Everyone else can suck my dick, and that includes the Taliban, Saddam's genocidal regime, and Dave McCampbell of Clearwater, FL!!!

That's because Twisty has been shamed and is busy seeking professional help, and Homoshark has been TOSsed. Neither of them can post right now, not even through their aliases. That should give you an indication of where all these troll posts originate.

Mine neither. It's an interpretation problem from where we expect it most. Lelnad lost an account, Hall lost an account, Geo lost an account, and Frank lost one as well. Frank always tips his hand when he loses an account. There will be no strife on the group, no exchanges whatsoever between Frank and myself, and the minute he finds he lost another shill account, he takes to bleeding form the gums and orifices all over the ng concerning,,,,,,,,LOL..what else.....MEMEMEME!! Let it be known, from this point forward, that CB radio is -NOT-illegal; that illegal operators are -NOT- CBers; and that there are plenty of citizens who, despite their opinions of the current leadership, stand proud behind the US flag and what it represents.
Everyone else can suck my dick, and that includes the Taliban, Saddam's genocidal regime, and Dave McCampbell of Clearwater, FL!!!

Anyone who automatically relates being on your knees with sexual

A mention of Clearwater doesn't mean that anyone lives there; only that they know of a frisbee golf course there. I'm not in CLearwater, and I know the course is there. Try again!

Old account: "twistedhed@webtv.net"
Only feedback received: Jul. 14, 2000
Changed to: "twistedhed4dl3" on Oct. 31, 2003
Old account: "asatboy@yahoo.com"
Changed to: "asatboy3j8m" on Oct 24, 2003
Not only was the second account created just after Twisty abandoned the first account, but both userIDs are modified in the same manner (appending a couple letters and digits to the old userID), and both were changed within the last 40 days. Looks like he knew this day was coming and tried in vain to cover his tracks. Ironically, it was his paranoia that was his undoing, as the 'asatboy' account would have gone unnoticed if it had not been changed in that manner. I'm sure that there are more ebay userIDs he has used (and recently changed), but I only needed one. Now some might see this information as a violation of ebay policy, but don't forget that Twisty himself gave me permission -- more than once -- to post the information I have. What an idiot.

Ok, now that we have a different name, a simple search on Google for "asatboy-" turns up the following page:
http://groups.yahoo.com/group/discgolf-fl/message/84?source=1
That page says "asatboy@aol.com" is Dave McCampbell. A quick check of his ebay feedback tends to confirm this, as the user is referred to as "Dave" by the sellers. Also, Twisty practically shot himself in the foot yesterday when he mentioned the "'Mac' man" without any prompting, postively linking himself with the 'asatboy' account. IOW, Twisty is his own worst enemy!
But what else is in the feedback? Glo golfing in Clearwater! Again, a simple search on Google for "glo golf" turns up an interesting website for a frisbee golf course in Florida. Behold, Dave McCampbell appears on the list for missing discs. And if that isn't enough to convince even the most narrowminded skeptics, there is another name on the list that should be familiar to everyone -- our old buddy Pat Murphy, aka Richard Cranium:
http://members.tripod.com/~JOHNBEHNSTEDT/lostplastic.html
Looks like Twisty might have a little explaining to do to the FCC. Now, for this year's best entertainment, let's all sit back and watch Twisty frantically try to claw his way out of the pit he dug all by himself! Good-bye, Twisty, you won't be missed.

LOL.....now I've heard it all...Ol Dick Cranium,,,haha! Lookie here,,,everyone else isn't as dumb as you look, I just want to know one question, what are you going to do with all this information. I mean, you apparently tried to intimidate me with the FCC comment, but I'm laughing at them almost as hard as I am laughing at you,,,once more,,,,you're an impotent. Now,,,,where did I put that flyswatter? LOL...I don't think anyone can remember the last time you soiled yourself with excitement like this Frank,,now,,,,,,,,,one more time for my impotent friend Frank Gilliland,,,,,now what, Frank? I told you once you're an impotent,,,I stand behind what I write..period. Too bad you're such a failure at all you do, Frank,,care to share with anyone what you think you are acomplishing? I'm pointing out your impotence more than ever, now Frank. You really ought see a doctor about me,,,,HAHHAAHAHHA!

Gee Frank, you really went of the deepend over this identity thing. You should really see a doctor about me...LOL!
Note you posted 33 times since our last exchange, yet you chose to ignore why you presented N7VCF's directed post and claimed it was yours? I mean, you claimed you weren't him, then you claimed you were, then you freak out telling me my name is Dave McCambell and I'm an Extra that lives in Broward. Then you said no, Clearwater. The you posted information with a bad phone number. I'm gonna go out on a limb and say,,,no scratch that,,I'm having too much fun watching you writhe and dodge why you claimed you were N7VCF, then said you weren't, then refer to yourself in the third party (but then again, many folks who speak of needing shrinks talk that way). Ebay doesn't list the accounts E-mail address. You would have only seen @webtv.net. Nice try Frank, you made that part up. Now how did you get to asatboy@yahoo.com when Ebay doesn't give you the E-mail address? You made that up also.

How did you get asatboy3j8m from asatboy@yahoo.com, another guess on your part?

So anyone that appends their chosen account name with a couple letters and digits is suspect? Your list would be to big to post here.
Please explain how you got Ebay to give you the persons E-mail address? I'm sure that would be of great value to anyone that uses E-bay.

I had the information prior to Dave changing his userIDs. And most people here already knew that he used his email addy for his ebay account because it used to be visible up until a few weeks ago when ebay started this new policy. Even if I didn't have that info, it wouldn't take a rocket surgeon to extract the missing parts of the email addresses from the poorly disguised userIDs.

Did they nail you or not, Twist? It really doesn't matter at all to me, either way. If they did nail you, you're likely to be worry free. I told them my name and town two years ago, I've sent them real email with my IP numbers attached...I piss in the general direction of the CB haters.

I'm shocked, Clyde -- you keyclowns are usually whining about that little bit of the Constitution which dictates that someone is presumed innocent until proven guilty in a court of law. Did you eat too many slices of hypocrite pie over the Thanksgiving weekend?

>And you're still > ASSuming < that you're correctly identified Twisty,

Where did I say that I stopped him from posting here and exercising his Constitutional right to demonstrate his stupidity? I didn't. But it's good to see that you are freely exercising that right for yourself.

>And you have been reported for your foul language in a public

I don't think so, Clyde. There have been no complaints made to my ISP. In fact, they have assured me that I will be notified if there ever is a complaint. And if that should ever happen, you can bet that I will post that complaint, with headers, to the newsgroup so everyone can have a good laugh. So do you want to be first, Clyde?

Oh, sure they'll notify you. They'll notify you that your account is forthwith closed. Wnat a moron!

You have a really great opinion of yourself, which is not shared by anyone else.

You're still ASSuming that you have correctly identified Twist. Go ahead and admit it: You took a wild guess based on incorrect assumptions. Got proof? Didn't think so.

So now you're going to smear Mr. McCampbell like as you smeared Steve Rogovich a year ago? Shows how stupid you really are, Frankie. Got proof? You better be absolutely positive before you put out someone's name like that.

CB radio was never illegal, Frankie. You didn't make it so, nor did you make illegal operators not CBers. What the heck have you been smoking? Or are you just stressed out from your Twisted obcession?

The flag is only a piece of cloth; a distraction in which tyrants (and morons) wrap themselves.

It is the duty of a true patriot to speak out when their government is wrong.

Gee Wally, at least you illustrate the nastiness of C. Frank Gilliland. Anyone that would use a user name as he does...LOL..thank's for pointing out what everyone already knows,,that Frank is an angry, disturbed, extremely foul-mouthed man-child that needs remain underground because of his incredible level of self-shame, no self-confidence, and low self-esteem. Hey Dogie,,,,you know repeat offenders can't have their records sealed. Perhaps I should be a little more discriminate in the company I permit you to associate.
Living with a felon certainly has had a profound effect on your Tourette's. N8WWM, you certainly are responsible for trashing KC8QJP's reputation,,,well, she is responsible for the tax fraud (You probably initiated it and made her take the fall, as your cowardly self has illustrated your willingness to hide behind any veil you can find,,including the skirt of the poor woman whose reputation you are responsible for trashing)...LOL. You really need to grow up, stop worrying about other's personal lives (like C. Frank Gillilnad) and stop hurting the one's you obviously LOVE! HAHHAHAHH!

Stealing from tax-paying law abiding citizens is nothing to be proud of. In fact, if she had no priors, she would have had her record sealed, but then again, one can't make a felony disapear, can they Dogie? The cur that continues to refer to himself as C. Frank Gilliland asked what does this have to do with cb? LOL...well, N8WWM has called law-abiding citizens "felons" out of his ignorant and malicious anger stemming from all he can not comprehend, due his massive retardations and communication deficits he can not overcome (no wonder he and Gilliland get on so well).
Illustrating his hypcorisy is very much cb related, as he spent years on this group painting his own tail a yellow streak. I believe the group is entitled to leanr what a massive hypocrite this no good lying lid cur actually is. By shacking up with a convicted felon and pointing it out, Dogie has no ground, no credibility, nada,,,nothing at all. It's why the lid that refers to himself as C. Frank Gilliland (n7vcf) is now posting as N8WWM (in addition to his passion). These impotent lids are all mine,,,,for they now belong to me..LOL. They willingly gave up their free will and now respond on command. C. Frank Gillilnad doesn't know WHAT to do, except spam the group with obscenities, now that he drunkenly said he was indeed C. Frank Gilliland after denying it for years..LOL. Abuse is a bad thing, Frank, whether it's you and your liquor you can't hold (lush) or Geo and his cocaine. The only abuse that is considered a positive experience, is the abuse you self-create,,,,,,,you wear it well.

That's quite alright. I'm sure there will be more info coming out about him in the future, and I'll bet some of it will be posted by him under an alias with the intent to cloud the facts. So be cautious of anything you read from now on.

I have a very nice heavy duty power supply made by Zurich rated at 1-15 volts at 50 amps continuous and 60 amps intermittent. It also has the seperate amp and volt meters built onto the front. It is a well built unit with automatic temperature sensor in which it turns on 2 built in fans when the temperature gets to high. You can go to this website to see pictures of it: http://photos.yahoo.com/rob34115 and go to Rob`s photos to see 2 pictures of it. Please make me a reasonable offer! Rob

Amateur Radio Newsline(tm) Report 1373 - December 5, 2003

Closed Circuit Advisory

This is a closed-circuit advisory, and is not for re-transmission. Repeat, not for broadcast.

This is Andy Jarema, N6TCQ, Newsline Support Fund Administrator. As we move into the holiday season, we ask that you include Newsline on your list of giving. This is the first request we've made since April, and we'll be back in the following weeks to thank everyone that helped in that campaign. But with support in the months since that campaign only averaging between $200 and $250, and with our normal monthly expenses of between $600 and $800 each month to bring you the latest news on Amateur Radio, you can see where the math is headed.

The address for the Newsline Support Fund is Newsline, PO Box 660937, Arcadia, CA 91066. If you missed that, it will be given again at the end of today's newscast. And now the latest news:

Amateur Radio Newsline report number 1373 with a release date of Friday, December 5, 2003 to follow in 5-4-3-2-1.

The following is a Q-S-T. Hams in space fail to show up for a highly publicized operating event while hams on the ground save a life. Find out the details on Amateur Radio Newsline report number 1373 coming your way right now.

ON THE AIR: ISS ASTRO-HAMS A NO-SHOW FOR K6DUE COMMEMORATIVE EVENT.

What if you planned a party but your host never showed up to open the door and turn on the music. This is essentially what happened to the ARISS folks the weekend of November 29th and 30th in regard to the kickoff of its NA1SS special event tribute to the life of Roy Neal, K6DUE. But it was not completely unexpected. Amateur Radio Newsline's Norm Seeley, KI7UP, has the rest of the story:

The event was to get underway on Saturday, November 29th during as the space station passed over the US West Coast. ARISS International Chairman Frank Bauer, KA3HDO, says that Expedition 8 Commander Mike

Foale, KB5UAC, had even been supplied with a list of potentially good radio passes and the frequencies where to call the I-S-S had been published world wide a few weeks ago. Stations on the ground were even asked to keep their Q-S-O's as brief as possible so that the greatest number of hams possible could make contact with the space travelers.

And so it was that hams world wide were ready to honor K6DUE by making contact with the station in space that his years of effort helped to create. But over the entire weekend there were no reports of voice contacts with either Foale or his crewmate Alex Kaleri, U8MIR. Nor was the RS0ISS automated packet robot station activated either.

Why the crew was a no-show remains a mystery. Frank Bauer is certain that Foale knew about the event. In fact a message was received from KB5UAC that said he would try to be on the air for about 2 passes each weekend of December for the event. Bauer also received confirmation that final information regarding this past weekend was uplinked to the ISS crew on Friday, November 28th.

Bauer says that ARISS has discussed the situation with NASA. He says that there are two events that could have kept Foale from getting on the air. The first revolves around a broken exercise treadmill that KB5UAC reportedly spent a lot of his own time fixing this past weekend. The other is the widely reported crushing noise heard by the crew last week. It was in the aft end of the Service Module and its possible that the crew might have gotten instructions from the Russian team to determine the cause. This is being checked out.

Either way, Bauer reminds everyone that last weekend was only the kickoff and that the event commemorating K6DUE's contributions to manned ham radio space operations and that the event continues through the end of the month. He also says that ARISS will alert the ham radio community of potential opportunities for contacts as they become available.

It should be noted that when it made the original announcement several weeks ago, ARISS said that crew participation in the event was completely contingent on the schedule of the on-orbit duties and other issues that might crop up on board the orbiting space station. (ARISS)

RESCUE RADIO: LA HAMS ASSIST CARDIAC VICTIM

Ham radio has helped to save the life of one of its own. This, as members of a Southern California repeater respond to a users call for assistance. Amateur Radio Newsline's Mert Garlick, N6AWE, has the details:

Almost every ham has heard of the Los Angeles 147.435 MHz repeater. Some call it notorious. Others have given it the nickname of "the animal farm" for the lack of discipline of its users. But on Sunday night, November 23rd, some of the tarnish turned to silver as bad manners gave way to human kindness and a life was saved.

Elmer: "We were all sitting around and listening to the radio as we usually do in an evening. All of the sudden, an individual keyed up a microphone whom we were all aware was having some health problems. One of our listeners, Alan Sanchez, KC6QXA, immediately noticed the distress in this persons vloice. He keyed up the mic and asked if he was OK. He indicated he was having some difficulty breathing and needed help. So, Alan immediately called Faith Gonzales who said to call 911 immediately because she was also very familiar with thisd gentlemans health problems
--

That's Gary Elmer is KG6DVO. He recently took over the system. And according to Elmer, the work of his users did not end there. While medical aid was in route, Mike Stavropoulos, KD6JTD, headed over to where the stricken ham lives. He helped him get up, opened the security gate for the paramedics and directed them to the apartment. Mike then followed the ambulance to the hospital and filled medics in on the hams condition.

Later that evening, the hospitalized ham went into cardiac arrest. He was revived by his doctors. Had he been at home the chances are that he would now be a silent key now. Gary Elmer says that he is very proud of his users:

Elmer: "You know we like to tear it up and cut up, and have a good time. And you know that some people might of the fun we have. And yes, we have been in trouble with the FCC, but you know, when called upon, we too can rise to the occasion as evidenced by the actions of those three amateurs the other night."

--

As we go to air Elmer says that the ham is still in the hospital recovering. More important he is alive thanks to his friends on the Los Angeles 147.435 MHz repeater.

For the Amateur Radio Newsline, I'm Mert Garlick, N6AWE, also in the City of Angels.

In past years the Los Angeles 4-3-5 repeater has received a lot of negative press. This time the press is positive because this time it and its users probably saved a life. (ARNewsline(tm))

COORDINATION: REVISED SOCAL 2-METER BANDPLAN NEARING APPROVAL

Still in the Golden state, December 6th was the date set for a vote on a revised 2 Meter bandplan proposed by TASMA, Southern California's Two Meter Area Spectrum Management Association. Amateur Radio Newslines Bruce Tennant, K6PZW, gives us a sneak peak:

Among the problems the revised bandplan seeks to correct is recognition of the work of neighboring coordination councils. TASMA has always officially acknowledged the Northern Amateur Relay Council of California, but not those serving the states of Arizona and Nevada. California shares borders and R-F with those states and the revised TASMA bandplan will provide for such political recognition.

Also to be considered will be frequency assignments for specific modes and updating the recognized manned space operations listings. This to conform the Southern California bandplan with the world in relation to current Amateur Radio International Space Station operations.

This revised plan is the product of 2 years of hard work by the regional coordination body written with significant input from the areas Amateur Radio community. It already received a thorough public review at the 2003 ARRL Southwestern Division Convention last September.

For the Amateur Radio Newsline, I'm Bruce Tennant, K6PZW, in Los Angeles.

RESTRUCTURING - SOUTH AFRICA: PROPOSED CHANGES TO LICENSE REQUIREMENTS AND PRIVILEGES

Another nation has taken the first steps in restructuring its Amateur Radio service. We have this report on what South Africa has done so far in welcoming codefree operations:

South Africa is taking a look at how to handle the question of Morse code testing until such time as it goes away and it looks as if it has an answer. It comes in a proposal to lower the Morse requirement from 12 to 5 words per minute. That is until applicants for the South African Zed U license will no longer need be tested for proficiency in Morse code.

Also proposed is the introduction of a new license class with the callsign prefix ZT. This license will not have any Morse code requirement. Rather, the holders of ZT licenses would have full VHF privileges and will be permitted to transmit with a maximum power output of 100 W on portions of the 160, 80, 40 and 15 meter bands.

For the Amateur Radio Newsline, I'm Ken Locke, N8PJN.

This interim solution would hold in South Africa until a final disposition on the future of Morse testing is made by that nations telecommunications regulators. (Q-News)

RADIO LAW: COMPLAINT LEVELS TO FCC RISE

The United States FCC has released a report on the inquiries and complaints processed by its Consumer & Governmental Affairs Bureau during the third quarter of 2003. According to the report complaint activity increased within all major areas except cable during the third quarter.

The largest increase occurred within Radio and Broadcasting where a total of 19,920 indecency and obscenity complaints were received. Complaint activity was also higher in all five top wireless categories, with the largest percentage increases coming in the service quality and equipment section. EMERGING TECHNOLOGY: NET-BY-PHONE NOW PLAYS MP3

The HandiHams say that there is now an MP3 file playback feature on the Net-By-Phone service that allows blind users who do not own a computer to access the Internet. This, by using a plain old vanilla telephone.

By way of example, a Net-By-Phone user accessing a website like Amateur Radio Newsline that has a link to an MP3 file can hear that file over the phone by simply selecting it. The system does not play the file right away, but it will download the file in the background and send you an e-mail when it is ready. When you retrieve the e-mail, the file will automatically play, just as a voice e-mail from a Net-By-Phone customer plays automatically.

Net-By-Phone is located in Chicago and is a fee based subscription service. You can find out more on the web at www.net-by-phone.com or call the toll free demonstration line at 1-800-358-7858. (HandiHams)

HAM TRAINING: TRAIN THE TRAINER

49 youngsters are now licensed hams and are the newest members of Pennsylvania's Trinity High School Radio Club. This, thanks to a program called "Train the Trainer" by Pete Di Volpi, K3PD, a teacher named Sean Barnes, N3JQ and the Harrisburg Radio Amateurs Club V-E Team.

TheTrinity High School Radio Club operators station KB3JAG. Barnes started the radio club so lower classmen could get exposure to the hobby before they attend his physics class. He notes that the schools physics program and the principals of amateur radio teend to integrate very well.

The Harrisburg Radio Amateurs Club is a Special Services club in central Pennsylvania. It has only 100 members, but has seen over 100 new licensees produced in the last two years from their V-E and Train the Trainer programs. Teachers that are interested in Sean Barnes curriculum can e-mail him to SeanBarnesPolo@aol.com (W3UU, K3PD)

HAMFESTS AND CONVENTIONS: FT.TUTHILL BECOMES WILLIAMS HAMFEST

The Ft. Tuthill Arizona hamfest has changed its name, its location and its date. Now the Williams Hamfest and ARRL Arizona State Convention, this premiere event will be held next July 2nd to the 4th, at the Williams Rodeo Grounds, Williams Arizona.

According to a news release from Mark Keshauer, N7KKQ, the move means that the hamfest sponsors can provide lower fees for tailgaters and campers, bigger spaces, a fireworks display and free admission. Most important, the famed Saturday night B-B-Q which is a staple of this show -- will continue. Sorry, that's not free but is among the best feeds found at any hamfest in the United States.

More information is on-line at www.arca-az.org/arca/images/press%20release (N7KKQ)

HAMVENTION 2004: THE YEAR OF THE CONTACT

Hamvention planners have announced that the theme for 2004 will be the "Year of the Contact," and they are starting out by improving their own. Amateur Radio Newsline's Bill Pasternak, WA6ITF, has the details:

According to Hamvention General Chairman Gary Des Combes, N-8-E-M-O, his team has been making numerous changes to the shows web site, This, so that things like exhibits, general admission ticket sales and Flea Market spaces can be handled on line and the necessary forms simply downloaded.

And yes, we did say Flea Market rather than Outside Exhibits. As regular listeners know, a number of years ago the Hamvention made the name change to Outside Exhibits. Only one problem. The ham radio public never bought in to that new upscale title.

Hams have always referred to the Hamvention Flea Market as -- well -- the Flea Market. So, taking a cue from the many radio amateurs who have responded to the Hamvention request for input, show planners have gone back to the future. Des Combes says that as of now, the Flea Market is the Flea Market, once again.

Gary Des Combes tells Amateur Radio Newsline that this is only the first of a number of "Going Back to the Future" changes that the public has asked for and that they will get. In fact, "Going Back to the Future" will be a sub theme during Hamvention 2004.

The dates are next May 14th to the 16th. The location is the HARA Arena in Trotwood Ohio just outside the city of Dayton.

For the Amateur Radio Newsline, I'm Bill Pasternak, WA6ITF, reporting.

HAMS HELPING: THE NORTH POLE NETWORK

The holiday season brings hams a great opportunity. What better way could there be to introduce hospitalized children and their families to the magic of Amateur Radio--and to spread holiday cheer--than to arrange to have Santa visit them via Amateur Radio? Newsline's Joe Moell, K0OV, tells us about the North Pole Network.

Kids at Childrens Hospital of Orange County get holiday visits from clowns, carolers, firemen, baseball players and rock stars. But nobody is more welcome and anticipated than the ten Amateur Radio operators who arrive on the weekend just before Christmas. They come to establish a special ham radio link that makes it possible for patients to talk directly to the "real" Santa in his office next to the big toy workshop at the North Pole.

Members of the Hospital Disaster Support Communications System have been visiting children and adults in Orange County hospitals for over 25 years, and we think there's no better way than this to spread holiday cheer while showing our hobby in the best possible light.

Will your club be part of the North Pole network this year? If so, we have some suggestions for you. For instance, personalize each QSO. It would be easy to just put the mike in front of a little girl and instruct her to tell Santa her name and where she lives. But imagine how much better the QSO will be if Santa calls her by name right from the start. He's Santa Claus, so he should know! Before each year's North Pole Network session begins, the hospital therapists provide our North Pole station with the list of names for every room and bed, along with plenty of other tidbits about the kids that make good conversation starters for Santa.

You'll find lots of other hints for your best North Pole Network ever at our group's special Web site. The URL is long, but you can get to it with one click from the Hospital Disaster Support Communications System site at www.hdscs.org

The most important hint we have for you is: Don't miss the miracles. Every year, we have had at least one extra-special encounter that astonished families, staff and the hams. In a Santa QSO, children have spoken for the first time following brain trauma. Fevers have broken shortly after North Pole Network visits. A head injury patient started to eat after being encouraged to do so by Santa, and so forth. We don't know exactly how much the personal contact with Father Christmas has aided in patients' recoveries, but we are always grateful that our hobby can add a little joy and holiday spirit to patients and their families.

Again, the Web spot to visit is HDSCS.org, short for Hospital Disaster Support Communications System. From southern California, this is Joe Moell Kay-zero-Oscar-Victor for Amateur Radio Newsline.

INTERNATIONAL - AUSTRALIA: VK2BVS HONORED BY VK PRIME MINISTER

Australia's Prime Minister John Howard and Foreign Minister Alexander Downer expresses gratitude for Australian ham radio training in developing countries. This, by way of a certificate sent to Sam Voron VK2BVS in which the Australian Government expresses its gratitude to Voron for a valued contribution towards assisting developing countries to reduce poverty and achieve sustainable development.

The honor was bestowed on Voron for the six months he spent in Somalia where he organized an Amateur Radio training course. In addition to Howard and Downer, the certificate was signed by Dr. Brendan Nelson who is a member of Australia's Parliamentary House of Representatives. (QRZ.COM)

INTERNATIONAL - SWEDEN: NEW PAN-EUROPEN TV SHOW ON ITS WAY

Ham radio in Europe will soon have a TV show of its own. Jeramy Boot, G4NJH, is in Nottingham, the UK, with the rest of the story:

The Swedish-based 'Club-TV' wishes to establish a monthly amateur radio magazine programme to be transmitted via digital satellite TV to most of Europe. Club-TV wants to cover all aspects of amateur radio and thinks there is a number of amateurs around Europe who can handle a video camera and edit the result.

Videos of 10 to 20 minutes would be perfect. There is no cost involved other than the tape as the broadcasts receive commercial sponsorship.

During the past year Club-TV has carried out a number of tests and broadcast a couple of programmes. The transmission is via the Sirius 2 satellite at 5 degrees East with a Symbol Rate of 6667 and FEC 1/2.

Jeramy says that inquiries go to Ben Jockert, SM6CKU, by e-mail to sm6cku@parabolic.se. (GB2RS)

ON THE AIR: NEW VHF/UHF PROPAGATION BEACONS NEAR ATLANTA

Back in the United States, Gary Bailey, WA4IOB, invites VHF operators to listen for his new 2 meter and 70 centimeter beacons. The transmitter are located in grid E M 73 near Snellville, Georgia about 25 miles east of Atlanta. The mode is CW on 144.285 MHz and 432.352 MHz with 2 watts output on each band. The 2 meter transmitter feeds a horizontal square loop. The 70-centimeter antenna is 4 half wave dipoles in a 90-degree horizontal quadrature configuration feedwith a 4-way power splitter. Both sign the call B B B W-A-4-I-O-B slash E M 73. Signal reports go to grb734@bellsouth.net (VHF Reflector)

DX

In D-X, LA5RIA will be active as JW5RIA from Bear Island until June of JW5RIA will operate on 160 to 6 metres CW, SSB and digital modes. Q-S-L as directed on the air. (RSGB)

Also, eight American operators are active from Christmas Island, East Kiribati, until the 7th of December. Call signs to listen for are T32MP, T32WW, and several others on all bands using all modes. They will have three stations with amplifiers and a large selection of antennas to pipe their signals worldwide. (RSGB)

THAT FINAL ITEM: A KILLER RENEWAL

And finally this week, the story of a ham who might have a hard time attending a license renewal hearing. Thats because he is in jail. Amateur Radio Newsline's Don Wilbanks, AE5DW, has more:

According to the ARRL Letter, the FCC has issued an Order to Show Cause to a Texas ham who is currently serving a 32-year prison sentence for the 1996 murder of his wife. The order released November 21st is the governments opening salvo in a hearing process that could end with the revocation of the Advanced class license of Roger Thomas Scaggs, W-5-E-B-C.

The FCC says that Scaggs' murder conviction raises very serious questions as to whether he possesses the requisite character qualifications to remain a Commission licensee. It also causes the agency to question whether his license should be revoked.

Scaggs is 64. He apparently was able to renew his ham ticket in the spring of 1998. This is the same year in which he was later convicted of murdering his wife. The FCC granted Scaggs' application for an administrative update. In this case, apparently a change of address from Austin to Gatesville, Texas.

The FCC only recently became aware of Scaggs' murder conviction, which could keep him behind bars at least until he's 75. Assuming that Scaggs indicates that he will appear for or be represented at a formal hearing, the FCC will follow up with a Hearing Designation Order.

The session itself will be held before an Administrative Law Judge and would consider evidence concerning the effect of Scaggs' felony conviction on his qualifications to remain an FCC licensee. If no action is taken Scaggs license will next expire in 2008.

For the Amateur Radio Newsline, I'm Don Wilbanks, AE5DW, in New Orleans.

Scaggs was given the customary 30 days to let the FCC know whether he plans to appear at the hearing. (ARRL)

I see you morons haven't learned a thing since smearing Steve Rogovich a year ago, claiming he was Pat Murphy who is supposed to be me. You were wrong then and you're most likely just as wrong now, Georgie-girl.

BTW, while you're whining about forges, why are you forging DouGay Adairierre's callsign? Talk about a hypocrite! LOL!

No, Frankie, it's not denial. It's called truth. Something you

That's plenty to talk to the truck in front of you. For any real distance, you need a big antenna (CB waves are 36 feet long), and a sideband radio (set on sideband). AM is not normally a long distance mode with 4 watts and a mobile antenna. (Skip does happen, though.)

get it peaked and tuned, then modifiy it to do 30 watts, get the BEST antenna system you can afford, installed by someone who knows about antenna systems on rigs (esp Volvo) and you will enjoy it for years...down the road buy a new 500 watt linear and go kick some ass..

My favorite musician/songwriter Steve Earle goes to Gallway quite a bit for vacation get aways, after he found his family tree puts him there with his ancestors. I'd really dig going there and seeing him in one of the small pubs he frequents with his 12 string acoustic. Convincing the wifey to go is the biggest obstacle, she doesn't share the same passion for his -great- songwriting that I do. Leave her home!?

He even wrote a tune about his 'Gallway girl'.

Who is the ham op in Gastonia NC who chases truckers up & down the interstate, trying to find out what channel and what kind of radio they have? Hear he's a real weirdo.

I went out and removed about 4 inches of snow from my vehicle. I'm slightly bummed that I didn't replace my thermostat when I replaced the leaking gasket. It must be stuck open, because it just won't heat up to operating temperature. Now I have to operate all over again because of a 99 cent gasket replacement. The guy at the store sold me Permatex gasket maker to use with the new gasket. I was expecting blue goo. I hope this stuff scrapes off easy. No leaks though, I did a good job...now to do it again.

AM sucks anyway. Too much scratchiness. Must be overmodulation.

AM may have better fidelity then SSB, but I prefer sideband.

BTW, when you have FM mode on your radio, you hear how tinny AM is.

I don't understand what your answer has to do with starting your sentence with the prepositional phrase, "Like I said." It's not good English. Don't do it. <:

(It makes me laugh when I hear it because I've avoided it!!!!)

Yea, you might as well do the stat while you have it apart. The permatex should peel off fairly well sice it's new.

Don't I know it. I hate plowing while the mall is open, but we have to make a token appearance with 4 trucks just to keep the stuffed shirts happy.

I sure wouldn't know. I doubt if any ham operator would be interested as long as you are not operating between 28.0 and 29.7 MHz.

Now you are spreading rumors, unsubstantiated rumors.

It ain't just me, bud. You better get used to it and i will tell you how to keep from getting bothered: Stay OUT of the 10 Meter band without license and you will never hear from the hams.
It's a win-win situation; you don't steal frequencies from the hams, and the hams don't listen for the drivers to operate on 10 Meters. OH, we already KNOW what "channels" to look for. Tan-fer thar???

You guys spend too much time on this forum. Get a girlfriend or at the very least get out into the fresh air. Amplifiers schamplifiers who cares. Just voicing opinions on this forum is uneventful.

Let me try to clear things up a bit:

The big issue in this newsgroup is the battle between legal and illegal operators (radio pirates, frequently referred to as 'keyclowns'). The legal operators include CBers that don't like how the pirates are ruining the band, and Hams that don't like the pirates intruding on the 10 meter band. Simple enough. However, there are some pirates here that are trying to confuse the issue and take the heat off of themselves by stirring up hate and discontent between Hams and CBers.

Then there are the trolls, as there are in many other newsgroups. They are small-minded people with little or no social life that need to take the advice you have offered. If -you- have a life then don't waste it on the trolls.

Enjoy.

Thanks! I thought it was nice. Talked to my new friend Mary @ SBCGlobal 3rd tier support, explained what has happening in this group. Forwarded posts made by you & Doug directed at me, also the posts I made.
Apologized for using your screen address (LMAO!!) but that I would adhere to AUP policy from now on.
She couldn't believe the stuff you write!! She was disgusted with the language both you and Doug use.

About an hour later her supervisor called me and explained that I have done nothing wrong other than use "your" screen address as mine, to which is against AUP. I told him the same thing I told Mary and he said no problem. He too was amazed on the language and harassment that you & Doug are doing on this group and would see if there was anything he could do.
I doubt there's anything he can do, but hey, I'm sure everyone on this group would love if there was.

I guess this post was in retaliation for the post that someone as you was trying to "frame" you with the wa3moj moniker .... (ROTFLMFAO!!)

Get yourself a Cobra 29 (AM) or Cobra 148 (AM/SSB) which works fine out of the box. Invest in a Astatic Road King or D104M-6C-DX1 noise canceling amplified mike and a heavy duty external speaker. Antenna wise get yourself a 4' Firestick with a mirror mount quick-disconnect so you can take it with you when moving from truck to truck. Getting your rig peaked/tuned will slightly help but amps are more troble than they're worth for the average OTR.

Unlike you, I have proved beyond a reasonable

The fact that you have saved all that crap

You are a sorry, little, old man of a troll.

The Keydown - The Ultimate Abuse of CB Radio

"CB Web and Popular Wireless Magazines encourage you to notify the Federal Communications Commission if you are aware of a scheduled Keydown happening in your town."

There is an abuse of CB radio taking place that many probably wouldn't believe if you told them about it. A small number of high-power junkies hold tournaments they call, "Keydowns." CB enthusiasts that run in the tens of thousands of watts of power - illegally of course - meet in communities all over this nation to challenge each other. The winner is capable of transmitting with the greatest amount of radio frequency energy than all of the other competitors.

These clowns have taken the illegal CB power amplifier several steps beyond what you might expect. To achieve power levels like this automobiles must be outfitted with multiple batteries, several heavy duty alternators, and antennas capable of handling thousands of watts of power.

These events are often sponsored by the pirate radio shops that sell the equipment the competitors use.

Why?

The magazine is taking an active interest in exposing and high lighting this illegal activity. I believe that the misguided souls that participate in these events are horrific examples of the types of abuse that are responsible in part for the decline of CB radio. This extreme unlawful activity is the CB pirate's way of legitimizing his or her unlawful behavior.

The operation of mobile radio transmitters, often tens of thousands of watts more in power than a typical LEGAL Amateur Radio operator, has the potential to interfere with everything and anything.

You can hear many of these clowns on CB channel 6. They tend to congregate on channel 6 so they can impress each other with their signal strength as they talk across great distances.

We think that after you have read more about Keydowns, and the culture that promotes the competitions you will want to do something about them if they occur in your area. CB Web and Popular Wireless Magazines encourage you to notify the Federal Communications Commission if you are aware of a scheduled Keydown happening in your town.

Want more information about Keydowns?

Visit the newsgroup rec.radio.cb to learn more. Proponents (known as Key Clowns) and opponents (known as Anti-Key Clowns) debate the merit and lack of same at this Internet location. The Key Clowns read Internet sites like Keydowns.com.

I cannot think of a riskier, more wasteful, or more foolish activity than building an illegal thirty thousand watt mobile radio system that one uses on CB to say, "You got the Big Banana in Nawlins, give us a comback ya'hear?" Why?

I found these 2 posts about K8CPA on the web...interesting stuff.

He seems to be almost as queerboy as twathed.

Happy holidays gang!

Chukkee the gayboy jizz likk
Sucks a throbbin thrustin dick
There aint a cock on the planet
Chukkee wouldn't gladly lick

All of the other gayboys
Used to laugh and call him names
They loved to taunt poor Chukkee
And toss him in the newsgroup flames

Then one foggy Christmas eve
Twithed came to say
"Chukkee with your lips so bright, Won't you wash my nuts tonite?"

Then how 'ole Chukkee loved it
As he bobbed up and down
That is the story of Chukkee
The little gay fag keyclown

Then there is also his bio....this is one fuckked up bozoboy here!

K8CPA
Okay, this is the place where I tell you how I came to know how fucked up I am.... and all the personal information about me. I will try and answer all the questions:

Date of Birth: June 28, 1972 <in the fall of 71 my daddy fucked a pig, ya see>

Place of Birth: Detroit, Michigan <in an alley behind the unit block of Waterman Avenue>

Religious Information: Well, first off, I am NOT heterosexual! I am a faggot! I accepted penises as my personal Lord in 1980. I was all of 10 Years old, I knew exactly what I was doing, I knew that if I didn't get cock in my mouth, I would not See the Lord in the rapture of it's jizz pulsing. I have been butt pumped nightly for 12 Years. Although, I was "Backslidden" for about 6 of those years, while screwing female barnyard animals. I am now back serving my Lord penis. I would like to Thank the Rev. Jack Hizhogoff of Detroit Gayboy Outreach (Web at: http://www.dgo.fag) for standing in the gap and slapping his manly dick up my fat faggot ass, and for a playroom where people like me, who were burned by chickenhawks with syphylitic dicks and fellow fags in general, could come and give their hearts back to the Lord penis. My only regret is that Rev Hizhogoff had to start pushing his manly dick in my fat faggot ass to the point where I could not bear to bend over anymore, and I returned to my favorite pastime, cocksucking in the men's room of the Detroit bus station.

"Burned" by the syphylitic cocks in my mouth and asshole?: Yep, Sure was.... I was... like I said before, I was sucking when I was 10, (around 1980), I was originally sucking just anyone, especially born again Christians and other mentally fucked up Baptist types like me. I loved those guys when theyd tell me to tongue their assholes. Condoms were a BIG no-no.... and I believed it!

Speed ahead 4 years. in 1984, The Baptist Church I went to had a bit of a controversy, The Pastor had resigned because he was caught bobbing on my young fat faggot pee pee, and things there were in a state of chaos, and my mom did not want to suffer having to put up with my faggot punk boy ass at home. She enrolled me into the Detroit Institute for Hopless Gayboy Fatass Chumps. I started attending and believe me, going to a Full-TILT anal only gayboy school. after attending one with a stated preference for teaching Hopless Gayboy Fatass Chumps to mainly suck dick, was a MAJOR SHOCK to my system! But one thing kept me from leaving the place, was the fact that these people seemed to really love the Lord Penis. and there was this one guy, named Robert Snyder, Who played the drums, like John Bonham, (from Led Zeppelin) and we got along great.... (Not to mention he would let me drink his jizz on the sly. That was HOT! least I thought so! Hey! I was 14 years old, and my hormones were at full TILT! So SUE ME!) (By the way, Snyder is now married to MoparHolic and living in Ohio. I'm very happy for him.
Anyhow... After being there for about a year. I started being interested in playing drums for them, as I was a drummer, from a young age... and I wanted to use my talent for the Lord Penis. Well, I eventually got the nerve to ask if I could play for them, and they said sure, as long as I would give em all head before each show! AWESOME!!!... My first time playing for Detroit Institute for Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chumps was a nightmare! I was scared, I totally forgot how to play because I was violently burping up the sprem I had sucked down before the show.! I was THAT scared! Anyhow... speed ahead to age 19... I was changing as a person, things were changing at Detroit Institute for Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chumps, as well. and a bit of a disagreement rose up between me and Snyder. I wanted to suck their cocks the night before the show instead of immediately prior to it. They said they needed the rush in order to play better, and I was asked to step down from the music ministry. Needless to say I was crushed. and very upset at Snyder In fact. I didn't think I'd ever be able to forgive him for that... Anyhow... I entered into what I called "My Dark Years" from age 19-26... Drugs, Drinking, eating 7 meals a day of Burger king, Dominos Pizza and Taco Bell in order to make myself an even bigger Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chump.... and when I found out that Snyder had turned heterosexual, I really went off the deep end... until...

MY MOMENT OF CLARITY

Well, when I was around 26, I was totally burned out on the Dominos Pizza... I was just sick and tired of being sick and tired... I needed cocks rammed up my Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chump poop chute and I needed it BADLY!!! the people I was upset at were gone from Detroit Institute for Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chumps. I was not getting any older... and I was ready to stop running from the Lord penis. But I had issues to resolve in my life... How could just Go back to the fags that had only "screwed" me and wouldnt let me suck cocks in the first place? I still felt like I'd been wronged! But I had the Clarity moment of a lifetime... This thought crossed my mind...

"I was a FAGASS PUNKBOY MOTHERFUCKER BEFORE I came to the Detroit Institute for Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chumps

Why am I allowing something that happened 7 years ago, keep me from serving my God, the Penis?????????

My Return to total Fagassedness!

Well, I was 26 years old... I was wanting to come back full time to Lord Penis. But I wasn't going back to Detroit Institute for Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chumps (at least not at that time!!!) I had heard about a church called DGW (short for Detroit Gayboy Outreach) and I'd heard in the past that it was a nice place... So..... I wanted to be where the Holy Spirit of the Lord Penis was... and there I was... I came to the church on Ann Arbor Trail... my first experience there was a interesting one, I came in the parking lot... puffing on a 7 year old kid's cock, (in my years of being Backslidden, I picked up a nasty 2 child a day, sucking habit...) I finished my child, and went in, and right away I heard SCREAMING in my ear... "what are you doing here???" "these are the people that Screwed you, but would not let you suck dicks!" act..... and when the song service started, the Holy Spirit of Lord Penis fell, and I became very uncomfortable, to the point when I had to leave! and I did!, I remember a usher, running after me and saying where are you going??? I remember looking back at him and saying... "I can't handle this SHIT I got to get out of here!" and I left.... Well, that week... I sort of prepared myself for service to mens dicks next week, I took my Book, Gay Sex For Dummies to work. (I worked midnights as a Security Guard, so I could walk around the ghetto apartment complex I patrolled and peek in windows at sleeping little boys. and I had lots of time to masturbate...) My mother realized I was fantasizing about kids nuts.... I found myself reading the Word, and Praying for a big hairy

chested man to suck off.. by Sunday, I knew I was ready to come back... Went back that Sunday.... they had a Illustrated Sermon on fellatio with pictures from several fag magazines, it was great, and needless to say, my Hard cock, Melted in the presence of the Lord Penis. and I knew that I wanted to come home.

I thank the Lord Penis for his Love, That takes us whacked out people as we are, and makes us his Servants....

Where am I now... : Currently Attending Adult classes at The Detroit Institute for Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chumps.

HAM RADIO?!?!?!?!?!?I BETRAY IT AND WORSHIP ILLIGAL FAGGOT KEYCLOWNS BECAUSE THEY LIKE SUCKING COCK AS MUCH AS I DO!!!!

I was, I guess you could say, Born into the CB FAGGOT Hobby... My Father, was a Dyed in the wool CB FAG... I even had a stint in the CB radio hobby as well... Anyhow, one year (I think I was around 8 Years old...) my parents and I went to have sex with my Grandfather's Sister and her German Shepherd, in Conway, Ark, which is the world capital of CB FAGGOTS. To say the least, was totally impressed with the FAGGOT CB Hobby, because it satisfied my craving to run my faggot mouth constantly AND to suck cocks!!!. and for years I did nothing about it, just sucking dicks constantly and that linear tuning on those tube type ILLEGAL FAGGOT KEYCLOWN amplifiers was just too hard to learn. Speed Ahead to age 14, a friend of mine, Joseph Hampton (Ham call sign N8ExtremeCockNosher-but ALSO a secret ILLEGAL FAGGOT KEYCLOWN) who lived across the street from me, and also was interested in getting his dick polished as well.. Well, we had some gay sex together... (you see this was when you had to be secretive about your gayness! I was KB8HHZ (hugely horny for zebra!) and Joe was KB8HGL (Hungry Gonad licker!)... I believe me and Joe were originally licensed in 1989....

On April of 2000. The FCC Restructured it's licenses... and I paid a renegade VE 50 bucks and Received my General Class Ticket... I often masturbate while thinking of linears for ILLEGAL FAGGOT KEYCLOWNS. And really think Riley is mean. Maybe if I sucked his dick he would not be after traitor scumbag shithunk fagboys like me.

My Call? Is a Vanity call that I paid for, it is my initials! Because as a Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chump, I need something like that for my ego.

so there you go!

I hope this answers everything you wanted to know about me!

Jack Hizhogoff of Detroit Gayboy Outreach (Web at: http://www.dgo.fag) for standing in the gap and slapping his manly dick up my fat faggot ass, and for a playroom where people like me, who were burned by chickenhawks with syphylitic dicks and fellow fags in general, could come and give their hearts back to the Lord penis. My only regret is that Rev Hizhogoff had to start pushing his manly dick in my fat faggot ass to the point where I could not bear to bend over anymore, and I returned to my favorite pastime, cocksucking in the men's room of the Detroit bus station.

"Burned" by the syphylitic cocks in my mouth and asshole?: Yep, Sure was.... I was... like I said before, I was sucking when I was 10, (around 1980), I was originally sucking just anyone, especially born again Christians and other mentally fucked up Baptist types like me. I loved those guys when theyd tell me to tongue their assholes. Condoms were a BIG no-no.... and I believed it!

Speed ahead 4 years. in 1984, The Baptist Church I went to had a bit of a controversy, The Pastor had resigned because he was caught bobbing on my young fat faggot pee pee, and things there were in a state of chaos, and my mom did not want to suffer having to put up with my faggot punk boy ass at home. She enrolled me into the Detroit Institute for Hopless Gayboy Fatass Chumps. I started attending and believe me, going to a Full-TILT anal only gayboy school. after attending one with a stated preference for teaching Hopless Gayboy Fatass Chumps to mainly suck dick, was a MAJOR SHOCK to my system! But one thing kept me from leaving the place, was the fact that these people seemed to really love the Lord Penis. and there was this one guy, named Robert Snyder, Who played the drums, like John Bonham, (from Led Zeppelin) and we got along great.... (Not to mention he would let me drink his jizz on the sly. That was HOT! least I thought so! Hey! I was 14 years old, and my hormones were at full TILT! So SUE ME!) (By the way, Snyder is now married to MoparHolic and living in Ohio. I'm very happy for him.
Anyhow... After being there for about a year. I started being interested in playing drums for them, as I was a drummer, from a young age... and I wanted to use my talent for the Lord Penis. Well, I eventually got the nerve to ask if I could play for them, and they said sure, as long as I would give em all head before each show! AWESOME!!!... My first time playing for Detroit Institute for Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chumps was a nightmare! I was scared, I totally forgot how to play because I was violently burping up the sprem I had sucked down before the show.! I was THAT scared! Anyhow... speed ahead to age 19... I was changing as a person, things were changing at Detroit Institute for Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chumps, as well. and a bit of a disagreement rose up between me and Snyder. I wanted to suck their cocks the night before the show instead of immediately prior to it. They said they needed the rush in order to play better, and I was asked to step down from the music ministry. Needless to say I was crushed. and very upset at Snyder In fact. I didn't think I'd ever be able to forgive him for that... Anyhow... I entered into what I called "My Dark Years" from age 19-26... Drugs, Drinking, eating 7 meals a day of Burger king, Dominos Pizza and Taco Bell in order to make myself an even bigger Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chump.... and when I found out that Snyder had turned heterosexual, I really went off the deep end... until...

MY MOMENT OF CLARITY

Well, when I was around 26, I was totally burned out on the Dominos Pizza... I was just sick and tired of being sick and tired... I needed cocks rammed up my Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chump poop chute and I needed it BADLY!!! the people I was upset at were gone from Detroit Institute for Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chumps. I was not getting any older... and I was ready to stop running from the Lord penis. But I had issues to resolve in my life... How could just Go back to the fags that had only "screwed" me and wouldnt let me suck cocks in the first place? I still felt like I'd been wronged! But I had the Clarity moment of a lifetime... This thought crossed my mind...

"I was a FAGASS PUNKBOY MOTHERFUCKER BEFORE I came to the Detroit Institute for Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chumps

Why am I allowing something that happened 7 years ago, keep me from serving my God, the Penis?????????

My Return to total Fagassedness!

Well, I was 26 years old... I was wanting to come back full time to Lord Penis. But I wasn't going back to Detroit Institute for Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chumps (at least not at that time!!!) I had heard about a church called DGW (short for Detroit Gayboy Outreach) and I'd heard in the past that it was a nice place... So..... I wanted to be where the Holy Spirit of the Lord Penis was... and there I was... I came to the church on Ann Arbor Trail... my first experience there was a interesting one, I came in the parking lot... puffing on a 7 year old kid's cock, (in my years of being Backslidden, I picked up a nasty 2 child a day, sucking habit...) I finished my child, and went in, and right away I heard SCREAMING in my ear... "what are you doing here???" "these are the people that Screwed you, but would not let you suck dicks!" act..... and when the song service started, the Holy Spirit of Lord Penis fell, and I became very uncomfortable, to the point when I had to leave! and I did!, I remember a usher, running after me and saying where are you going??? I remember looking back at him and saying... "I can't handle this SHIT I got to get out of here!" and I left.... Well, that week... I sort of prepared myself for service to mens dicks next week, I took my Book, Gay Sex For Dummies to work. (I worked midnights as a Security Guard, so I could walk around the ghetto apartment complex I patrolled and peek in windows at sleeping little boys. and I had lots of time to masturbate...) My mother realized I was fantasizing about kids nuts.... I found myself reading the Word, and Praying for a big hairy

chested man to suck off.. by Sunday, I knew I was ready to come back... Went back that Sunday.... they had a Illustrated Sermon on fellatio with pictures from several fag magazines, it was great, and needless to say, my Hard cock, Melted in the presence of the Lord Penis. and I knew that I wanted to come home.

I thank the Lord Penis for his Love, That takes us whacked out people as we are, and makes us his Servants....

Where am I now... : Currently Attending Adult classes at The Detroit Institute for Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chumps.

HAM RADIO?!?!?!?!?!?I BETRAY IT AND WORSHIP ILLIGAL FAGGOT KEYCLOWNS BECAUSE THEY LIKE SUCKING COCK AS MUCH AS I DO!!!!

I was, I guess you could say, Born into the CB FAGGOT Hobby... My Father, was a Dyed in the wool CB FAG... I even had a stint in the CB radio hobby as well... Anyhow, one year (I think I was around 8 Years old...) my parents and I went to have sex with my Grandfather's Sister and her German Shepherd, in Conway, Ark, which is the world capital of CB FAGGOTS. To say the least, was totally impressed with the FAGGOT CB Hobby, because it satisfied my craving to run my faggot mouth constantly AND to suck cocks!!!. and for years I did nothing about it, just sucking dicks constantly and that linear tuning on those tube type ILLEGAL FAGGOT KEYCLOWN amplifiers was just too hard to learn. Speed Ahead to age 14, a friend of mine, Joseph Hampton (Ham call sign N8ExtremeCockNosher-but ALSO a secret ILLEGAL FAGGOT KEYCLOWN) who lived across the street from me, and also was interested in getting his dick polished as well.. Well, we had some gay sex together... (you see this was when you had to be secretive about your gayness! I was KB8HHZ (hugely horny for zebra!) and Joe was KB8HGL (Hungry Gonad licker!)... I believe me and Joe were originally licensed in 1989....

On April of 2000. The FCC Restructured it's licenses... and I paid a renegade VE 50 bucks and Received my General Class Ticket... I often masturbate while thinking of linears for ILLEGAL FAGGOT KEYCLOWNS. And really think Riley is mean. Maybe if I sucked his dick he would not be after traitor scumbag shithunk fagboys like me.

My Call? Is a Vanity call that I paid for, it is my initials! Because as a Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chump, I need something like that for my ego.

so there you go!

I hope this answers everything you wanted to know about me!

K8CPA
Okay, this is the place where I tell you how I came to know how fucked up I am.... and all the personal information about me. I will try and answer all the questions:

Date of Birth: June 28, 1972 <in the fall of 71 my daddy fucked a pig, ya see>

Place of Birth: Detroit, Michigan <in an alley behind the unit block of Waterman Avenue>

Religious Information: Well, first off, I am NOT heterosexual! I am a faggot! I accepted penises as my personal Lord in 1980. I was all of 10 Years old, I knew exactly what I was doing, I knew that if I didn't get cock in my mouth, I would not See the Lord in the rapture of it's jizz pulsing. I have been butt pumped nightly for 12 Years. Although, I was "Backslidden" for about 6 of those years, while screwing female barnyard animals. I am now back serving my Lord penis. I would like to

"these are the people that Screwed you, but would not let you suck dicks!" act..... and when the song service started, the Holy Spirit of Lord Penis fell, and I became very uncomfortable, to the point when I had to leave! and I did!, I remember a usher, running after me and saying where are you going??? I remember looking back at him and saying... "I can't handle this SHIT I got to get out of here!" and I left.... Well, that week... I sort of prepared myself for service to mens dicks next week, I took my Book, Gay Sex For Dummies to work. (I worked midnights as a Security Guard, so I could walk around the ghetto apartment complex I patrolled and peek in windows at sleeping little boys. and I had lots of time to masturbate...) My mother realized I was fantasizing about kids nuts.... I found myself reading the Word, and Praying for a big hairy

chested man to suck off.. by Sunday, I knew I was ready to come back... Went back that Sunday.... they had a Illustrated Sermon on fellatio with pictures from several fag magazines, it was great, and needless to say, my Hard cock, Melted in the presence of the Lord Penis. and I knew that I wanted to come home.

I thank the Lord Penis for his Love, That takes us whacked out people as we are, and makes us his Servants....

HAM RADIO?!?!?!?!?!?I BETRAY IT AND WORSHIP ILLIGAL FAGGOT KEYCLOWNS BECAUSE THEY LIKE SUCKING COCK AS MUCH AS I DO!!!!

I was, I guess you could say, Born into the CB FAGGOT Hobby... My Father, was a Dyed in the wool CB FAG... I even had a stint in the CB radio hobby as well... Anyhow, one year (I think I was around 8 Years old...) my parents and I went to have sex with my Grandfather's Sister and her German Shepherd, in Conway, Ark, which is the world capital of CB FAGGOTS. To say the least, was totally impressed with the FAGGOT CB Hobby, because it satisfied my craving to run my faggot mouth constantly AND to suck cocks!!!. and for years I did nothing about it, just sucking dicks constantly and that linear tuning on those tube type ILLEGAL FAGGOT KEYCLOWN amplifiers was just too hard to learn. Speed Ahead to age 14, a friend of mine, Joseph Hampton (Ham call sign N8ExtremeCockNosher-but ALSO a secret ILLEGAL FAGGOT KEYCLOWN) who lived across the street from me, and also was interested in getting his dick polished as well.. Well, we had some gay sex together... (you see this was when you had to be secretive about your gayness! I was KB8HHZ (hugely horny for zebra!) and Joe was KB8HGL (Hungry Gonad licker!)... I believe me and Joe were originally licensed in 1989....

On April of 2000. The FCC Restructured it's licenses... and I paid a renegade VE 50 bucks and Received my General Class Ticket... I often masturbate while thinking of linears for ILLEGAL FAGGOT KEYCLOWNS. And really think Riley is mean. Maybe if I sucked his dick he would not be after traitor scumbag shithunk fagboys like me.

My Call? Is a Vanity call that I paid for, it is my initials! Because as a Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chump, I need something like that for my ego.

so there you go!

I hope this answers everything you wanted to know about me!

I found these 2 posts about K8CPA on the web...interesting stuff.

He seems to be almost as queerboy as twathed.

Happy holidays gang!

Chukkee the gayboy jizz likk
Sucks a throbbin thrustin dick
There aint a cock on the planet
Chukkee wouldn't gladly lick

All of the other gayboys
Used to laugh and call him names
They loved to taunt poor Chukkee
And toss him in the newsgroup flames

Then one foggy Christmas eve
Twithed came to say
"Chukkee with your lips so bright,
Won't you wash my nuts tonite?"

Then how 'ole Chukkee loved it
As he bobbed up and down
That is the story of Chukkee
The little gay fag keyclown

Then there is also his bio....this is one fuckked up bozoboy here!

K8CPA
Okay, this is the place where I tell you how I came to know how fucked up I am.... and all the personal information about me. I will try and answer all the questions:

Date of Birth: June 28, 1972 <in the fall of 71 my daddy fucked a pig, ya see>

Place of Birth: Detroit, Michigan <in an alley behind the unit block of Waterman Avenue>

Religious Information: Well, first off, I am NOT heterosexual! I am a faggot! I accepted penises as my personal Lord in 1980. I was all of 10 Years old, I knew exactly what I was doing, I knew that if I didn't get cock in my mouth, I would not See the Lord in the rapture of it's jizz pulsing. I have been butt pumped nightly for 12 Years. Although, I was "Backslidden" for about 6 of those years, while screwing female barnyard animals. I am now back serving my Lord penis. I would like to Thank the Rev. Jack Hizhogoff of Detroit Gayboy Outreach (Web at: http://www.dgo.fag) for standing in the gap and slapping his manly dick up my fat faggot ass, and for a playroom where people like me, who were burned by chickenhawks with syphylitic dicks and fellow fags in general, could come and give their hearts back to the Lord penis. My only regret is that Rev Hizhogoff had to start pushing his manly dick in my fat faggot ass to the point where I could not bear to bend over anymore, and I returned to my favorite pastime, cocksucking in the men's room of the Detroit bus station.

"Burned" by the syphylitic cocks in my mouth and asshole?: Yep, Sure was.... I was... like I said before, I was sucking when I was 10, (around 1980), I was originally sucking just anyone, especially born again Christians and other mentally fucked up Baptist types like me. I loved those guys when theyd tell me to tongue their assholes. Condoms were a BIG no-no.... and I believed it!

Speed ahead 4 years. in 1984, The Baptist Church I went to had a bit of a controversy, The Pastor had resigned because he was caught bobbing on my young fat faggot pee pee, and things there were in a state of chaos, and my mom did not want to suffer having to put up with my faggot punk boy ass at home. She enrolled me into the Detroit Institute for Hopless Gayboy Fatass Chumps. I started attending and believe me, going to a Full-TILT anal only gayboy school. after attending one with a stated preference for teaching Hopless Gayboy Fatass Chumps to mainly suck dick, was a MAJOR SHOCK to my system! But one thing kept me from leaving the place, was the fact that these people seemed to really love the Lord Penis. and there was this one guy, named Robert Snyder, Who played the drums, like John Bonham, (from Led Zeppelin) and we got along great.... (Not to mention he would let me drink his jizz on the sly. That was HOT! least I thought so! Hey! I was 14 years old, and my hormones were at full TILT! So SUE ME!) (By the way, Snyder is now married to MoparHolic and living in Ohio. I'm very happy for him.
Anyhow... After being there for about a year. I started being interested in playing drums for them, as I was a drummer, from a young age... and I wanted to use my talent for the Lord Penis. Well, I eventually got the nerve to ask if I could play for them, and they said sure, as long as I would give em all head before each show! AWESOME!!!... My first time playing for Detroit Institute for Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chumps was a nightmare! I was scared, I totally forgot how to play because I was violently burping up the sprem I had sucked down before the show.! I was THAT scared! Anyhow... speed ahead to age 19... I was changing as a person, things were changing at Detroit Institute for Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chumps, as well. and a bit of a disagreement rose up between me and Snyder. I wanted to suck their cocks the night before the show instead of immediately prior to it. They said they needed the rush in order to play better, and I was asked to step down from the music ministry. Needless to say I was crushed. and very upset at Snyder In fact. I didn't think I'd ever be able to forgive him for that... Anyhow... I entered into what I called "My Dark Years" from age 19-26... Drugs, Drinking, eating 7 meals a day of Burger king, Dominos Pizza and Taco Bell in order to make myself an even bigger Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chump.... and when I found out that Snyder had turned heterosexual, I really went off the deep end... until...

MY MOMENT OF CLARITY

Well, when I was around 26, I was totally burned out on the Dominos Pizza... I was just sick and tired of being sick and tired... I needed cocks rammed up my Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chump poop chute and I needed it BADLY!!! the people I was upset at were gone from Detroit Institute for Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chumps. I was not getting any older... and I was ready to stop running from the Lord penis. But I had issues to resolve in my life... How could just Go back to the fags that had only "screwed" me and wouldnt let me suck cocks in the first place? I still felt like I'd been wronged! But I had the Clarity moment of a lifetime... This thought crossed my mind...

"I was a FAGASS PUNKBOY MOTHERFUCKER BEFORE I came to the Detroit Institute for Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chumps

Why am I allowing something that happened 7 years ago, keep me from serving my God, the Penis?????????

My Return to total Fagassedness!

Well, I was 26 years old... I was wanting to come back full time to Lord Penis. But I wasn't going back to Detroit Institute for Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chumps (at least not at that time!!!) I had heard about a church called DGW (short for Detroit Gayboy Outreach) and I'd heard in the past that it was a nice place... So..... I wanted to be where the Holy Spirit of the Lord Penis was... and there I was... I came to the church on Ann Arbor Trail... my first experience there was a interesting one, I came in the parking lot... puffing on a 7 year old kid's cock, (in my years of being Backslidden, I picked up a nasty 2 child a day, sucking habit...) I finished my child, and went in, and right away I heard SCREAMING in my ear... "what are you doing here???" "these are the people that Screwed you, but would not let you suck dicks!" act..... and when the song service started, the Holy Spirit of Lord Penis fell, and I became very uncomfortable, to the point when I had to leave! and I did!, I remember a usher, running after me and saying where are you going??? "I was a FAGASS PUNKBOY MOTHERFUCKER BEFORE I came to the Detroit Institute for Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chumps

Why am I allowing something that happened 7 years ago, keep me from serving my God, the Penis?????????

My Return to total Fagassedness!

Well, I was 26 years old... I was wanting to come back full time to Lord Penis. But I wasn't going back to Detroit Institute for Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chumps (at least not at that time!!!) I had heard about a church called DGW (short for Detroit Gayboy Outreach) and I'd heard in the past that it was a nice place... So..... I wanted to be where the Holy Spirit of the Lord Penis was... and there I was... I came to the church on Ann Arbor Trail... my first experience there was a interesting one, I came in the parking lot... puffing on a 7 year old kid's cock, (in my years of being Backslidden, I picked up a nasty 2 child a day, sucking habit...) I finished my child, and went in, and right away I heard SCREAMING in my ear... "what are you doing here???" "these are the people that Screwed you, but would not let you suck dicks!" act..... and when the song service started, the Holy Spirit of Lord Penis fell, and I became very uncomfortable, to the point when I had to leave! and I did!, I remember a usher, running after me and saying where are you going??? I remember looking back at him and saying... "I can't handle this SHIT I got to get out of here!" and I left.... Well, that week... I sort of prepared myself for service to mens dicks next week, I took my Book, Gay Sex For Dummies to work. (I worked midnights as a Security Guard, so I could walk around the ghetto apartment complex I patrolled and peek in windows at sleeping little boys. and I had lots of time to masturbate...) My mother realized I was fantasizing about kids nuts.... I found myself reading the Word, and Praying for a big hairy

chested man to suck off.. by Sunday, I knew I was ready to come back... Went back that Sunday.... they had a Illustrated Sermon on fellatio with pictures from several fag magazines, it was great, and needless to say, my Hard cock, Melted in the presence of the Lord Penis. and I knew that I wanted to come home.

I thank the Lord Penis for his Love, That takes us whacked out people as we are, and makes us his Servants....

Where am I now... : Currently Attending Adult classes at The Detroit Institute for Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chumps.

HAM RADIO?!?!?!?!?!?I BETRAY IT AND WORSHIP ILLIGAL FAGGOT KEYCLOWNS BECAUSE THEY LIKE SUCKING COCK AS MUCH AS I DO!!!!

I was, I guess you could say, Born into the CB FAGGOT Hobby... My Father, was a Dyed in the wool CB FAG... I even had a stint in the CB radio hobby as well... Anyhow, one year (I think I was around 8 Years old...) my parents and I went to have sex with my Grandfather's Sister and her German Shepherd, in Conway, Ark, which is the world capital of CB FAGGOTS. To say the least, was totally impressed with the FAGGOT CB Hobby, because it satisfied my craving to run my faggot mouth constantly AND to suck cocks!!!. and for years I did nothing about it, just sucking dicks constantly and that linear tuning on those tube type ILLEGAL FAGGOT KEYCLOWN amplifiers was just too hard to learn. Speed Ahead to age 14, a friend of mine, Joseph Hampton (Ham call sign N8ExtremeCockNosher-but ALSO a secret ILLEGAL FAGGOT KEYCLOWN) who lived across the street from me, and also was interested in getting his dick polished as well.. Well, we had some gay sex together... (you see this was when you had to be secretive about your gayness! I was KB8HHZ (hugely horny for zebra!) and Joe was KB8HGL (Hungry Gonad licker!)... I believe me and Joe were originally licensed in 1989....

On April of 2000. The FCC Restructured it's licenses... and I paid a renegade VE 50 bucks and Received my General Class Ticket... I often masturbate while thinking of linears for ILLEGAL FAGGOT KEYCLOWNS. And really think Riley is mean. Maybe if I sucked his dick he would not be after traitor scumbag shithunk fagboys like me.

My Call? Is a Vanity call that I paid for, it is my initials! Because as a Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chump, I need something like that for my ego.

so there you go!

I hope this answers everything you wanted to know about me!

The little gay fag keyclown

Then there is also his bio....this is one fuckked up bozoboy here!

K8CPA
Okay, this is the place where I tell you how I came to know how fucked up I am.... and all the personal information about me. I will try and answer all the questions:

Date of Birth: June 28, 1972 <in the fall of 71 my daddy fucked a pig, ya see>

Place of Birth: Detroit, Michigan <in an alley behind the unit block of Waterman Avenue>

Religious Information: Well, first off, I am NOT heterosexual! I am a faggot! I accepted penises as my personal Lord in 1980. I was all of 10 Years old, I knew exactly what I was doing, I knew that if I didn't get cock in my mouth, I would not See the Lord in the rapture of it's jizz pulsing. I have been butt pumped nightly for 12 Years. Although, I was "Backslidden" for about 6 of those years, while screwing female barnyard animals. I am now back serving my Lord penis. I would like to Thank the Rev. Jack Hizhogoff of Detroit Gayboy Outreach (Web at: http://www.dgo.fag) for standing in the gap and slapping his manly dick up my fat faggot ass, and for a playroom where people like me, who were burned by chickenhawks with syphylitic dicks and fellow fags in general, could come and give their hearts back to the Lord penis. My only regret is that Rev Hizhogoff had to start pushing his manly dick in my fat faggot ass to the point where I could not bear to bend over anymore, and I returned to my favorite pastime, cocksucking in the men's room of the Detroit bus station.

"Burned" by the syphylitic cocks in my mouth and asshole?: Yep, Sure was.... I was... like I said before, I was sucking when I was 10, (around 1980), I was originally sucking just anyone, especially born again Christians and other mentally fucked up Baptist types like me. I loved those guys when theyd tell me to tongue their assholes. Condoms were a BIG no-no.... and I believed it!

Speed ahead 4 years. in 1984, The Baptist Church I went to had a bit of a controversy, The Pastor had resigned because he was caught bobbing on my young fat faggot pee pee, and things there were in a state of chaos, and my mom did not want to suffer having to put up with my faggot punk boy ass at home. She enrolled me into the Detroit Institute for Hopless Gayboy Fatass Chumps. I started attending and believe me, going to a Full-TILT anal only gayboy school. after attending one with a stated preference for teaching Hopless Gayboy Fatass Chumps to mainly suck dick, was a MAJOR SHOCK to my system! But one thing kept me from leaving the place, was the fact that these people seemed to really love the Lord Penis. and there was this one guy, named Robert Snyder, Who played the drums, like John Bonham, (from Led Zeppelin) and we got along great.... (Not to mention he would let me drink his jizz on the sly. That was HOT! least I thought so! Hey! I was 14 years old, and my hormones were at full TILT! So SUE ME!) (By the way, Snyder is now married to MoparHolic and living in Ohio. I'm very happy for him.
Anyhow... After being there for about a year. I started being interested in playing drums for them, as I was a drummer, from a young age... and I wanted to use my talent for the Lord Penis. Well, I eventually got the nerve to ask if I could play for them, and they said sure, as long as I would give em all head before each show! AWESOME!!!... My first time playing for Detroit Institute for Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chumps was a nightmare! I was scared, I totally forgot how to play because I was violently burping up the sprem I had sucked down before the show.! I was THAT scared! Anyhow... speed ahead to age 19... I was changing as a person, things were changing at Detroit Institute for Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chumps, as well. and a bit of a disagreement rose up between me and Snyder. I wanted to suck their cocks the night before the show instead of immediately prior to it. They said they needed the rush in order to play better, and I was asked to step down from the music ministry. Needless to say I was crushed. and very upset at Snyder In fact. I didn't think I'd ever be able to forgive him for that... Anyhow... I entered into what I called "My Dark Years" from age 19-26... Drugs, Drinking, eating 7 meals a day of Burger king, Dominos Pizza and Taco Bell in order to make myself an even bigger Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chump.... and when I found out that Snyder had turned heterosexual, I really went off the deep end... until...

MY MOMENT OF CLARITY

Well, when I was around 26, I was totally burned out on the Dominos Pizza... I was just sick and tired of being sick and tired... I needed cocks rammed up my Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chump poop chute and I needed it BADLY!!! the people I was upset at were gone from Detroit Institute for Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chumps. I was not getting any older... and I was ready to stop running from the Lord penis. But I had issues to resolve in my life... How could just Go back to the fags that had only "screwed" me and wouldnt let me suck cocks in the first place? I still felt like I'd been wronged! But I had the Clarity moment of a lifetime... This thought crossed my mind...

If you are implying that people, who hold ham licenses, should be somehow held to a higher moral standard than the "common man", then that would be faulty logic. A ham license is only a "permit" to use radio, it is not a
"badge of morality".

I was scared, I totally forgot how to play because I was violently burping up the sprem I had sucked down before the show.! I was THAT scared! Anyhow... speed ahead to age 19... I was changing as a person, things were changing at Detroit Institute for Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chumps, as well. and a bit of a disagreement rose up between me and Snyder. I wanted to suck their cocks the night before the show instead of immediately prior to it. They said they needed the rush in order to play better, and I was asked to step down from the music ministry. Needless to say I was crushed. and very upset at Snyder In fact. I didn't think I'd ever be able to forgive him for that... Anyhow... I entered into what I called "My Dark Years" from age 19-26... Drugs, Drinking, eating 7 meals a day of Burger king, Dominos Pizza and Taco Bell in order to make myself an even bigger Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chump.... and when I found out that Snyder had turned heterosexual, I really went off the deep end... until...

MY MOMENT OF CLARITY

Well, when I was around 26, I was totally burned out on the Dominos Pizza... I was just sick and tired of being sick and tired... I needed cocks rammed up my Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chump poop chute and I needed it BADLY!!! the people I was upset at were gone from Detroit Institute for Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chumps. I was not getting any older... and I was ready to stop running from the Lord penis. But I had issues to resolve in my life... How could just Go back to the fags that had only "screwed" me and wouldnt let me suck cocks in the first place? I still felt like I'd been wronged! But I had the Clarity moment of a lifetime... This thought crossed my mind...

"I was a FAGASS PUNKBOY MOTHERFUCKER BEFORE I came to the Detroit Institute for Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chumps

Why am I allowing something that happened 7 years ago, keep me from serving my God, the Penis?????????

My Return to total Fagassedness!

Well, I was 26 years old... I was wanting to come back full time to Lord Penis. But I wasn't going back to Detroit Institute for Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chumps (at least not at that time!!!) I had heard about a church called DGW (short for Detroit Gayboy Outreach) and I'd heard in the past that it was a nice place... So..... I wanted to be where the Holy Spirit of the Lord Penis was... and there I was... I came to the church on Ann Arbor Trail... my first experience there was a interesting one, I came in the parking lot... puffing on a 7 year old kid's cock, (in my years of being Backslidden, I picked up a nasty 2 child a day, sucking habit...) I finished my child, and went in, and right away I heard SCREAMING in my ear... "what are you doing here???" "these are the people that Screwed you, but would not let you suck dicks!" act..... and when the song service started, the Holy Spirit of Lord Penis fell, and I became very uncomfortable, to the point when I had to leave! and I did!, I remember a usher, running after me and saying where are you going??? I remember looking back at him and saying... "I can't handle this SHIT I got to get out of here!" and I left.... Well, that week... I sort of prepared myself for service to mens dicks next week, I took my Book, Gay Sex For Dummies to work. (I worked midnights as a Security Guard, so I could walk around the ghetto apartment complex I patrolled and peek in windows at sleeping little boys. and I had lots of time to masturbate...) My mother realized I was fantasizing about kids nuts.... I found myself reading the Word, and Praying for a big hairy

chested man to suck off.. by Sunday, I knew I was ready to come back... Went back that Sunday.... they had a Illustrated Sermon on fellatio with pictures from several fag magazines, it was great, and needless to say, my Hard cock, Melted in the presence of the Lord Penis. and I knew that I wanted to come home.

I thank the Lord Penis for his Love, That takes us whacked out people as we are, and makes us his Servants....

Where am I now... : Currently Attending Adult classes at The Detroit Institute for Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chumps.

HAM RADIO?!?!?!?!?!?I BETRAY IT AND WORSHIP ILLIGAL FAGGOT KEYCLOWNS BECAUSE THEY LIKE SUCKING COCK AS MUCH AS I DO!!!!

I was, I guess you could say, Born into the CB FAGGOT Hobby... My Father, was a Dyed in the wool CB FAG... I even had a stint in the CB radio hobby as well... Anyhow, one year (I think I was around 8 Years old...) my parents and I went to have sex with my Grandfather's Sister and her German Shepherd, in Conway, Ark, which is the world capital of CB FAGGOTS. To say the least, was totally impressed with the FAGGOT CB Hobby, because it satisfied my craving to run my faggot mouth constantly AND to suck cocks!!!. and for years I did nothing about it, just sucking dicks constantly and that linear tuning on those tube type ILLEGAL FAGGOT KEYCLOWN amplifiers was just too hard to learn. Speed Ahead to age 14, a friend of mine, Joseph Hampton (Ham call sign N8ExtremeCockNosher-but ALSO a secret ILLEGAL FAGGOT KEYCLOWN) who lived across the street from me, and also was interested in getting his dick polished as well.. Well, we had some gay sex together... (you see this was when you had to be secretive about your gayness! I was KB8HHZ (hugely horny for zebra!) and Joe was KB8HGL (Hungry Gonad licker!)... I believe me and Joe were originally licensed in 1989....

On April of 2000. The FCC Restructured it's licenses... and I paid a renegade VE 50 bucks and Received my General Class Ticket... I often masturbate while thinking of linears for ILLEGAL FAGGOT KEYCLOWNS. And really think Riley is mean. Maybe if I sucked his dick he would not be after traitor scumbag shithunk fagboys like me.

My Call? Is a Vanity call that I paid for, it is my initials! Because as a Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chump, I need something like that for my ego.

so there you go!

I hope this answers everything you wanted to know about me!

I found these 2 posts about K8CPA on the web...interesting stuff.

He seems to be almost as queerboy as twathed.

Happy holidays gang!

Chukkee the gayboy jizz likk
Sucks a throbbin thrustin dick
There aint a cock on the planet
Chukkee wouldn't gladly lick

All of the other gayboys
Used to laugh and call him names
They loved to taunt poor Chukkee
And toss him in the newsgroup flames

Then one foggy Christmas eve
Twithed came to say
"Chukkee with your lips so bright,
Won't you wash my nuts tonite?"

Then how 'ole Chukkee loved it
As he bobbed up and down
That is the story of Chukkee
The little gay fag keyclown

Then there is also his bio....this is one fuckked up bozoboy here!

K8CPA
Okay, this is the place where I tell you how I came to know how fucked up I am.... and all the personal information about me. I will try and answer all the questions:

Date of Birth: June 28, 1972 <in the fall of 71 my daddy fucked a pig, ya see>

Place of Birth: Detroit, Michigan <in an alley behind the unit block of Waterman Avenue>

Religious Information: Well, first off, I am NOT heterosexual! I am a faggot! I accepted penises as my personal Lord in 1980. I was all of 10 Years old, I knew exactly what I was doing, I knew that if I didn't get cock in my mouth, I would not See the Lord in the rapture of it's jizz pulsing. I have been butt pumped nightly for 12 Years. Although, I was "Backslidden" for about 6 of those years, while screwing female barnyard animals. I am now back serving my Lord penis. I would like to Thank the Rev. Jack Hizhogoff of Detroit Gayboy Outreach (Web at: http://www.dgo.fag) for standing in the gap and slapping his manly dick up my fat faggot ass, and for a playroom where people like me, who were burned by chickenhawks with syphylitic dicks and fellow fags in general, could come and give their hearts back to the Lord penis. My only regret is that Rev Hizhogoff had to start pushing his manly dick in my fat faggot ass to the point where I could not bear to bend over anymore, and I returned to my favorite pastime, cocksucking in the men's room of the Detroit bus station.

"Burned" by the syphylitic cocks in my mouth and asshole?: Yep, Sure was.... I was... like I said before, I was sucking when I was 10, (around 1980), I was originally sucking just anyone, especially born again Christians and other mentally fucked up Baptist types like me. I loved those guys when theyd tell me to tongue their assholes. Condoms were a BIG no-no.... and I believed it!

Speed ahead 4 years. in 1984, The Baptist Church I went to had a bit of a controversy, The Pastor had resigned because he was caught bobbing on my young fat faggot pee pee, and things there were in a state of chaos, and my mom did not want to suffer having to put up with my faggot punk boy ass at home. She enrolled me into the Detroit Institute for Hopless Gayboy Fatass Chumps. I started attending and believe me, going to a Full-TILT anal only gayboy school. after attending one with a stated preference for teaching Hopless Gayboy Fatass Chumps to mainly suck dick, was a MAJOR SHOCK to my system! But one thing kept me from leaving the place, was the fact that these people seemed to really love the Lord Penis. and there was this one guy, named Robert Snyder, Who played the drums, like John Bonham, (from Led Zeppelin) and we got along great.... (Not to mention he would let me drink his jizz on the sly. That was HOT! least I thought so! Hey! I was 14 years old, and my hormones were at full TILT! So SUE ME!) (By the way, Snyder is now married to MoparHolic and living in Ohio. I'm very happy for him.
Anyhow... After being there for about a year. I started being interested in playing drums for them, as I was a drummer, from a young age... and I wanted to use my talent for the Lord Penis. Well, I eventually got the nerve to ask if I could play for them, and they said sure, as long as I would give em all head before each show! AWESOME!!!... My first time playing for Detroit Institute for Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chumps was a nightmare! I was scared, I totally forgot how to play because I was violently burping up the sprem I had sucked down before the show.! I was THAT scared! Anyhow... speed ahead to age 19... (By the way, Snyder is now married to MoparHolic and living in Ohio. I'm very happy for him.
Anyhow... After being there for about a year. I started being interested in playing drums for them, as I was a drummer, from a young age... and I wanted to use my talent for the Lord Penis. Well, I eventually got the nerve to ask if I could play for them, and they said sure, as long as I would give em all head before each show! AWESOME!!!... My first time playing for Detroit Institute for Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chumps was a nightmare! I was scared, I totally forgot how to play because I was violently burping up the sprem I had sucked down before the show.! I was THAT scared! Anyhow... speed ahead to age 19... I was changing as a person, things were changing at Detroit Institute for Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chumps, as well. and a bit of a disagreement rose up between me and Snyder. I wanted to suck their cocks the night before the show instead of immediately prior to it. They said they needed the rush in order to play better, and I was asked to step down from the music ministry. Needless to say I was crushed. and very upset at Snyder In fact. I didn't think I'd ever be able to forgive him for that... Anyhow... I entered into what I called "My Dark Years" from age 19-26... Drugs, Drinking, eating 7 meals a day of Burger king, Dominos Pizza and Taco Bell in order to make myself an even bigger Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chump.... and when I found out that Snyder had turned heterosexual, I really went off the deep end... until...

MY MOMENT OF CLARITY

Well, when I was around 26, I was totally burned out on the Dominos Pizza... I was just sick and tired of being sick and tired... I needed cocks rammed up my Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chump poop chute and I needed it BADLY!!! the people I was upset at were gone from Detroit Institute for Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chumps. I was not getting any older... and I was ready to stop running from the Lord penis. But I had issues to resolve in my life... How could just Go back to the fags that had only "screwed" me and wouldnt let me suck cocks in the first place? I still felt like I'd been wronged! But I had the Clarity moment of a lifetime... This thought crossed my mind...

"I was a FAGASS PUNKBOY MOTHERFUCKER BEFORE I came to the Detroit Institute for Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chumps

Why am I allowing something that happened 7 years ago, keep me from serving my God, the Penis?????????

My Return to total Fagassedness!

Well, I was 26 years old... I was wanting to come back full time to Lord Penis. But I wasn't going back to Detroit Institute for Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chumps (at least not at that time!!!) I had heard about a church called DGW (short for Detroit Gayboy Outreach) and I'd heard in the past that it was a nice place... So..... I wanted to be where the Holy Spirit of the Lord Penis was... and there I was... I came to the church on Ann Arbor Trail... my first experience there was a interesting one, I came in the parking lot... puffing on a 7 year old kid's cock, (in my years of being Backslidden, I picked up a nasty 2 child a day, sucking habit...) I finished my child, and went in, and right away I heard SCREAMING in my ear... "what are you doing here???" "these are the people that Screwed you, but would not let you suck dicks!" act..... and when the song service started, the Holy Spirit of Lord Penis fell, and I became very uncomfortable, to the point when I had to leave! and I did!, I remember a usher, running after me and saying where are you going??? I remember looking back at him and saying... "I can't handle this SHIT I got to get out of here!" and I left.... Well, that week... I sort of prepared myself for service to mens dicks next week, I took my Book, Gay Sex For Dummies to work. (I worked midnights as a Security Guard, so I could walk around the ghetto apartment complex I patrolled and peek in windows at sleeping little boys. and I had lots of time to masturbate...) My mother realized I was fantasizing about kids nuts.... I found myself reading the Word, and Praying for a big hairy

chested man to suck off.. by Sunday, I knew I was ready to come back... Went back that Sunday.... they had a Illustrated Sermon on fellatio with pictures from several fag magazines, it was great, and needless to say, my Hard cock, Melted in the presence of the Lord Penis. and I knew that I wanted to come home.

I thank the Lord Penis for his Love, That takes us whacked out people as we are, and makes us his Servants....

Where am I now... : Currently Attending Adult classes at The Detroit Institute for Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chumps.

HAM RADIO?!?!?!?!?!?I BETRAY IT AND WORSHIP ILLIGAL FAGGOT KEYCLOWNS BECAUSE THEY LIKE SUCKING COCK AS MUCH AS I DO!!!!

I was, I guess you could say, Born into the CB FAGGOT Hobby... My Father, was a Dyed in the wool CB FAG... I even had a stint in the CB radio hobby as well... Anyhow, one year (I think I was around 8 Years old...) my parents and I went to have sex with my Grandfather's Sister and her German Shepherd, in Conway, Ark, which is the world capital of CB FAGGOTS. To say the least, was totally impressed with the FAGGOT CB Hobby, because it satisfied my craving to run my faggot mouth constantly AND to suck cocks!!!. and for years I did nothing about it, just sucking dicks constantly and that linear tuning on those tube type ILLEGAL FAGGOT KEYCLOWN amplifiers was just too hard to learn. Speed Ahead to age 14, a friend of mine, Joseph Hampton (Ham call sign N8ExtremeCockNosher-but ALSO a secret ILLEGAL FAGGOT KEYCLOWN) who lived across the street from me, and also was interested in getting his dick polished as well.. Well, we had some gay sex together... (you see this was when you had to be secretive about your gayness! I was KB8HHZ (hugely horny for zebra!) and Joe was KB8HGL (Hungry Gonad licker!)... I believe me and Joe were originally licensed in 1989....

On April of 2000. The FCC Restructured it's licenses... and I paid a renegade VE 50 bucks and Received my General Class Ticket... I often masturbate while thinking of linears for ILLEGAL FAGGOT KEYCLOWNS. And really think Riley is mean. Maybe if I sucked his dick he would not be after traitor scumbag shithunk fagboys like me.

My Call? Is a Vanity call that I paid for, it is my initials! Because as a Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chump, I need something like that for my ego.

so there you go!

I hope this answers everything you wanted to know about me!

He seems to be almost as queerboy as twathed.

Happy holidays gang!

Chukkee the gayboy jizz likk
Sucks a throbbin thrustin dick
There aint a cock on the planet
Chukkee wouldn't gladly lick

All of the other gayboys
Used to laugh and call him names
They loved to taunt poor Chukkee
And toss him in the newsgroup flames

Then one foggy Christmas eve
Twithed came to say
"Chukkee with your lips so bright,
Won't you wash my nuts tonite?"

Then how 'ole Chukkee loved it
As he bobbed up and down
That is the story of Chukkee
The little gay fag keyclown

Then there is also his bio....this is one fuckked up bozoboy here!

K8CPA
Okay, this is the place where I tell you how I came to know how fucked up I am.... and all the personal information about me. I will try and answer all the questions:

Date of Birth: June 28, 1972 <in the fall of 71 my daddy fucked a pig, ya see>

Place of Birth: Detroit, Michigan <in an alley behind the unit block of Waterman Avenue>

Religious Information: Well, first off, I am NOT heterosexual! I am a faggot! I accepted penises as my personal Lord in 1980. I was all of 10 Years old, I knew exactly what I was doing, I knew that if I didn't get cock in my mouth, I would not See the Lord in the rapture of it's jizz pulsing. I have been butt pumped nightly for 12 Years. Although, I was "Backslidden" for about 6 of those years, while screwing female barnyard animals. I am now back serving my Lord penis. I would like to Thank the Rev. Jack Hizhogoff of Detroit Gayboy Outreach (Web at: http://www.dgo.fag) for standing in the gap and slapping his manly dick up my fat faggot ass, and for a playroom where people like me, who were burned by chickenhawks with syphylitic dicks and fellow fags in general, could come and give their hearts back to the Lord penis. My only regret is that Rev Hizhogoff had to start pushing his manly dick in my fat faggot ass to the point where I could not bear to bend over anymore, and I returned to my favorite pastime, cocksucking in the men's room of the Detroit bus station.

"Burned" by the syphylitic cocks in my mouth and asshole?: Yep, Sure was.... I was... like I said before, I was sucking when I was 10, (around 1980), I was originally sucking just anyone, especially born again Christians and other mentally fucked up Baptist types like me. I loved those guys when theyd tell me to tongue their assholes. Condoms were a BIG no-no.... and I believed it!

Speed ahead 4 years. in 1984, The Baptist Church I went to had a bit of a controversy, The Pastor had resigned because he was caught bobbing on my young fat faggot pee pee, and things there were in a state of chaos, and my mom did not want to suffer having to put up with my faggot punk boy ass at home. She enrolled me into the Detroit Institute for Hopless Gayboy Fatass Chumps. I started attending and believe me, going to a Full-TILT anal only gayboy school. after attending one with a stated preference for teaching Hopless Gayboy Fatass Chumps to mainly suck dick, was a MAJOR SHOCK to my system! But one thing kept me from leaving the place, was the fact that these people seemed to really love the Lord Penis. and there was this one guy, named Robert Snyder, Who played the drums, like John Bonham, (from Led Zeppelin) and we got along great.... (Not to mention he would let me drink his jizz on the sly. That was HOT! least I thought so! Hey! I was 14 years old, and my hormones were at full TILT! So SUE ME!) (By the way, Snyder is now married to MoparHolic and living in Ohio. I'm very happy for him.

What does Kathy Lees life have to do with CB? Are you saying that no one who has ever done anything illegal can ever complain?

COP: Your drunk and disorderly Moped, we're taking you to jail.
MOPED: Huh???You never got drunk yourself?
COP:Sure I have once or twice.
MOPED: You can't take me in for something you have been guilty of yourself.
COP: Oh yeah I get the logic now.
MOPED: So you gonna let me go?
COP: No we're gonna charge you with resisting arrest too. But nice try.

Do you see what your butt buddie Twistedhed has started? He's leading fools like you down a very dangerous path which is why he's going to be gone from this NG by christmas and you can quote me on that.

LOL!!! Your poor bruised ego just won't let you quit.
Besides, where did I say anything about reporting you wa3moj@aol.com? You were the one that reported me when I used your AOL screen addy.

OK, I'll admit that I have. But not on dozens of posts a day, for the past 4 plus years like you have.

> Your complaints are fake just like your fake killfile is.

Not at all. I'll bet if you & Doug stopped posting for 2 weeks, there would be virtually no arguments, and 30 to 40% of the bs posts would stop. You can't though, you are a troll obsessed with this group & I among numerous other here.

Any antenna smaller then 5 feet is worthless. Any radio peaked for max smoke sounds like shit. A 2 pill amp, lightly driven, will work wonders.

I told you I am not George, ballslapper. Flaming is one thing everybody flames even you but that does not justify dragging innocent people into your keyqueen vendettas. Shame on you for supporting Twistedave and his campaign to bring someones wifes name in here he is a sick man with no limit to his paranoia and no end to his stupidity.

You better warn your poor dumb buddie Steveo about following Twistedave down the drain cuz the Kathy Lee thing is gonna blow up in his face very shortly and the drunk Irish snowplow jockey from Medina will be sucked into the small end of the sewer pipe with him.

1. Remove bottom cover from radio.
2. On the main PCB, locate J33.
3. Locate wires on pins marked "P5" (yellow) & "P6" (grey).
4. Cut wire on "P5" (yellow) and install a SPST switch in line.
5. Cut wire on "P6" (grey) and install a SPST switch in line.
NOTE: By using two of the function switches available on the radio will eliminate the need for two new switches to be installed and mounted.

Hey genius its not Doug Adair who is being outed it is an innocent party Kathleen Lee who never did anything to you or anyone in here. I never saw Twistedaves kids name or Chucks mothers name posted in here, but somehow you guys think its OK to go extreme because its Doug and you are pissed cuz he ran circles around you in a flame war. So now you want to open the field to include peoples wives and families? Will it be OK with you if your kids and wives are being named in here? I hope Doug is going to bring Twisted down big time cuz you guys need to be taught that there is some limits.

But you have an AOL account, again why else would you have called that screen addy a

If you are implying that people, who hold ham licenses, should be somehow
held to a higher moral standard than
the "common man", then that would be faulty logic. A ham license is only a "permit" to use radio, it is not a
"badge of morality".

I never said they were Trolls, I never even said that you were a troll - I just gave some figures.

You will notice that there are people from both sides of the "fence" going in the "sin bin", which should show that I am neither on a "pro-legal" or "keyclown" side.
Posting in those threads doesn't necessarily make someone a troll - that depends upon whether they are replying to defend themselves or starting the naff troll threads.

Out of all the names in the list, you pick out Steve - are you sure that he is the "leg humper"?
Surely, you don't expect to call people names and take no sh*t for it. The fact is that most of the crud posts are in reply to someone. Some of the messages are clearly sent to get a reaction and stir trouble, while others are just people defending themselves.

Remember that you don't come out of it looking too good - when do you post useful messages or replies? I am not saying that people like Cranium and Bubba are angels - there is crap coming from both sides, and some people post nothing but crap.
However, there are people stuck in the middle who either post very little or just reply to defend themselves. The difficulty is knowing when to let it go, when trolls are insulting you via a worldwide medium.

If you really want an end to the crap in this group, then you have to become part of the solution - not the problem. People who cannot see the difference between CB topics and sex have a serious problem, and will have no real "pro-legal" credibility.

As you should know, I have nothing against legal CB - my CB system is legal - but the trolling and "gay" posts are off topic, a waste of bandwidth, and are driving the few newbies away from this group.

62% is a good average for this group, when others are managing to get upto 96.3% of their messages in troll threads that are filtered.

There is crap from both sides - some just in defence, but far too much is goading to get a reaction.

If there was a warrant for my arrest from F.B.I. I wouldn't be sitting here in my house, F.B.I. has the right to come get anyone that has a felony arrest warrant. if there was one, as you all say there is... I'd be in the pin right now... why ain't I? because there isn't one, I called and spoke to the agent in Ohio. and he said, No, there isn't ANYTHING in our computers. If you purchased a Midland CB radio in the mid to late 1970s you probably received a copy of the Midland CB Convoy Buddy Kit that came with your CB. I scanned my Midland Convoy CB box top (Midland 77-830 from 1977) and the Midland CB Convoy Buddy Kit and placed it on-line for all to see.

The scanned images are available at;
http://www.shadowstorm.com/cb/Midland_CB_Convoy_Kit.html

I also scanned an unused copy of the FCC's CB license application from 1974 available at; http://www.shadowstorm.com/cb/FCC_CB_License_Form_from_1974.html

Enjoy!

You have a real nice website there; brought back many fine memories looking at the old equipment. I put up a copy of really old circa 60's equipment a reprint from a old S9 magazine at http://members.tripod.com/craig328/ .. shocked the page is still there! Not great quality scans but your welcome to take anything you like. Would be great is someone else preserves the information and photos.

Gee, I hate to get into an argument, but go back and read what you just wrote. This wreck your trucking company just caused now costs the driver and his company BIG bucks, maybe put the driver in prison for manslaughter, his family, perhaps, in poverty. Besides, what is slamming on brakes going to do when the "monitor" is in FRONT doing the copying? HMMMMMMMMM? You tractor tag # is on the FRONT, remember? They don't WANT the trailer #!!!! HAHAHAHAHAHA!

By the time you know the monitor has gotten the numbers, he has already pulled far ahead. The lawsuits, mmmmmmMMMMMM!! Lots of witnesses that saw that tractor slam on brakes for no apparent reason!

$$$$$$$$$$ Ker-ching!!!!!!

> ROTFLMAO!

OK! Glad to! Plenty of them. Bear with me, guys, while I re-post some of those letters that were posted before.

Keep on with the HAHAHA! and the ROTFLMAO.

It is real, and if it keep up, you may find that weight stations and the state DOT officers will have the authority to pull you over and cite you for operating on unlicensed bands. They said that the "Local Enforcement" thing would never pass, but it did, and some localities have used it to respond to complaints of CB interference. Wouldn't take much to amend that law to make the above happen.

Again, the way to NOT get in trouble is to just not operate on 10 Meters.
Very simple premise to me,
But, NO, some people think their CB playtoy has to extend into theirs and everybody else's area, too. And if the drivers would just stay OFF 10 and 12 Meters, there would be no problem. This "Ah've got mah rah'ts thar to use this hyar reddio whir I wanna" stuff just don't get it. Seem to forget that there are services that have needs as well. Funny. Them thar fellers go down to Roy's CB Shop and Pool Hall , buy one of them thar CB reddios where his coax has to be a "certain" length, and WHAM! They suddenly know ALL there is to know about radio--which is, for them, "AH WANT TO WORK MAH REDDIO AND I WANT TO TAWK SKIP ON EVER' CHANNEL THERE IS," (Thar) And the hell without everybody else. If you want to use a radio, do it right, use a word called "Respect for others" and run your rig on the bands that you are allowed to. VERY simple.

Take the time to do a little study about HOW, WHEN, and WHY a radio works. You will find that all that "swang", broad-banded coil antennas, SWR's (there is only ONE swr in a feedline <snicker>), and that coax length is a bunch of bull*. Get the license, operate on ALL amateur bands, but do it RIGHT!

I'll be back with the enforcement letters from ARRL Letter. Better yet! Why don't you call 717-338-2502
(the fox candy man) or email rholling@fcc.gov and find out for yourself. HE is the guy that asked the hams to start watching for illegal intruders to start with. That is published on the web as well. (how do you want your CROW cooked)?

HAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA!!!!

LOLOLOLOLOLOLOLOLO!

ROTFLMAO!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

First off, I NEVER posted ANYTHING about Doug's wife, Girlfriend, live in whore... whatever you call her...

However, I will answer your reply with this statement.

"Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap."
"For he that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting"

The Apostle Paul in his Epistle to the Galatians Chapter 6:7-8 and in the words of Jesus Christ...

"Judge not, that ye be not judged"
"For with what judgment ye judge, ye shall be judged: and with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured to you again. "

The Gospel of Matthew 7:1-2

Douglas is reaping what he sowed in this newsgroup. He took upon himself to cause trouble in this newsgroup, He took upon himself to play "radio cop" and "Newsgroup Police" and now he's getting back what he gave out. He's cause many people in this newsgroup personal distress and now he finds his own personal life being invaded. Well, I am sorry to say, but what comes around, goes around, it's a simple Bibical Truth and cannot be broken. I hope that one day, that Douglas comes to the saving knowledge of Jesus Christ and accepts him as Lord and Saviour... Although, personally, I have my doubts he'll ever do this, but God is not willing that any should perish, but all would have eternal life.

I realize that what I am saying would be offensive to some, but you know what, truth is... I have known Jesus for 24 years... I was backslidden for about 6 years. but in 1996, I made commitment to get back to the business of serving the Lord Jesus Christ, Where I belong.

Yes, I know I posted in here a few days ago, with some rather nasty languange... and for that I apologize. I never should have worded that message like that. But the truth is, Doug has caused alot of trouble in here and has hurt alot of people... and He is more than likely going to have to go through some serious problems as of a result of it. it isn't pretty, but it's the truth.

As for me, I admit it, I've made alot of errors in my choice of posts... sometimes, I never took the time to think through my posts, quite frankly, there are times I wished I'd just ignored some of the stuff that was being said about me, But that is all in the past, I cannot go back and change what I've done to others.

All I can say is this, from here on out, I'm ignoring any and all slanderous remarks made against me personally and against my family and freinds and hope the Doug and his gang of thugs will soon disappear.

That is all for now... I need to be going... I've got some serious business to take care of, I've got Church tonight, I hope some of you are going to be in the house of the Lord, In his presence, where there is fullness of joy.

God Bless you all...

The truth is you morons Chukee, Mopar, Landfag, etc. are too stupid to think above a basic reptile brain function level. posting Kathy Lees info in here was the work of some one with at least cro magnon cognitive abilities i.e. your leader Twistedave. He took it upon him self to play "radio pirate" and "newsgroup anarchist" and he justly got back what he gave out, plus some. But now he is playing the victim and thinks whatever the end is justifies the means and you dumbasses are following him like sheep right over a cliff.

Oh yeah, that will really show us "limits"! LOL! Especially since Frankie didn't post any conclusive proof. Just ASSumptions based on ASSumptions.

Best be careful: That's Frankie's ASSumption based on no facts. As someone else pointed out, Clearwater is quite a distance from Ft Lauderdale.

BTW, it doesn't look as though he's "running scared" to me. Why would he be? He got Frankie hook, line, and sinker, then reeled him in! LOL!

When I'm out driving to and from work sites I tune in to the low end of 10m. And yeah, from time to time, I hear mainly truckers using AM. If I got close enough I would ID them too. I would be sending the info in to the FCC field office, the ARRL, and the trucker's company just to let them know a fine may be coming their way. The company can thank the law breaking employee of theirs for the privilege of contributing to the payment of the national deficit.

I'll bet the guilty truckers aren't laughing when the boss tells them it either the radio or their job. If some bozo driver cost me, as the owner, a $10K fine I would find me another driver. There are plenty of hungry unemployed drivers out there who would be happy to have a job right now.

FCC Warns Trucking Firms about Alleged Unlicensed 10-Meter Operation
NEWINGTON, CT, Jul 28, 2003--

The FCC Enforcement Bureau has sent Warning Notice letters to three highway transportation firms asserting that drivers of some of their vehicles may have transmitted without a license on 10 meters. All three notices allege the unlicensed operations took place July 8 on Interstate highways in South Carolina.

Letters went out July 14 from FCC Special Counsel Riley Hollingsworth to Jolly Roger Capital Ltd of Columbia, South Carolina, Tidewater Transit Company of Kinston, North Carolina, and Shuford Lumber of Marion, North Carolina. He warned all three firms that operation of radio transmitting equipment without a license could lead to fines of up to $10,000, equipment seizure and even imprisonment.

Hollingsworth cited "information before the Commission" that spelled out each vehicle's highway location, license plate and--in two instances--operating frequency (28.085 MHz). One of the Warning Notice letters also identified the make and year of the vehicle. The alleged offenses were said to have occurred when the vehicles were under way on Interstate 77 or Interstate 20 in South Carolina.

Hollingsworth asked all three firms to get in touch with him to discuss the allegations.

NEWINGTON, CT, Oct 10, 2003

A concerted effort begun last spring to monitor for and possibly identify unlicensed operators on 10 meters will continue through October. The FCC already has asked the ARRL Amateur Auxiliary/Official Observers for assistance. Now, FCC Special Counsel Riley Hollingsworth is inviting hard information on suspected interlopers from all amateurs.

"If I don't receive reports, we'll have to conclude that unlicensed operation on 10 meters no longer is a problem," Hollingsworth said this week. Hollingsworth's initial request to beef up monitoring came in the wake of complaints from the amateur community that rose to the level of a major enforcement headache. He's expressed some disappointment, however, that the number of solid reports received so far has been few, although he's aware that a problem exists.

Hollingsworth asks amateurs to be specific in what they report. "Everybody should police their own neighborhood," he suggested. "Turn on the radio, and take a listen on the band. If you hear a loud signal that's obviously an unlicensed interloper, see if you can track it down."

Hollingsworth said that in the case of a suspected unlicensed trucker on the highway, amateurs should try to get the license plate number of the tractor--not the trailer--or at least the company name and, if possible, the DOT number.

The FCC does not require direction-finding data but would appreciate, where possible, names and addresses of alleged or suspected operators. Audio recordings of apparently illegal transmissions also can prove helpful but are not absolutely necessary.

Individual amateurs with solid information on alleged unlicensed operation on 10 or even 12 meters should report it to the FCC via e-mail. Official Observers should file their reports through normal ARRL channels.

ARRL Field and Regulatory Correspondent Chuck Skolaut, K0BOG, says the FCC wants to pin down specific areas where unlicensed operation is prevalent in the US. He and Hollingsworth concede, however, that not all illegal 10-meter operation is of domestic origin.

The FCC's initial request last May request was made in accordance with the Communications Act and a longstanding agreement between ARRL and the FCC regarding the use of Amateur Radio volunteers to assist in enforcement.

Don't you get it yet? I will spell it out for you. Doug has taken over your life. He owns you heart and soul. You were willing to stand in a swamp for 3 hours because you thought you had a chance to meet him. Chimp Brutha is so freaked out by him he posts his angry little rant about amps every few days. You morons are in here pulling your puds over N8 every day of the week while Twistedave is searching the web for info on N8 and those related to him and so crazy with paranoia that he is willing to risk being hauled off to jail for harassing a woman on the internet, hell I wouldn't be surprised if N8 is laughing his ass off watching all of you barking like dogs. And why is it you are so obsessed? because he called you gay and he told you that your amp was against FCC rules. BFD for most people but for keyclowns it has become your life. So now you are following the pied piper Twistedave and he is leading you into a hip deep river of shit. If thats not stupid I don't know what is.

ENFORCEMENT: AMATEUR AUXILIARY ASKED TO ASSIST FCC IN 10 METER CLEAN-UP

Back on Mother Earth, the FCC has asked the assistance of the ARRL' s Amateur Auxiliary as part of a clean-up of illegal users of the 10 meter band. In a memorandum issued on April 28th, FCC Special Counsel Riley Hollingsworth, K4ZDH, asks the Auxiliary's help for the next 6 months in identifying any unlicensed operation using the 10 meter Amateur spectrum.

From May through October Auxiliary members will be tasked with monitoring the band to determine whether interlopers are domestic business entities. This includes trucking companies, truckers or other individuals who are not licensed to be in the band or simply not licensed at all.

The FCC is not requesting that Auxiliary members provide direction finding. Hollingsworth does ask that where possible that Auxiliary members provide the names and cities of the operators, and license plate numbers and state if the interfering signal is coming from a vehicle.

The project has been assigned case number 2003-583 and Hollingsworth does ask Auxiliary members to use their best judgment as to whether to include tape recordings of what they monitor. Authority to use the ham radio volunteers in this investigation comes under the terms of long standing agreement between the FCC's Field Operations Bureau and the American Radio Relay League. (FCC)

NEWINGTON, CT, Jul 28, 2003--The FCC Enforcement Bureau has sent Warning Notice letters to three highway transportation firms asserting that drivers of some of their vehicles may have transmitted without a license on 10 meters. All three notices allege the unlicensed operations took place July 8 on Interstate highways in South Carolina.

Letters went out July 14 from FCC Special Counsel Riley Hollingsworth to Jolly Roger Capital Ltd of Columbia, South Carolina, Tidewater Transit Company of Kinston, North Carolina, and Shuford Lumber of Marion, North Carolina. He warned all three firms that operation of radio transmitting equipment without a license could lead to fines of up to $10,000, equipment seizure and even imprisonment.

Hollingsworth cited "information before the Commission" that spelled out each vehicle's highway location, license plate and--in two instances--operating frequency (28.085 MHz). One of the Warning Notice letters also identified the make and year of the vehicle. The alleged offenses were said to have occurred when the vehicles were under way on Interstate 77 or Interstate 20 in South Carolina.

Hollingsworth asked all three firms to get in touch with him to discuss the allegations.

There are plenty more! They can be found at:

www.arrl.org . In the yellow border at the top, click on "ARRL News/Bulletins". Scroll down to "FCC Enforcement". You will have to go thru the dates to find them. These notices appear at an irregular interval, but can also be found there under "ARRL Letter" published each Friday. Sometimes, they also are on www.arnewsline.com. and www.rainreport.com. which is published every two weeks.

This push to end the incursions into bands by illegals is

REAL and it's not going to stop. Yell at me all you like,

I didn't start it. It was started when people decided that they could just do anyway they like. It isn't only the US hams that are upset, it is caused by complaints by OTHER countries who also are assigned 10/12 Meters by treaty. From what I am hearing, it is not going to just go away. The busts are increasing--including those against "freebanders" (there IS no such thing), and if it isn't curtailed, there are studies going on right now with

FCC to best deal with it

This is just the first shots over the bows.

Cheers,

J

Speaking of ignorance,

I know a helluva lot about this area, betcha. That filter in your car (oil and air) comes for WIX filters (two plants in town). Got Firestone tires? The tire cord plant was in Gastonia for 70 years--now located just west of here. Bearings? Timken Bearing Division, Kings Mtn, NC.
Aircraft engine parts? Pratt & Whitney plant in Gastonia!
And (hold on to your hat) if you are a trucker and drive a Freightliner, um, it is likely that it was assembled in Mt Holly, NC --the parts plant is located on I-85! Got friends that work there at BOTH plants! Battle of Kings Mtn, Revolutionary War, October, 1780, decisive victory for the Patriots. British forces surrendered and it was a major turning point in the War and a resounding slap against Cornwallis. The Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence occurred prior to 1776 (I'd have to look at date). Remember the Charlotte Hornets? That name goes back to the Revolution, too. Cornwallis's forces suffered yet another defeat where he called that county a HORNET'S NEST! That was why the basketball team was named as it was. ....we could go on and on.
This area that YOU are so dense and clueless about is a thriving metro area with mega-buck corporations--particularly banking and insurance. Companies have flocked here because of lower taxes, a good work ethic,
and plenty of amenities such as convenient Interstates, airports and recreation for its employees such as sports, mountains, beaches within a day's reach and boating on the lakes with which we are well blessed thanks to the Catawba River.

Try again!! TAN-fer thar?

That is the problem - people having a twisted sense of reality.

> What newsgroup have -you- been reading for the past few years?

You may have spent so much of your life reading the crap from a few very twisted people that you now think like them - but that does not make it right.
If a number of people openly breaking the law does not make it right, then a number of perverts openly acting that way do not make their way of thinking correct.

>Go away Peter, or you will end up like Twisty.

I thought you said that "twisty" was paraniod... yet it is you and a few other's who see a perfectly normal phrase and think that someone is insulting your sexuality.
Not the first time you jumped to conclusions about meanings, without even considering a normal meaning.

It seems that you are the paranoid one. If seeing things as innocent is being like "twisty", then he is not the paranoid one. Better that than to be like a certain pair of leaders, who are frightened of everyone... so feel the need to go half way around the World to blow the crap out of them just in case.
Do unto others before they do unto you, huh?

It seems that you have it the wrong way round, spending too long on this newsgroup makes you think the same way as the perverted trolls. Too much time reading their crud, and you end up looking for sexual innuendo in every word and prase you see or hear.

Now you probably have your knickers in a twist, thinking that I am insulting you in some way, but the same would apply to anyone - too much time reading that kind of crap, all day every day, and you end up thinking that way and looking for the innuendo everywhere you go.

Maybe you need a break from this newsgroup, spend some time in the real World, spend some time with normal thinking people... maybe you could learn to think less like the perverts of this World.

I have to disagree...

The main battle appears to be between the perverts, who post only sexual filth on the group, and the genuine users - legal or otherwise.
Surely you have to see that, at best, the "pro-legal" issue is being lost... at worst it is being made to look like legal CBers are a bunch of perverts with nothing but hate and foul language to offer to the World.

I know that real legal and "pro-legal" CBers are not like that - the "Antikeyclowns" are just a bunch of Trolls who don't care about the issues, just about the arguments they can cause.
If you really care about legal CB, then post more of those helpful posts - like how to get more from CB without breaking the law. Let people see the positive side of legal CB, so they can make an informed choice without some bad opinion of legal CBers.
People are more likely to listen to, and be swayed by a reasoned discussion of the issues. People need to know what they can do, not just what they cannot.

I need to find an antennae or plans to build an antennae rated at 1 mega watt at 50 ohms. it cannot have any radials protruding, it must be a strait shaft. Can be up to 22ft in length.

I noticed that a lot of high end auto audio systems use a capacitor in series with the main power lead to the amplifies so the amp hits harder. Could this same principle be applied to ssb, I think it can.
place a 1 farad audio cap inline with the power lead to say a Texas star dx1600 and you run the rig on ssb the cap will discharge under peak load giving you a higher average output.

Any comments? (and I mean REAL comments)

There's not even close to enough stored energy in large capacitor to make and peak voltage difference that would translate into any perceivable gain.

P.S. the cap is in parallel

Use an aluminum flagpole. Put a capacitive hat on it. Cut to length.
Ground it, and gamma feed it.

Frankie doesn't care about "legal CB". He doesn't even care about his failing business.

Ain't it a gas? Frankie claims to be a "legal CBer" and a broadcast engineer, yet he can't get a ham license. And his buddy Dave Hall (aka "Sandbagger") has stated that "all CBers are criminals".

Who's lying?

Obvious answer: I've never caught Dave Hall in an outright lie, but Frankie admits, no brags, that he lies. Yet he expects everyone to believe that somehow his leap to a conclusion about Twisty's identity is factual.

Thanks for the good laugh, Frankie! LOL!

Good luck! It's been tried every

Even though you are a troll, you actually raise a good point here. Now I'm assuming you meant that the capacitor is connected in parallel with the power supply leads, because if it were connected in series you would get no power.

In an SSB amp the RF power follows the audio, and will therefore have a current draw that varies at audio frequencies. A capacitor placed across the power leads of the amp, when combined with the inherent resistance of the wires from the battery, creates a simple low-pass filter which will help smooth out those 'audio' peaks. The bigger the amp, the bigger the cap. And keep the leads from the amp to the cap as short as possible.

BTW, this type of filter won't do much in AM service since the current drawn by the amp in AM is fairly steady (at least it -should- be, i.e, it's not amplifying a signal loaded with overmodulation and 'swang'). But it -will- filter out noise from the power supply.

A word about those 'moster caps' for audio amps: Most of them have a high equivalent series resistance (ESR) which defeats the purpose of using them. They behave more like a rechargeable battery than a capacitor. Locate your local computer junkyard and get some of those big electrolytics from the mainframe power supplies. Typically, just one 100,000 uFd aluminum electrolytic has a lower ESR than a 1.0 farad 'monster' cap. Also remember that you can reduce the ESR by putting capacitors in parallel. Ten 10,000 uFd caps in parallel will have a much better ESR, and therefore much better filtering ability, than one 100,000 uFd capacitor of the same type, even though the total mFd value is the same.

Hello, I am new to the group and CB radio. Just bought my first CB off of EBay. It is a refurbished Cobra 18 WXII. The new price for the radio seems to be around $65, my price for a refurbished radio was $35. Is this a good first time radio? I will be using it as a base radio. I installed a solarcon (sp?) base antenna last weekend on my roof and hooked it to rg8 cable which is about 45 feet long.

Again, YOU are the one that has no clue. Governance of radio is regulated by Congress in the USA. It is regulated to prevent the tryanny of mob rule--which the use of radio would become without oversight.
It's because of that we have representatives upon which we VOTE: don't like a law? Get it changed. Your very demeanor loudly proclaims your lack of understanding of how radio regulation works, its 'ownership' by the people (the USA does not "own" the airwaves) and the reasons why it is divided up into segments. These regulations make "fences" that keep one group from interferring with another, or even within the same group. Like it or not, neither you or I have a "right" to operate a radio; it is a privilege accorded by the governing bodies of nations. Some nations severely restrict use of radio by its citizens, or allow none at all. Just for getting caught in possession of a radio could get one hauled off to jail or executed! Here, in the USA, we are lucky enough to have a Representative Republic (it is NOT a 'democracy' as many mistakenly call it). Our Congress has seen fit to regulate it thru the Communications Act of 1934 which created FCC. That is because it is realized thru past experience what happens when people can just operate anyway, anyhow, and in any way they chose. All you gotta do is just listen to the CB (SQUEAL, HOWL, YOWL, WAH!) caused by thousands of signals beating against each other. No training, no regulation, no self-control, no knowing why CB continually self-destructs itself on a daily basis. Believe it or not, it was not always that way. Yes, there was 'skip', but people didn't try to use it to any great extent. They didn't have all those annoying, beeps, squeaks, burps and babyish noises; no need for it. None of the infantile "cutesy" sayings ("keep the sunny side up and the flat side down", etc.) No "swang", no "pills", no "SWRs (plural)", no "ya gotta have a 'certain' length of coax"--just people using the radio to conduct local personal affairs, keep up with family, run errands, and talk with friends. GASP! What a concept! Courtesy was the order of the day. In the late '60s, CB radio WAS a pleasure. Around here, there were clubs that sponsored dances, raffles, collected money for sick and shut-ins. You could see "coffee breaks" on the highway, and everyone bent over backwards to be a neighbor and a friend via CB radio. It was what CB radio was originallly supposed to be:

everyman's affordable 'car' phone. What it morphed into is now a nightmare of noise, amplifiers, overmodulated, noise toy-ed free-for-alls. It a game to feed under-fulfilled egos by being top dog with mo' powah. It is almost a paralysis.

which incidentally belong to the people and not just > you or the government and since now that you have those letters by > your name ,

you align yourself with this said government

We ALL are the government by representation; if you don't like a law, get it changed thru legal, civil means. That is why Amateurs have ARRL to intercede and lobby on behalf of "hammies" as you like to say.

'deputized' to seek out those > dastardly truckers operating on 10 meters, well sir in my book that > makes you and the rest of your little stupid crew as nothing more than > a bunch of major league rats, who haven't got anything better to do

OK. If that is what you want to call it, FINE! Like it or not, those of who chose to obtain a license did so thru the legal means set up by our people--the representatives, the CONGRESS. I have used this before but it seems not to be simple for those of lighter minds to grasp. Those self-same lighter minds would grab their guns and yell, "YOU GIT OFF MY LAND 'FER I CALL THE LAW" or "Yer fixin' to git shot". Why, the very idea of them guys fishin' my lake, yeah, the one I stocked with perch!
I bought that land, or I leased it, and in so doing, obtained the legal privileges that go with it--to have, to hold, to use as I see fit.
And, of course, they would not hesitate to "rat" to the police anyone found trespassing on their land.
Yet those same minds cannot grasp that, despite any argument to the contrary, that there are "properties" both tangible and IN-tangible, and there are laws/regulations to protect ALL, NOT just those who want to steal from others. Those "hamsters"
'paid' the lease, as it were, by fulfilling the requirements of the entities charged with protecting all citizens--not just CBers, or truckers, or lawless bandits (who have no "rights"--they are THIEVES no less than a bank robber).
Remember the group you so disdain--Congress? That group of representatives YOU elected, the gub'ment? We is them and they is US!!!!!!!!! Don't like it? Change it!

So, just like if you were found camping in someone's back yard, those who "paid" the lease to use the Amateur Bands are not going to sit idly by and allow squatters to just invite themselves in. Just like the property owner with the pistol, assisting the FCC in monitoring for illegal bands is NO different, and we are no more "rat" than you would be if I were digging a hole in your yard with a backhoe without permission.

> also check the cb slang at the door. i never knew anyone that talked > like that.

HAHAHAHAHA! I don't even need to justify that: it bears witness itself. All ya gotta do is listen--just listen for 5 minutes.

Y'all take ca'uh, yuh heah?

I agree that adding a cap across the power leads will help keep the peaks up, and that's assuming the amp isn't clipping on the peaks. IOW, it should improve the audio quality when using a less-than-perfect power supply, just as if it were an audio amp. What it -won't- do is improve your average output power by any significant margin.

if your peaks are up that equates to higher (but probably not much like you said) average output. BUT, you brought up a good point about the clipping

I have used the BIG caps as used on the audio amps on my RF power amp and it did help on the current spikes that was needed on SSB peaks. Without the Cap, the voltage could drop to 10.5 volts on current peaks measured at the amp, now it might go to 12 - 12.5 volts only rising to the supplied 13.8 volts in the system.
It help to reduce the headlights flicker at night also.
Just type in FARAD in e-bay search under car stereo.
The caps can be dangerous when charged up . They can discharge VERY high amps if shorted out as their ESR is very low. 1- 30 Farads can be found,
and they are not cheap either. I have seen a bank of them even crank over a 8 cylinder engine. Try that with 100,00 uF Cap.

And Thank you for not doing so. It shows a wisdom that some can't fathom--they want it ALL! I don't agree with "freebanding", but I am not here to debate that. You are smart to avoid the ham frequencies simply because 1) the bands are usually busy and someone is likely to hear you, and 2) if you are heard, they WILL report it. As a part of the Amateur Service, there is a concept of self-policing. Yep, there are what are called "Official Observers" (appointed by ARRL), and individual hams that may report any "bandits" on the frequencies The more intellectual minds among us understand that the hams are only trying to protect what is their own "turf".
Such a simple principle: stay OUT of the ham bands, and the hams aren't likely to bother you.

NOPE!

The group is welcome to read the thread concerning HOAs in another group.
We were talking about homeowners' associations. Kindly point the folks to the WHOLE thread instead of taking liberties with what one says in another context.

But then, paranoia seems to reign amongst those of your compatriots who throw insults and feeble putdowns if anyone threaten their theft of frequencies.

There's that "more power" attitude that drives an amp junkie's cravings. You need to learn what ESR is and how different it is for different types of capacitors (and batteries, too). For example, I have seen a car battery turn over an 8 cylinder engine, but that doesn't mean it has a low ESR. It just means that it can hold a big charge and has almost nothing to do with ESR. When all you want to do is to keep the peaks up in an SSB linear you don't need a charge so large that it will turn over an engine. That's called "overkill".

"Dr. Death",
Using a very large capacitor to keep the instantanious voltage from dropping very much certainly will work. The question is, how much benefit is going to be realized from that? The answer is, not very much. Now, balance that 'not very much' with the cost of those very large capacitors and draw your own conclusions.
Personally, I think it's a waste of time, just isn't worth it. It usually means that you're trying to 'squeeze' more out of something than it was designed to do to start with, which is a kinda silly thing to do. If you want to try it, then have at it. I'd rather waste my money on other things...

A one farad capacitor can only supply one amp for one second at one volt. Hardly worth the expense.

It can only prevent a voltage drop on the first few peaks of a SSB modulated signal. It's usefulness would be almost totally drained after speaking just one appropriate word, pointless.

Nah, Read the part about me getting around so much chasing those trucks. I thought it was funny.

As to the HOA thing, I live in a quiet, deadend street where only occasional cars strays when lost. All of us know something is amiss if a car comes down and remains in here (we know who's cars 'belong' here and who doesn't). And we have the proverbial nosy neighbor, the "widder" woman that lives at the very end of the street. She'll scream for the cops faster than you can say SCAT! So, if there were someone down here taking pictures. she would take care of it FOR me.

Then there is not much point in using them in any kind of DC power supply, is there? Of course there is. Do the math, Tnom:

A good car battery has, on the average, an source impedance of around 0.01 ohms (dropping 1 volt per 100 amps, which is a darn good battery). Ten feet of #8 AWG has a DC resistance of 0.0063 ohms, and we'll just assume that the negative lead is grounded at 0 ohms. So the total source impedance at the input of the amp is 0.0163 ohms. Now take an amp that can do 500 watts PEP. Assuming 50% efficiency, that means it can draw a maximum of 79.4 amps @ 12.6 volts. But since the source impedance is 0.0163 ohms, the voltage is going to drop 1.3 volts on the peaks, reducing the peak output by 50 watts or more. This is a type of soft-clipping and can result in some significant AF -and- RF distortion. And that's not considering the temperature coefficient of copper, which shows more resistance as it warms up from carrying lots of current, making the situation worse.

Adding caps at the power input leads of the amp can significantly reduce the source impedance of the power supply. It -can't- provide more power than the supply is capable of providing, but it -can- smooth the voltage ripple just like in any other type of power supply. And what if the vehicle is running? Do the math: If you have a 100 amp alternator (at 13.8 volts), it has a source impedance of .138 ohms, which is significantly higher than the battery, so it's not going to be much help. In fact, because it's going to be so heavily loaded, it's going to introduce some ripple into the power lines, ripple that can be reduced by using caps at the input of the amp.

How much capacitance is needed? There is no easy equation. There are a number of factors, such as the source resistance of the battery and alternator, resistance of the wire, ESR of the capacitors, average modulation percentage, PEP watts, etc, etc. Because of the very low impedance required by the amp, low ESR is paramount. Despite the advertised claims, the 'monster' caps usually have an ESR of several ohms, much higher than is usable. Computer-grade electrolytics have a much lower ESR. Using many smaller caps in parallel is better than one big cap because the ESR is much lower. Those are just a few things to consider. But the general rule is to keep adding caps until they no longer make any improvement.

I'm really suprised, Tnom. After all the times you have shot your mouth off and been proven wrong on technical topics, you -still- haven't learned to think before you speak. Maybe next time.

For Sale:

Palomar Skipper 300 Tube Amplifier $200 shipped to continental U.S. Address.

This amp is in VERY NICE Physical Condition.

It was tested with the matching Palomar 73C CB Base and I could only get 200 watts out of it but it should do better with more drive.

I know nothing about CB or AM but it appears to have 1 8950 driving 3 8950's.

The 73C Base unit is tentitively sold for $75, but I've yet to receive payment so it may be available as well.

I accept PayPal if you have a "Confirmed Address" otherwise cashier's check or money order.

Thanks, Gene

actually it was just food for thought, with all the flaming going on I thought I would introduce a subject that would produce more thinking than fighting.

Doug flooded my mailbox with lame shit. Him and geo would dry

Bull. I was a ham operator (still am) before I got into CB - and the world didn't end when the FCC gave up on trying to enforce laws requiring licensing, callsigns, not working skip, etc. by CBers. (As a matter of fact, I doubt how many CBers - or hams - under 30 even know that CB once required a license.)

>It's because of that we have >representatives upon which we VOTE: >don't like a law? Get it changed.

You don't get it. The end of licensing for CB wasn't forced by people writing congressmen - but the same way blacks (and Indians) got civil rights:
massive civil disobedience.

CB is very little used up here in the central North Carolina area. The days of a CB antenna on every car trunk are long over. Any problem with CB vanished with them; I hear damn little on Ch. 19 driving in various places between Raleigh and Winston.

Well lets see here DOC and Frank
Have you tried a Large farad cap on your amp? I thought not.
So unless you have then don't cut it.

Frank you need to learn what ESR is you fucken dum ass.
These cap have a very LOW ESR as I said in my first post I or do you not read very well.
Doc , it works, and you know it could unless your a Dumass also. so why put your little shitty wisdom comments in Sure its costs money, but to me running several alternators and a big amp just to say Audio is a waste of money to me. We all have our quirks.
Why do CBERs spend good money just to raise the power out on a 4 watt rig to 7 watts and think its walking the dog, cant tell it on the receiving end.
O well beleave what you want. He asked a question and I gave a good answer, it works.
Then here comes all the so called Brains on this group. Hell I dough if they really do anything with there's, just sent on their ass and tell every one else
how smart they think they really are .
SO called DOC is really a flunky, and Frank hell he must work for some portal potty outfit.
Dam It would be nice if they could just give a answer without trying to act as if they are the only ones in the world with knowledge.
Fuck them two.

Frank go and get one of those caps there are very LOW

Yep, tell you a little short one about my neighbor. She is not exactly dottering, but she is a trip. One day, I went out to get my leaf rake under the carport, and it was missing. Hmmmm, I thought I hung it up on the wall??
A search ensued; no rake. I figured someone had stolen it and forgot about it. Few days later, I heard a noise and perceived movement out in my carport. Here came the old "widder" hanging up the rake that she conveniently forgot to ask for.
So THAT's how things had been disappearing! Soon after I purchased a barn shed (one of those storage sheds sold everywhere). I hung up my tools up out in the shed and locked the door--not because I was trying to stop her from lifting my yard tools, but to get them out of the way and in some sort of order. Again, I was downstairs and heard a noise/saw motion thru the basement window. There stood a very perp-lexed lady looking at the empty hook where the rake used to stay! She was welcome to use my tools when I wasn't using them, I just want her to ASK rather than just help herself!

And she takes her trash out and dumps in MY roll-out garbage can instead of using her own! I don't care so long as she doesn't fill it so that I can't get my own in there.
LOL!

Heh, that's some funny shit. You should of traced where the rake was with a sharpie..J/K This eccentric old land barron down the road from me, still has both daughters living at home.

These -girls- are both 45+, and have never left the nest. They're both uglier than a mud fence, but they love my wife and I, and we enjoy their strange company. ;)

The old lady is 82, and I watched her shew a bull back to his stall with nothing but a stick and a grain bucket! She's still full of piss and vinegar. Her old man is long gone, but he bought major acreage in the 40's out here. She subs some of it to the local farmers to pay the property taxes.

She still gets the recipe! (white lightning)

About what - gay issues?
That's all we need, people being referred to the crap here as if it is something to learn from.

Who?
If he likes this group so much where is he? Or more to the point, who is he?
Possibly hiding behind many names, ISPs and Google accounts, posting sexual crap on this group.

If someone really wants to promote legal CB, the last thing they would want is for outsiders to see is this group, where so called "Anti keyclowns" act like a bunch of perverts (if they are acting).
Who the feck is stupid enough to follow such people... apart from the obvious few trolls here?

Have you noticed how, when trying to claim people to be trolls, Willie Wally only looks at the posts made by other people - he conveniently fails to see how little CB content and how much crud he adds to this newsgroup.
He makes more of his posts in the troll threads than you or Steve do - but he fails to see that figure, or how few of his posts are useful posts about CB.

Can you remember the last time Willie Wally made a useful CB topic post?

Regards,

Peter.

Not near enough though, Peter. My bad for living close enough to dogie to make it interesting. I'm still a CBer to the core though.

Isn't that the only reason to be on this board?

Yeah...Right, A few farads will make a justifiable difference. You're

I use caps on just about everything mobile. They work great to get the low-end from an audio amp. No, I don't run an RF amp, base or mobile. Yes, I have intalled a few; and yes, they do run better with a big cap on the power leads. By 'better' I mean that the audio is cleaner and IMD is reduced.

> I thought not.

No you didn't.

From Cornell Dubilier:

381LX473M016A452
47000 uFd @ 16 VDC
0.017 ohms @ 120 Hz
0.013 ohms @ 20 kHz

Now you can probably find farad-sized electrolytics -advertised- for lower ESR, but they don't tell you the frequency or conditions under which that ESR was measured. There are engineering standards for measuring such things as ESR. Industry has to deal with these standards all the time. But as long as these caps are not marketed for industrial use the manufacturers can declare an ESR that is measured in any way they want, even by measuring the cap in a series resonant circuit with a high impedance source. IOW, it's a lot of hype, just like the ridiculous gain figures that are advertised for some CB antennas. About the lowest -real- ESR you will find among those ultra-high-density caps is about 0.2 ohms, and it will cost you most of a paycheck (two or three paychecks if you have a McJob).

The problem here is one that has existed since the first capacitor was invented: There is a tradeoff between charge density (uF per cubic inch) and ESR. Whenever the physical size of a capacitor gets too large, it usually dictates a different type of capacitor. A 1 farad air capacitor would have an extremely low ESR, but it would probably be as big as an aircraft carrier (which would introduce other problems, but those are ignored for the sake of this example). If it was an oil/paper capacitor it might be as big as a house. Even an aluminum electrolytic of 1 farad would still be quite large for a mobile application. So these monster caps are built with a different type of electrolytic process, one that packs more farads into a smaller space, but at the expense of increased dielectric absorption/hysteresis, i.e, a higher ESR.

Put more simply, if these big caps were as good as the advertisers claim them to be, they would have replaced aluminum electrolytics a long, long time ago. They haven't. Put even more simply, if it looks too good to be true, it probably is. If you don't believe me, buy one and measure it yourself. You will need a very low impedance source and load, then measure the difference in ripple voltage on a scope. Post the results.

And just to make my point about smaller caps in parallel being better than one big cap:

381LX472M016H012
4700 uFd @ 16 VDC
0.113 ohms @ 120 Hz
0.085 ohms @ 20 kHz

Put ten of the 4700 uFd caps in parallel and you have 47000 uFd, but with an ESR of 0.0113 ohms @ 120 Hz and 0.0085 @ 20 kHz, which is better than the 47000 uFd capacitor. This value would drop the source impedance (in my example from the previous post) from 0.0163 ohms to 0.0067 ohms, meaning the voltage will only drop 0.53 volts on a peak. So in this example, the caps give back three-quarters of the power that is missing from the peaks when run without the caps. Compare that to any size cap with an ESR of 0.2 ohms.

No, but it doesn't matter to these trolls. You can say the positive wire is "red" they will argue till their face turns blue that you are wrong. The trolls have made the asking of any question now on this board a joke, by harassing you on the question asked, no matter what.
You made that statement few posts back Peter, notice how some new posts were made, by "people" that have never made post ever on the internet? Some questions obviously from both sides of the isle, but a lot more on "how can I get more power" types. Those are obviously to create a flame post.

...Won't you wash my nuts tonite?"
...
...Then how 'ole Chukkee loved it
...As he bobbed up and down
...That is the story of Chukkee
...The little gay fag keyclown
...--
...
...Then there is also his bio....this is one fuckked up bozoboy here!
...
...MY BIO!!!!!
...K8CPA
...Okay, this is the place where I tell you how I came to know how fucked
...up I am.... and all the personal information about me. I will try and
...answer all the questions:
...
...
...
...Date of Birth: June 28, 1972 <in the fall of 71 my daddy fucked a pig,
...ya see>
...
...Place of Birth: Detroit, Michigan <in an alley behind the unit block
...of Waterman Avenue>
...
...Religious Information: Well, first off, I am NOT heterosexual! I am a ...faggot! I accepted penises as my personal Lord in 1980. I was all
of ...10 Years old, I knew exactly what I was doing, I knew that if I didn't ...get cock in my mouth, I would not See the Lord in the rapture of it's
...jizz pulsing. I have been butt pumped nightly for 12 Years.
Although,
...I was "Backslidden" for about 6 of those years, while screwing female
...barnyard animals. I am now back serving my Lord penis. I would like to
...Thank the Rev. Jack Hizhogoff of Detroit Gayboy Outreach (Web at:
...http://www.dgo.fag) for standing in the gap and slapping his manly
...dick up my fat faggot ass, and for a playroom where people like me,
...who were burned by chickenhawks with syphylitic dicks and fellow fags

...in general, could come and give their hearts back to the Lord penis.
...My only regret is that Rev Hizhogoff had to start pushing his manly ...dick in my fat faggot ass to the point where I could not bear to bend
...over anymore, and I returned to my favorite pastime, cocksucking in
...the men's room of the Detroit bus station.
...
...
..."Burned" by the syphylitic cocks in my mouth and asshole?: Yep, Sure
...was.... I was... like I said before, I was sucking when I was 10,
...(around 1980), I was originally sucking just anyone, especially born
...again Christians and other mentally fucked up Baptist types like me. I
...loved those guys when theyd tell me to tongue their assholes.
...Condoms were a BIG no-no.... and I believed it!
...Speed ahead 4 years. in 1984, The Baptist Church I went to had a bit
...of a controversy, The Pastor had resigned because he was caught
...bobbing on my young fat faggot pee pee, and things there were in a ...state of chaos, and my mom did not want to suffer having to put up ...with my faggot punk boy ass at home. She enrolled me into the Detroit
...Institute for Hopless Gayboy Fatass Chumps. I started attending
and
...believe me, going to a Full-TILT anal only gayboy school. after ...attending one with a stated preference for teaching Hopless Gayboy
...Fatass Chumps to mainly suck dick, was a MAJOR SHOCK to my system!
But
...one thing kept me from leaving the place, was the fact that these ...people seemed to really love the Lord Penis. and there was this one
...guy, named Robert Snyder, Who played the drums, like John Bonham,
...(from Led Zeppelin) and we got along great.... (Not to mention he ...would let me drink his jizz on the sly. That was HOT! least I ...thought so! Hey! I was 14 years old, and my hormones were at full ...TILT! So SUE ME!) (By the way, Snyder is now married to MoparHolic
and
...living in Ohio. I'm very happy for him.
...Anyhow... After being there for about a year. I started being ...interested in playing drums for them, as I was a drummer, from a ...young age... and I wanted to use my talent for the Lord Penis.
Well, I
...eventually got the nerve to ask if I could play for them, and they
...said sure, as long as I would give em all head before each ...show! AWESOME!!!... My first time playing for Detroit Institute for ...Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chumps was a nightmare! I was scared, I ...totally forgot how to play because I was violently burping up the ...sprem I had sucked down before the show.! I was THAT scared!

Anyhow...
...speed ahead to age 19... I was changing as a person, things were ...changing at Detroit Institute for Hopeless Gayboy Fatass Chumps, as ...well. and a bit of a disagreement rose up between me and Snyder. I ...wanted to suck their cocks the night before the show instead of ...immediately prior to it. They said they needed the rush in order to
...play better, and I was asked to step down from the music ministry.
...Needless to say I was crushed. and very upset at Snyder In fact. I ...didn't think I'd ever be able to forgive him for that... Anyhow...
I
...entered into what I called "My Dark Years" from age 19-26... Drugs,
...Drinking, eating 7 meals a day of Burger king, Dominos Pizza
...and Taco Bell in order to make myself an even bigger Hopeless Gayboy
...Fatass Chump.... and when I found out that Snyder had turned
...heterosexual, I really went off the deep end... until...

Well here is some of the specs supplied for a 1 Farad cap from the manufacture.,

Capacitance 1 farad,+/- 5%, 20-24 Volt Surge, 105'C
Dia. 3.54" x H 9.65"
E.S.R. (<0.0016 Ohm) Frequency? I don't care it works for me. Good enough for me to use on a SSB amp with a 8 ' run of cable. Like I found out it just helps in reducing the voltage nulls during the audio peaks, and reduces the sudden voltage drops in the electoral system. For $59 bucks it OK to do. That's what he asked and This was my answer.

Well here is some of the specs supplied for a 1 Farad cap from the manufacture.,

Capacitance 1 farad,+/- 5%, 20-24 Volt Surge, 105'C
Dia. 3.54" x H 9.65"
E.S.R. (<0.0016 Ohm) Frequency? I don't care it works for me. Good enough for me to use on a SSB amp with a 8 ' run of cable. Like I found out it just helps
in reducing the voltage nulls during the audio peaks, and reduces the sudden voltage drops in the electoral system. For $59 bucks it OK to do. That's what he asked and This was my answer.

"george" of being the big no-CB-content trouble maker. ROTFlmao

Yah OK since you have elected yourself newsgroup mayor what are you going to do about Twistedhed? His posts are 100% off topic. Never hear

Snipped because your response is just to ridiculous to even bother reading. In a nutshell your dribble implies that:

A one farad cap used on a large amp (dx1600) used on SSB will make a difference.. It can't make any noticeable difference at all.

A one farad cap by definition can only supply one amp for one second at a one volt potential. It can not make any real difference on a setup that requires 150 amps on voice peaks.

The current draw on voice peaks last long enough to deplete the benefits a one farad cap instantaneously. If the cap is depleted instantaneously then a standard SSB voice keyup would instantaneously absorb all of the caps ability to hold a voltage and make a noticeable difference in a voice communication.

The problem is not in the theory but in the relative usefulness of one farad for a 1500 watt amp. One farad is not big enough.

The point being, if the power supply is not capable of supplying the current required on SSB voice peaks, then the power supply is too small to start with. The logical 'cure' for a 'too small' power supply is a larger power supply. Any thing else is a 'kloodge', a crutch to prop up a cripple.
A capacitor does supply some additional current to the system if it's large enough, but even with very large capacitors the supplied current is going to be very, very tiny in relation to the total current draw. Something else you should remember is that the power supply is also going to have to charge or re-charge that capacitor when it is drained. That means that there is no increase in total current in the system, in fact, there is a decrease since capacitors are not 100% efficient (they do have loss). This means that the current demand on the power supply has increased and the 'hole' is just getting deeper.
Capacitors 'work' in audio systems because they 'rob' current from one part of the audio signal and 'deposit' it in another part of the audio signal. If the purpose is to accentuate the high frequencies, then the 'extra' power is robbed from the lower frequencies (or visa-versa). The total average power of the audio signal is not changed (increased), it's only reditributed.
Some things with audio system do carry over in to RF power amplification systems, but the use of capacitors in the way you want to use them, isn't one of them...

Alright, we'll start with what you -do- understand. 1 farad = a charge equivalent to 1 amp across 1 volt for 1 second. That means it can supply 2 amps across 1 volt for 1/2 second, right? Or 4 amps across 1/4 volt for 1 second. With me so far?

Now, is the cap going to be supplying the full 12.6 volts? No. It only has to make up the voltage that was dropped by the inadequate impedance of the power supply, which in this case is 1.3 volts.

Does the cap need to supply the full 79.4 amps? No. Again, it only needs to make up the current that the power supply can't provide on a peak. The DC input impedance of the amp is 0.16 ohms, so with a voltage drop of 1.3 volts the current required by the caps is going to be 8.2 amps.

Does the cap need to continuously supply 8.2 amps @ 1.3 volts? No. Remember, that is the -peak- draw by the amp, and occurs only for a fraction of the cycle. What happens during the rest of the cycle? The capacitor charges back up! So how long is the cycle? For audio amps the slowest cycle is 20 Hz, or 0.05 seconds. And since we are only working the amp one half-cycle at a time, that reduces it even further to 0.025 seconds. Under half of a 20 Hz audio cycle, the time the amp is under peak load is typically going to be less than 1%. But even if the amp spends an unbelievable 10% of the time under peak load, that's 10% of 0.025 seconds, or 0.0025 seconds.

Now we know that our cap needs to supply 1.3 volts @ 8.2 amps for 0.0025 seconds.

1.3 * 8.2 * 0.0025 = 0.0267 farads

IOW, not only does the cap make a difference, but a 1 farad cap is roughly 40 times bigger than required!

As I stated before, the difference lies in the ESR, only part of which is the actual number of farads. A capacitor's internal resistance and dielectric properties can make even a huge capacitor useless for certain applications.

>The problem is not in the theory but in the relative usefulness of >one farad for a 1500 watt amp. One farad is not big enough.

Go back to school, Tnom.

The power demands of an SSB amp are roughly equivalent to an audio amp simply because of the way SSB works (low input signal, low output power; high input signal, high output power). The current draw follows the audio almost perfectly. Caps -do- help for SSB.

Another point is you can't equate SSB voice to music program audio. There is the difference in compression. A direct ratio of the capacitance needed applies to the peak to average ratio of the power output. If your peak to average ratio in amplifier "A" is one half of amplifier "B" then the capacitance needed for amplifier "A" is twice as much as amplifier"B".

Music programming by default is suppose to be a true representation of the audio. It requires a large dynamic range. The way this is done is to not use much compression. Music programming has a very large peak to average power ratio.

SSB voice is just the opposite. The preferred way to communicate with SSB is to create a high order of intelligibility. This is done with some sort of compression. Compression is desirable with a SSB voice signal. A minimum of 6db of compression over music programming is used.

The compression is normally quite a bit higher than 6db.

This all means that a SSB voice signal requires (6db) 4 times the capacitance that a HI-FI audio signal requires. It is common practice with audio amps to suggest a minimum of one farad for ever 1000 watts of HI-FI audio, therefore a SSB voice signal would require four farads for 1000 watts or in our case 6 farads for a 1500 watt dx1600.

1 farad cost $50, so we need $300 worth of capacitors in order to see a difference. $300 dollars can better be spent on another battery or two, or better yet a higher capacity alternator.

Bottom line on capacitors for SSB.....Not worth the money.

Not even close. SSB prefers compression and HI-FI abhors it.

The difference between the two is a least 6db, therefore SSB takes 4 times the capacitance to make the same difference that a HI-FI could show by using these caps.

The example (dx1600) requires at least 6 farads to make a difference.

The DC input power follows the audio input, compressed or not. Is that concept too difficult for you to comprehend?

I would tell you to go back to school but I'm afraid that wouldn't help. What you actually need is common sense. You actually believe that a SSB voice amplifier operation can be directly compared to a music audio amplifier operation.

The envelope of an SSB signal is nothing more than pure audio. That's what makes it so much more efficient than AM -- no overhead from a continuous carrier, and no redundancy due to an extra sideband. Got a public library nearby? Need a reference?

Trying to create a divergence away from the truth?

The truth is not gained by equating DC input to output. The truth is gained by comparing SSB audio compression levels to that of HI- FI audio compression levels.

I see you are ignoring compression again.

We all no the truth now. Your SSB signal has no compression, therefore you sound like a mouse. No wonder no one pays any attention to what you say.

COMPRESSION HAS NOTHING TO DO WITH IT, YOU IMBECILE!!!
No audio = no RF = quiescient power drain! Good God, man, don't you have ANY reference handy? An ARRL handbook maybe? If you have an SSB amp that is 50% efficient and you input a single-tone audio sine wave for an output of 100 watts, what's the power input? 200 watts + quiescient power. For an output of 200 watts the input is 400 watts + quiescient power. Are you getting it? Or do I need to draw you a picture for when you aren't stoned?

I do agree with you Frank, that Audio power draw is very close to SSB power draw from the Power supply, Battery, or alternator in a car system.
I do not run RF compression even if it does in the amp, and if it does compress, the cap still help in filling out the audio ripple on the supply line.
O well enough on this.

Sure it does. Just like a power supply. A half wave power supply take more filter caps than a full wave. Just like a power supply the more current you draw the more capacitance needed. Compression has everything to do with audio caps. The caps need time to recover to be useful. If the signal is compressed the recovery time is shortened.

More accurately you are truly lacking in common sense.

A compressed audio signal at its highest compression would approach a single tone or carrier as far as a SSB amp goes. With this much compression no reasonable amount of capacitors can be useful on the 12 volt lead.

On the other hand just and intermittent spike here and there will only require a minimal amount of capacitance on the 12 volt lead and can make a difference. If you graphically plotted the capacitance needed for total compression (carrier), to no compression (spikes), then you would have a linear graph that would show that the amount of capacitance needed is directly related to the percent of the duty of the amp.

The caps work better if the have time to recover. If they can't recover then the are useless. A SSB signal has more compression than a HI-FI signal., so dx1600 with one farad on SSB would be one of those points in between. total compression and no compression It wouldn't have adequate time to recover in order to be worth the cost.

You are responding to your own words, you idiot.

Where's the math, Tnom? For cryin' out loud, I'm so bad at math lately that you could probably swing anything past me and I would agree. But you don't even try.
Why don't you even try, Tnom? (yes, that's a trick question).

Why should -I- fold? You can't address the facts even when they are presented in a form that -you- can understand! Do you need Dr. Seuss to explain it to you?

This does indeed help with audio amplifiers (especialy subwoofer amps) a large capacitor (ie. 1 Farad) is placed in paralel (as in across) the
+ and - power leads,just like the battery would be.The cap acts much like a filter cap in a power supply.
I put a little over 0.1F (100,000uf) on my 400W sub amp,and it made a big difference.I suspect it might be useful for mobile RF amps aswell.

Just a note,Think of ESR as how fast a capacitor will charge/discharge.
As Frank pointed out,think of slower caps acting more like rechargeable batteries,that's too slow to filter out audio peaks,let alone RF.
At high current levels,wire resistance becomes an important factor,and caps can help with the inherent voltage drop/sag.

I think the D-201A is the 40 channel version of the Tram classic, and the D-201 is the 23 channel version. All of the D-201A's I've seen on eBay recently have been 40 channel rigs.

Evidently, he's one of those guys who believes in running the compression up to the point where a mouse fart in the next room will move the power meter, and average voice peaks disappear into an almost carrier steady power which rarely drops below 75% of peak......

In that case, the amp will be drawing more power that a capacitor can make up for.

Simple test, Put a scope across the DC supply lines next to the Amp, Look at the audio effect on the voltage (SSB mode), Next hook up a Cap as discussed, Now look at the audio ripple, if I need to tell HOW to hook up the scope, then you don't need to brother with this.
Simple enough.

Even though you don't know it, you are agreeing with me.
Take a listen to SSB voice on any amateur band or CB if you like. The preferred SSB signal is one which enhances its intelligibility. This is done with some sort of compression which will be a point in between your example and no compression at all.

Recovery time is reduced with compression, and simply put the $50 spent on a capacitor can be better spent.

I could care less about what the receiver could see, sure I would spend $50 bucks to help keep the audio waveform from ridding along my electrical system, and help the amp out also. I also do not run compression on my radio,and it sounds good. (Must be the cap) Ha Ha.
Like they say,

Don't knock it until you try it, you might look like a fool.

I have a Cobra 2000 with 2 matching speakers and a Silver Eagle D-104 Power Mic. The Cobra 2000 has already been peaked and tuned and has the upper and lower channels. It looks and works like new. Email me for more info if your interested.

I'm also loking for Mods for the Cobra 25,29 and 148 radios and also Galaxy radios. I'm looking for Mods where I can get all the watts out of them that a person can. Please email me if you have any.

Distortion does NOT equal loudness.

BTW, there is some guy named David in Australia that's been going bananas for a matching Cobra 2000 external speaker. I'll bet he'd buy it!!!!!!!

This is a negative thing?
I think there is nothing wrong with any of those suggestions.
Especially when you have guys in here saying racist and homosexual innuendos every single day. I make a remark that all this stuff is sickening and then out of nowhere, you say I live in hicksville, why would anyone want to even know that and boy am I glad that I dont, and secondly you call my a chimp. I hardly think the comment I made was worthy of this assualt.

Well perhaps you should take that advice and stop calling me names. At

All you guys do is attack one another for what? That is why I say go 4813. Am I the only one that thinks echo boxes and roger beeps are stupid?

When ever I hear someone with an echo box I automatically think; "He's an idiot", and the following roger beep is just a conformation of my initial assumption. So far none of the verbal content I have heard contained between the echo and roger beeps has disproved my initial assumption.
The other night I stumbled on several users having an intelligent conversation. Their audio was clean, smooth, contained zero profanity, and contained no roger beeps or echo boxes. When I asked what kind of radio equipment they were using the reply was;

1) Tram Titan II with an un-amplified D-104
2) Tram D201 with an un-amplified D-104
3) Cobra Cam 88 with an un-amplified D-104

The Cobra Cam 88 operator turned out to be an advanced class ham playing with vintage CB's, and the other two users were older CB'ers who had been on the CB since the seventies. Amazingly the discussion was interesting, highly technical, and contained zero profanity.

No. I just stated the facts. You and your fellow anti-CBer's, don't even suggest that you promote the hobby, have no purpose in this group other than to cause as much disruption as you can. You have in answer to your subject, the answer is "no". I've found those devices to be far more of a nuisance than anything else (and I listen on a shortwave radio!).

in my operating heyday (9 years ago) I used a stage mic with an inline graphic equalizer (12 chan). I had the best sounding radio in the valley and all I had was 4 watts AM and 12 PEP SSB. That and a good antenna (and a good rig) were all that were needed.

now a sedate "roger beep" (in the nasa style) came in handy on SSB. other than that, the echo boxes and other nonsense made it hard to understand, let alone communicate.

as for the operators described below, they certainly did have some good gear to play with (oh man, I do miss having my hands on some of that stuff).

actually, thats not a bad rig. just make sure it doesn't "wander where it ain't supposed to be". as for the cable and antenna. RG-8 is ok stuff for the upper HF bands. as for the antenna, you could have done better, but that one will work in a pinch.

I have been using CB equipment since the 70's and I for one agree with the echo box deal but the standard roger beep is handy in a SSB conversation when the receive is somewhat sketchy.

The original D104s weren't amplified. The Cobra Cam 88 is a tube radio, and should work quite well with an original D104. The Tram D201, Tram Titan also had a high impdeance input and would work with the original D104. If you have a amplified handheld D104, its a knockoff of the original D104.

Sure, I do it all the time, just not to the extreme. But as long as there is some sort of correlation between audio peaks, and current draw, there will be peaks and nulls which can be filled in to some (however small) degree by a filter cap.

I can use it to buy a deep cycle battery. I'm sure that would do a better job.....

Those who gravitate toward noise toys do so, not to imporve their communications, but rather as a psychological call for other people to "look at me!" It's form over function.

I wish I could find those type of people in my area. Then there would be some hope for CB..... I've got some vintage gear I'd like to run for a while, just to keep the caps from drying out if nothing else.

BZZZZT!!!!! Wrong answer. You are letting your relatively short time in CB confuse you. The D-104 was offered both as a "G" stand (SPST switch) and a "UG8" stand (DPDT switch), both of which were high impedence unamplified forms. The "G" stand D-104 was standard a issue stock microphone for the Tram Titan 3 and D201. The original amplified unit was the "T-UG8" (the "T" stood for transistorized preamp), which came out in the early 70's.

This came from another radio group. They are doing a survey to find out why some people do not like the ARRL. I don't like it because it costs to much. If it were $10 a year I might consider joining.

I do like the ARRL. Do I agree with everything they do? Nope. I don't agree with everything everyone does.

Expensive? A bit, but only for those that think they are just taking out a magazine subscription.

Love their website, I've mined enough out of that to justify the membership dues.

I am a member of ARRL, but do find the membership a little steep... I'd go $25,, but will think long and hard about renewing at $40.

I think a lot of the long gray vanity call lists of DX and contest results should be moved out of QST and onto some sub menu web page where the three people who give a damn could look them up. QST is a pretty good rag; it can still be improved.

I object to ARRL's position that we should not be discussing sex, politics or religion on the bands...what else is left worth talking about? BUT I wish ARRL or someone could act effectively to make these discussions a bit more civil.

I don't think ARRL is doing enough of the "right stuff" to attract newcomers, particularly youngsters, to the hobby. Often the emphasis is too much on technolgy and equipment and not enough on the social exploration that's possible with our radios.

On positive side I think ARRL is still doing a pretty decent job representing our interests to the Beltway Bandits.

You can pick up a small boxfull of old computer caps from the local scrapyard for just a few bucks (at least you can around here), and if you do I think you will find that they work better than both the monster cap and the deep-cycle. It certainly won't hurt your wallet to try.

The original D-104 (please correct me if I'm incorrect) was touted as the "newest technology in amplified modulation"....either way,,I was the right Turner in mint condition..what the hell,,it's only money. The

I had a Golden Eagle back in 1974 with an amplified sliver D-104 with only a silver grip-to-talk bar. Relatively short enough for ya'? At what year prior to this date did you enter radio and equate it as a "long" time compared to today's date?.

One could say the same thing concerning hammies who visit a cb forum and do nothing but slam what cbers do, even though it doesn't effect them. Imagine such audacity...LOL. It's almost as if such angry hammies were constantly attempting to reinforce their misguided belief they are somehow above those that prefer differing aspects of the hobby. The difference is,,,such noisemakers have been a part of cb for years and years,,like it or not, it is what certain aspects of cb evolved to, especially 19,,and to amuse themselves over long trips on the road, truckers are hurting none with their noise toys.
Concerning the echo, proof is on the commercial radio each and everyday..the "layered" echo is indeed attention getting and will most certainlt stand out above the rest of the non-echo. If you have a hard-on for noise toys and echo and (gasp) all that cb has evolved into and encompasses, do yourself a favor and avoid it. Doggone,,now why didn't you think of that?

(The other night I stumbled on several users having an intelligent conversation. Their audio was clean, smooth, contained zero profanity, and contained no roger beeps or echo boxes. When I asked what kind of radio equipment they were using the reply was;
1) Tram Titan II with an un-amplified D-104
2) Tram D201 with an un-amplified D-104
3) Cobra Cam 88 with an un-amplified D-104
  The Cobra Cam 88 operator turned out to be an advanced class ham playing with vintage CB's, and the other two users were older CB'ers who had been on the CB since the seventies. Amazingly the discussion was interesting, highly technical, and contained zero profanity.)

There are many. There is a vintage car club out of Philthy that holds round robin's on a regular basis on SSB a few megs above channel 40. In fact, there are several clubs in and around Philthy that share your single interest,,,however, these good folks don't allow the fact that someone may be running an extra watt or two or a slight tinge of echo to ruin their experience with radio and take the approach of tossing out the baby with the bathwater as you prefer, so you're probably correct in that you are unable to find a group of folks you can relate to on the radio,as most aren't that serious about it being a reflection of society. You can always sandbag,,,<g>

Hope? For cb? HAHAHA....check it out,,,,99.99 percent of those using cb are in it for fun and fun only. None of us live by the image of cb or hammie or even take it nearly as serious as you. We use it for communication and DX, and, at times, laughing at angry hammies with 27MHZ capabilities in their rigs when they still fail to walk the dog (illegally, I may add :) on 27 MHZ.

Sweet! As far as clumsiness, the 200-S stays on the stand -- the old Hohner is stashed away in some box deep in the garage.

Ask Frank Gilliland the self-styled and self-hyped broadcast radio engineer just WHY those ads that are louder (such as car dealerships, etc) on AM commercial radio have layered acho run through the digitized synths. I'll save you the trouble of fogging Frank's brain further:
Because it's more recognizable and stands out, especially when the audio

Well, I have no problem with the theory behind stiffening caps. They do work, but the crux of the issue is to what extent they work in the original example (1 farad, dx1600, SSB)

If you were listening to the above example you would not be able to tell if the set up was capped or not.

It's only used by some, and then only very conservatively. The concept is to achieve a tonal quality similar to a person sitting in a room a few feet away.
The reps are fast and few, and the the rolloff is sharp. The result is that you can't hear and echo per se, but the sound is much more pleasant, and entirely different than the sound of Echobox Ernie spraying the screen with beer-soaked residue from yesterday's half-chewed corn nuts.

D104 actually refers to the "head", any amplifies that were used with it were part of the base. I think they started butting them on amplified bases in the late 60's, when Transistor sets were becoming popular.

Do it yourself. Rig up a box-o-caps through a switch. Then have someone do some talking with and without the caps. I think you will notice a difference, even if you are just running barefoot.

Your supposed to be able to tell which ones were meant to be used with an amplifier by the way the "tag" is attached. If its rivited, its not used with an amp, if its a stick on, it was made to be used with an amplified base.

11M was sparsely used because it was not harmonically related to the other HF bands (i.e., required a separate VFO band and couldn't be multiplied to other HF bands). With today's synthesized radios, 11M would be no more difficult to implement than any other band.

When the hams had 11M, they could also legally full duplex 10M and 11M simultaneously for a real 2X conversation like the telephone.

And yes, I was on the 11M ham band in those days.

Thats where the roger beep is at it's finest on SSB. Tipsy, your lack of radio knowledge is similiar to your communication deficit. Since there is no carrier on SSB the roger beep lets the other station know when the other person has un keyed. That is the only benefit or a roger Beep.

I'll add to that those wonderful "Monster caps" that are those High farad values of 5, 15, and 50 Farads (Thanks alot Alumapro, and Pheonix Gold) are junk. Even if the measured or stated (ESR) is low. The other problem is ESL, equivlent series inductance. The ESL is kind of like a the responsecurve of a VSWR curver through the frequency rage of a Antenna.

The ESL changes with freq. Now that may be low with a DC circuit. But the minute you start fluctuating that current and voltage, the ESL Will start to rear it ugly head. Remember L = Inductace is the Opposition to current flow.

If you really want some good imput on this hit up Carsound.com Forums and look up under Richard Clarks Archived topis for Capacitors.

You must have been distracted by a passing bimbo or something, but DXCC listings were removed from QST several years ago and moved to the DXCC Annual Report which goes only to DXCC participants.

The contest result listings similarly have been removed from QST and now can be accessed on the web.

ARRL makes no regulations whatsoever. You can talk about what ever you deem proper, and only Riley Hollingsworth will challenge you if he thinks you're over the line.

Thats great if we all talked ina single sinusoidal wave form voice. I think what is trying to be explained here is taking the Crest factor of the Output of the amplifier. Seeing that Audio output is still dynamic, there is a averaging or Crest factor involved.

Hey but what do I know, I am a retard Audio head, that has kind plays with RF as a hobby. :)

We had a T-UG8 on our Lafayette Telsat 1140. That was a loud talking 50 miles in the late 70's & early 80's.

To start with, it might be helpful to state that this is not a critique of CB Radio. Despite what you may have read or heard, the Citizens Radio Service was created by the FCC to permit the average Joe an opportunity to use two-way radio to conduct personal and business communication over relatively short distances. If that's all you want to do with it, than CB will likely be the ticket for you.

Personally, I toyed with a CB walkie-talkie in my teens only long enough to begin worrying whether the knock on the door was the FCC coming to take me away. For me, radio was something I wanted to learn about - that I wanted to get inside of and tinker with. I wanted to fool with dreaded electro-magnetic waves and see what I could do with them.

I knew that just turning knobs and talking into a microphone would never cut it. So, fearful of what my mother would say when the FCC showed up at the door, I gave the CB walkie-talkie away. It wasn't until several years later that I rediscovered radio and was fortunate enough to be drawn in the right direction.

One of the things that appealed to me when I began seriously looking at radio was the ability to communicate with radio operators world-wide. The thought of talking to another radio operator in Asia, for example, appealed to me - as did the possibility of receiving written confirmation of the contact.

The problem I had with CB at the time, was that more than one of the operators I visited lied to the guy on the other end of the radio about where they were located. They joked about it afterward, which made me wonder whether CB was for me.

When I finally had a chance to meet some hams, the experience was altogether different. These were people that strictly operated on the right side of the law - in every aspect of their lives. That seemed important to me. Not only did they understand radio theory, but were able to use their knowledge to benefit the community at large.

Many had been ship board operators, others were volunteer dispatchers and licensed radio technicians. Still others had been radio operators in the service - one of which had served as a code breaker in the Army during WWII. When I thought about the kind of people that I would prefer to communicate with world-wide, it was this group that I settled on.

This is not to say that there aren't bad hams - there are! However, those that misrepresent themselves and violate not only FCC regulations, but the bonds of common courtesy, don't last long. Ham radio is something that gets into your blood and has enough facets to keep you going for a life time.

After you've worked all States, you might decide to fool with antenna designs. And then there's the tinkering part - actually getting inside and making things better (or ocassionally worse). There is experimentation - working other stations by bouncing your signal off the moon.

And, finally, when you get ready to seriously pursue DX, erect a tower and beam and assemble an amplifier, you'll never have to fear that the knock on the door is anyone other than the postman with another load of QSL cards from overseas.

I recently acquired an Audiovox MDU-6000 CB with the mic-mounted controls. The transceiver mounts under the dash. On the transceiver, there is the standard red & black (power/ground) connection wires...but there also is a full harness set of wires coming from another outlet. What is the purpose of this harness...is it for wiring into the vehicle's am/fm radio system? If I do not use this harness, do I then need to attach an external speaker (it has a speaker plug)? Excuse my ignorance but I've never used one of these radios before and it did not come with a manual. Thanks and Happy Holidays!

Ox probably could not cut it as a trucker, so now he is envious of those who are successful big rig drivers. Despite Ox's ravings otherwise, when Ox was mentioned at a hamfest, Riley roared with laughter and indicated Ox's reports go directly into the circular file.

Twist, the original D104 was not amplified. It also was a crystal element, not ceramic as in the Turners.

Those commercials are louder and obnoxious, just like the fools with the echo mics. That's why I don't listen to the commercials. Echo may have a place in AM commercials, but not in communications the way the echo idiots run it.

Mine are still packed away from the move, I will have to dig them out to look, but no, they are not amplified, they do not take batteries.

Yea, echo where the ending of every word is repated 20 times, roger beeps, farting noises, tarzan yells to name a few. Your are correct, CB certainly has evolved, only most things evolve to a higher level, not downward into the septic tank like cb has.

Since when is illegal to run barefoot (legal power)?

I retract nothing, -especially- after listening to the Powell interview on Screensavers. It's clear that he has no interest in anything analog, and is basically leaving the users of the license-free services to fend for themselves.
He ducked the hard questions, like why the FCC is kissing the collective ass of industry while ignoring the public interest, then passes the buck by claiming it is the responsibility of -industry- to listen and respond to what the public wants. Talk about dancing around the issue -- it was almost like Twisty himself was answering the questions!

Until we get a new FCC Chairman, one that has some balls and isn't on the take, you won't hear any more legalese out of me. But I will -still- be speaking my mind when it comes to RF mythology and half-educated 'techs'. Hell, I might even build an amp or two just to show y'all how it's done!

I don't lilke the ARRL, because QST does not print any articles on Freebanding. Freebanding IS more popular than ham radio, and we represent almost 15 million new potential ARRL members. Too bad the ARRL Yankees can't figure this out.

My newsreader must have missed Tnoms post:

You claim to state the facts, but you don't even know what the facts are. I am -not- against CB. I'm a CBer myself. I -do- encourage people to use CB =as the service was intended to be used=. And even though I don't respect the flagrant violations of law that are done by CBers and Hammies alike, nor do I agree with the in-your-face theory of changing laws, I -do- encourage people to learn a bit about what they are doing from an electronics perspective. Part of that consists of CB myth-busting and exposing voodoo techs. It also consists of discussing RF amplifier topologies -- just as long as it gives people a better understanding of how radio really works. And just to clue you in, Tnom, radio works based on principles of physics that have been applied sucessfully for over a century, the effects of which are measurable, predictable, and for all practical purposes, FACT. It does -not- work by ignoring those facts in favor of unqualified assumptions such as "won't make a difference" and overly simplistic principles such as "it's part of a bigger picture" (did you hear that, Skippy?).

Now, where are your facts, Tnom? Where's the math?

Sir, if you are so interested in having a magazine dedicated to the free banding people why don't you start one. With 15 million, seems that you would end up as a financial wizard.

The ARRL isn't going to print anything about free banding when they operate on frequencies they are not permitted. "Licensing" is the name of the game. "Legal" operation is the name of the game. Maybe you should go back to printing a "CB" magazine, something like there was back in the 60's-70's.

All you guys do is abuse each other. Where is the cb talk? Who cares who is running power and all that crap. You guys have nothing to do but say racist comments and homosexual comments and then spend the rest of your time searching google to find out who someone is. Why? So you can ridicule them again. Why? This is ridiculous behavior and as has been stated here so many times it does nothing to stop what you think is undesireable in the real world. If all you come here to do is argue and belittle each other perhaps another newsgroup can be found to fill that need. I would actually prefer the amp talk and antenna talk and all the radio mod talk rather than the constant racist, homosexual and childish behavior. Again if you like the homosexual behavior that you mention so much in here, fine there are better newsgroups to fill your need for that. I only ask for an attempt to stay on topic. At some point this anti stuff must get tiresome even to you anti guys. Will it ever stop?

Answer to your question is:
D-201 was a fcc type accepted 23 channel radio.
D-201a was an fcc type accepted 40 channel radio.
Now the stinger so to speak, only difference is the channel slector, and the variable recieve tuner.
Now that said, the 23 cannel model can be modified to do everthing the 40 channel model can, at the time these radios were made, they were the top performing radio bar none. The drawbacks are this, you are dealing with a mix of solid state componets and tubes. These radios were anything close to trouble free, they are of a old technowledgy that had its problems, and very few techs can work on them and make the radio perform as it should, and last parts are no longer available, except to the highest bidder so to speak.
If you want to save your self some trouble, stay the H*LL away from these things, when they work they are ok, the average high power export radio will outperform them easily on x-mit, and recieve, and is a whole lot cheaper to maintain and operate.
In case you are wondering how I know what I am talking about, I am a licensed ham radio operator, and I am part of the MARS program, NAVY-MARINE CORPS MARS to be exact, but I got my start with CB back around 1971. Do yourself a favor and stay away from the boatachors, lol so to speak. Did you know that you can get a ham radio license and never have to learn morse code? Well you can, and buddy let me tell you something, you can talk farther reliably with a 2-meter radio and a repeater system, than you ever could with a CB, and 100KW linear, and a moster beam antenna on a 150 ft. tower. And the best thing about it is that you can be legal, with no complaints from the neighbors about their microwave talking to them or their tv about to be blown up, and talk with people that use clean language on the radio, and best of all no echo-boxes and beeps and pings, and farts, and all that worthless junk.

Hope that this has answered your question, 73's NNN0WAW, NNN0GAY EIGHT, NNN0WAT, UNITED STATES NAVY-MARINE CORPS MARS

It has been discussed in the past. When did this new rule you speak of become adhered to by the ARRL?

The game is whatever we define it to be, despite your failure at defining rules for others.

Umm,,no. Freebanding is not legal. Since your game is apparenty diffferent than that of others, you would best yourself by not telling others how to play theirs.

Since CB radio is a public commodity, anythning that is broadcast there has to potential to "affect" anyone who receives it. There are some things in life which are little more than irritations. Noise toys are one of those. When deciding whether or not these things are good or bad, one weighs the benefits against the liabilities. Does a noise toy enable you to be heard further? No. Does it improve the quality of your signal? No. Can you operate without one? Yes. Does it annoy a good percentage of the people? Also yes.

> Imagine such audacity...LOL. It's almost as if such angry hammies Calling attention to oneself by overutilizing a noise toy is an "aspect"?

Define "hurt"? If people have to listen to this crap, and it irritates them, then it "hurts" their experience. I've told many truckers in the past, if you like the sound of talking from the bottom of a trash can so much, then put a reverb on your speaker. That way you can make everyone sound like that, while not broadcasting your selfish desires onto others who do not share your taste in amusement.

> Concerning the echo, proof is on the commercial radio each and

Poor excuse. A "slight" amount of properly processed echo can enhance audio and give it depth. But the echo's that are normally encountered on CB are hardly set up properly. If they were, it wouldn't be such an irritation.

Yea, that's an answer I'd expect from you. No one has a right to complain about the "yahoo" element that has taken over CB radio. Good manners and condideration for other people are secondary to the pursuit of one's selfish pleasures. The old; "If you don't like it, turn it off" answer.

A "slight tinge of echo" and a "few extra watts" doesn't bother me either. It's when people sound like crap (and get defensive when told about it), and become actually hard to understand, it's a problem.

I'm not all that "serious" about it either, as the stories on my web site will attest to. But it's nice to interact with people who are not 100% full of themselves.

Jeffry Dahmer though what he did was "fun" too. Doesn't make it right though.

Expecting a certain level of consideration and civility, and using a

The Golden Eagle did not come out until 1976, as a "Bicentennial" special. The Silver Eagle was released after that. The T-UP9 was the first D-104 with a touch bar along with the grip. It had a black base and 6 wire switching.

Ok,,thanks for the info....I don't have the capabiities to reproduce an ad and post it,,but perhaps I can find a link or someone with an original mic. I distinctly remember coffee breaks that had D-104s as prizes and again, this was in the early seventies..they had no control knobs, yet the box or literature claimed "newest technology in amplified audio"..at least mine did. It was way louder than any stock mic, but not as "good" sounding (IMVHO) as the Turners. A Turner 3 on that Eagle sounded WAYYY better than the 104...LOUDER...

Exactly. Read it. Re-read it. Now,,,say it outloud to yourself. Now, say it outloud to all of us. Now, "loudness" has long been a goal of cb ops. By this time you are feeling the need to run from this statement and debate one's personal opinions of the use of these technologies.

Your personal opinion does not, will not, dictate other's standards and rules. Apparently, echo most certainly has its place in communication, more specifically cb,.....channel 19. If the majority shared your callous views toward cb and noys toys and echo, such objects certainly would have been outlawed by the FCC by now thanks to your configured, concerted efforts. Your views remain the minority among cbers. I take this small opportunity to illustrate and point out that here in our wonderfu little haven of rec.radio.cb, only the angry group of illiterate hammies known as "Team VooB" repeatedly bash cb in a cb group,,it doesn't matter how many times you stick your head in the dirt and think no one else sees you. I have to feel sorry for you, because, well those 4/wheelers can't drive, and give us that can drive a bad name, but that is not really what you asked for, ok
ANSWER: A 4 watt CB is not much when you are looking at a recieve meter pegged out with noise, and you have to turn your squelch control almost fully clockwise to get the annoying thing to shut up, in other words 4 watts will not do the job unless you are tailgating "drafting", the trucker ahead of you and you are both on the same channel (frequency), otherwise if you want to be heard by the oncomming truckers, you will be forced to put some: (" Fire in the Wire"). Now I do have to tell you that amplifiying those 4 watts is illegal, by the FCC rules and regs and sometimes the penalties are steep, but you are swimming in a ocean of CB linears keying on you, thats what that scratch growl roar is when you turn the squelch down, and to be heard, you have to x-mit you signal to be more powerful than that for however far you want to talk.
Now for the rest of the story as" Paul Harvey", says: As a generl rule the names and numbers labeled on these outlaw CB linears varies, in other word they don't mean much, (you can't get 300 watts out of a box with 2 pills say MRF 455's which are 60 watt pills under ideal conditions.), Say the average 2 pill linear has a pair of MRF 455's, or SD1446, the 455 will do about 60 watts, and the 1446 about 65, and is about to explode to get that out of it. By the same token, a 2SC2879 will do about 100 watts, although they are rated at 120 watts few will get close to that, and paying double price for matched finals is well brainless,not worth the extra expence.
Now we get to the real question, what will meet your needs? You have a choice between single pill, double pill, and quad pill configureations, the numbers stamped on the front of the unit are meaningless, and do not give anything close to what the capacity in output yeilds actually are, and yes you can make some loops of wire on the inside of the unit to make it show more output on a watt meter, but you are being lied too, all that is are harmonics, that fellow tv viewers will scream bloody murder over. There is no actuall need for anything over 4 pills, because the average driver out there does not have over that, so he can't dust skip land's britches to make the trip back to you, so anything bigger than 4 pills is a waste, and for the most part anything but trouble free, stay away from liears with driver transistor to "drive the finals", they drive too much usually, and cook the finals, and there is no warranty either, so its your bill to pay to repair.
I would probably run either a two pill or 4 pill most likely a Boomer (due to the larger relay, and simple and proven design, some of the others are ok, but remeber it is going in a truck, where it will be beat to death on rough roads). The single pill is not enough usually, and stay away for the stinger board, the garb where they take the speaker out of the radio and put a single pill linear in its place, (there is no way to get rid of the heat, and it will fry both the stinger and your radio).
Another thing is your antenna, a 4 foot fiberglass does ok, anything shorter is well not very effiecent, and usually harder to get the SWR in operational specs. Don't waste your money on dual antennas either the SWR's are too tricky, and you won't know the difference between a singe vs a dual antenna installation, not to mention the cost. Try to use quality coax cable, (RG-8M) is just fine, they sometimes call it mini-8 coax, just make sure that it doesn't get pinched or otherwise shorted out, bad coax will destroy your linear, and your radio, so a cheap SWR meter is the best money you can spend, check the SWR daily, an ounce of prevention is alot better than an "OPPS", there goes the bank account.

You mentioned that you had a Cobra CB, I can't tell you if it will be ok, but I can tell you that compact radios are not a drivers best friend, yes I know they are cheap, and that is ok, the problem is all of the tiny surface mount componets on both sides of the circuit boards, they will not withstand the beating they will get in a truck, and they are not worth repairing either, because they are junk by design.
Do yourself an favor, get a back up CB, so if your primary radio quits, put the extra inline, and check to see if antenna or coax is the culprit for the malfunction.

If you get tired of the filth and foul language on CB, there is VHF HAM radio (have to have license for this), there are hundreds of repeaters all over the country, and you are almost never out of range of at least one repeater, and it is perfectly legal, as long as you are licensed, the ALINCO DR-135 does a great job, and there will always be another fellow ham operator who would call help for you at the drop of a hat, if you break down in the middle of no where.

Hope this helps, and remeber that CB amplifiers of any kind are illegal, 73's NNN0WAW UNITED STATES NAVY-MARINE CORPS MARS.

Most folks realize that cb has involved greatly, including yourself, you just have a difficult time saying anything positive about cb. Cb has evolved to the point where ops can buy and plug and play and be on a host of frequencies. Technology has evolved to the point where one can buy a radio right out of the box and have ore than 4 watts of power.
Technology with cb has most certainly evolved to the ease of user installation, set-up, and even performance and sound quality in many many cases.
Your insistence on remaining focused only on negatives prevents you from acquiring the knowledge that has taken place.

Concerning the echo, proof is on the commercial radio each and

You must like the taste of shoeleather. The Astatic "Golden Eagle" mic was a limited edition comemmorative piece which was released in 1976 commencerate with the bicentennial. It was gold plated and had the symbol of an Eagle engraved in the back of the head.

Not to be confused with the Browning "Golden Eagle" radio. (You know, the one with the "ping").

And it has no authority other than what it self subscribes. The FCC is the only authority that can issue licenses to use the radio spectrum in the U.S. and other countries have their own license structure. Alfa-Tango International has no authority to issue licenses for any use of the radio spectrum. It is just more "freeband" nonsense, and there is no "freeband" in the U.S. as those frequencies you use as a "freeband" are allocated to other services who have ligitimate licenses to use those frequencies. You ATI license isn't worth the paper it is written on and carries no authority whatsoever.

The Annunaki are supposed to be the people who seeded this planet with the early civilizations. They are before the Sumerians. Before Gilgamesh!! I believe Nannar Sin was one of them. Also Enlil and Enki. They were considered gods by the Sumerians and the earliest of civilizations. That is basically all I know although I that you can find out more by reading old texts of the Sumerians or research Zecharia Sitchin on the net. He has written about 10 or 12 books concerning the Annunaki!!!
Hope that helps!!! Boy you guys are getting all kinds of education today!!
Nothing about CB's though!!!

Some echo may be added, but it is mostly they just up the gain on commercials and you don't hear the ending of every word repeated 20 times like the fools who run echo on cb. Echo on cb is nothing more than juvenile idiots trying to get some attention. Same with the farting

Because the cb crowd likes silly echo toys as a way to gain the attention they so desperately want.

Even if it were outlawed what good would it do, cbers care nothing about rules, just making a mess of the radio spectrum. If they don't obey the rules about the amount of power they can run, and operate on frequencies they are not authorized, using crappy equipment that splatters all over the rf spectrum, what makes you think they would obey any rule about echo boxes? It reflects the 12 year old mentality of cbers.

You have nothing to be proud of in cb, thanks to the cb mentality. Any bashing of cb from anyone is well deserved. No dark cloud following me, maybe you better look up.

So don't attempt said confusion by entering the word Astatic when it was clear to all except you that the reference was made to the Golden Eagle,,,the radio. Three times.

Those Golden Eagle Astatic microphone with their outrageous price tags came out for the cb crowd. They believe that by paying the high price with that fancy eagle engraved on the back made their radio sound better. Meanwhile the hams, not being taken in by the hype, continued to purchase the stock, unamplified D-104 mics at reasonable prices and got better results. The cb crowd is a lot like the audiophool crowd, they fall for the snake oil and voo-doo easily.

Some of us CBer's were hip to the hype too, JJ. I never bought the eagle mic, but I do have the matching eagle 515 amp (EG) to go along with a mark IV. I was never a big fan of that radio, amp, or the old eagle mic.

An unamp'd D-104 sounds the best at home on most transmitters, imo.

There is no rule against controversial topics. However there is a recommendation that one use common sense and remember that on the air we should be ambassadors of good will. So it is considered inappropriate to discuss such subjects with a stranger, especially those in other countries, since you may inadvertently offend them.

On the other hand, discussing a controversial subject with someone you know well is reasonable.

5000. Is my radio busted?

Hi all,

I've got this CB radio that came with my truck and it's never worked. I finally got around to checking out all the connections earlier today and everything seems to be hooked up okay -- antennas, battery, etc.. It'll receive -- barely -- but won't transmit. A buddy tested it out with his radio from the other side of the driveway and the signal came through clear, but he couldn't hear me. It came with the truck, so for all I know it's been busted the whole time, but I don't know for sure. Anyone have any ideas?

Thanks everyone.......

I'd double check the antenna ground.

Do you have an swr meter? Your coax or antenna could be shorted, if it's not your radio. No modulation at all, just carrier? Could be just your mic. (need more details)

Sounds like either you have no antenna, a bad coax, or your radio is toast. Some things seem obvious but can easily be overlooked:

1. Is there a CB antenna on the truck? Check to see if the threads are rusted or corroded. Make sure the coax connection to the antenna mount is clean and proper (not just twisted on the mount or hooked up with wire-nuts).
2. Is it the CB antenna that is hooked up to the CB? You might have two coax cables installed, for whatever reason.
3. Check the coax cable. Is it worn, pinched, or have any sharp bends? Has it been spliced? Does it look like it has been there for awhile? If so, replace it.

If everything checks ok and it still doesn't work, it's most likely your radio. If you don't want to go through all that hassle, just take the radio to a CB shop and have them check it out. But if the radio works, or if it doesn't work but you plan to get another one, then you need to go through the hassle anyway.

Just listen to the cb channels, a wide brush pretty well covers it, not all, but most. Listen to the ham bands, yes there are the idiots there also, but only on a very few frequencies. However one must also take into account the fact that the hams have much more spectrum to spread the idiots out on. If they were all confined to one narrow band it would pretty much sound like 11 meters.

I'm trying to decide between these two Cobra CB's as a Christmas present. I'm not sure I have any questions/concerns about the standard unit (http://www.cobra.com/index.php?page=shop/flypage&product_id=12&id=1) but wanting to know if any has or knows about the All-in-handset model (http://www.cobra.com/index.php?page=shop/flypage&product_id=5&id=1)??

Seems like a cool design:

- compact size
- can be hidden to deter someone from stealing it
- handset with speaker can be raised to the ear to hear over loud road noise or whatever
- handset easily moved to another vehicle with a second Remote Mount System (if that is something sold separately)

...but what looks good on paper doesn't always work as you'd expect after buying/trying it.

I've also been looking at the Uniden PRO538W as another option (http://www.uniden.com/product.cfm?product=PRO538W). Comparing the two brands, there isn't much detail about the Uniden. As a result, it appear that you get more for your $$ from Cobra... but that's not confirmed by talking to anyone about either.

Advise? Recommendations? Better Alternatives?

Thanks!

You know me!! Sure you do, likes to be surrounded

Now, as the Truman Show becomes public knowledge, 100,000 people where else but _Town_sville Australia in the remote North Queensland play their role as the 'dome town' crew from The Truman Show.

I can't expect you to believe I'm the Truman from a single post, it really is TRUE, just like Nic Cage stars in most blockbuster prison movies, Hollywood people!!
Why did they call the show true? Because IT IS!

Here are 6 posts from people in group aus.tv the only people there that say they've been to Townsville all agree its true - SEE BELOW, a massive public announcement system lets people hear me snore in the morning, make my tea and plan my shopping list... a day out in Townsville for me is a day of 100s of people all recognising me and calling out that they saw The Truman... then reminding me what to buy at the shops!!

The Truman company tend to rig things to go wrong about me,

I don't disrupt this newsgroup any more than anyone else. But I do enjoy disrupting the proliferation of unsubstantiated technical mumbo-jumbo spread by CB soothsayers such as yourself. Now where are your facts, Tnom? You don't have any. That's obvious, even to the most casual observer. The only reason you keep nagging me is because -you- have grown bitter about being proven wrong time and time again. But that's not my fault, Tnom. It is -you- that is driven by a need to feel important, and it is -you- that chose to seek recognition in this newsgroup by trying to sell yourself as someone who is technically competent. Don't blame me for your failures, Tnom.

What am I trying to justify.. what do you think I did?

You are the one trying to justify your trolling, by accusing other people (those interested in CB) of it.
What you try to ignore is your own troll posts - which make up almost all of your contribution to this group.
Some other people have shown a willingness to change things for the better - you just make excuses why you shouldn't even try.

English language first.

OK, I will help you out a little with some recent posts...

No, you cannot see the posts that do not suit you - try looking. You may even be able to see that I filter out many topics - so I don't see much of

What can I do... if I was able to ban people, you wouldn't be here.
Try looking through my other posts.

>Never hear you comment on Twistedhed at all.

That's because, like Georgina, you only see what you want to... try looking, it is here on the group. In fact, the post you have quoted even states that it is coming from both sides.

If everyone is an individual, making their own decisions, and not part or some "conspiracy", then your whole argument falls apart. The only people on here claiming to be part of some "organised" group are the "AKCers"... the rest of us can think for ourselves.

Was you lying in that post, or are you lying now?
The posts are there - if you really "see all". As usual, caught in your lies.

No, you wish to see that - so you ignore my other posts, where I clearly mention other people or CB topics >now why dont you dry up and blow the f*ck away,

TRY LOOKING... you will see CB topic posts from me. But, you know that - you "see all", so you must just be lying.
It is you using the foul language and sexual crud in this newsgroup... and posting so little CB content to this CB group.
Willie Wally, who "sees all", fails to see his own crud - no matter how large the pile is.

> as your posts are made only >to illicit a response.

Illicit? What is illegal or forbidden about posting or responding here?
So, you believe that anyone asking a question in a newsgroup is a troll - as they solicit a response.

I post some facts in an attempt to reduce the crud on this group - and all you do is whine. That figures, as you feed off the crud. So you want me to go away just in case some people decide to take notice - and trolls such as you will starve.

Mummy not got time to spend with diddums?

Now, unless you have something useful to contribute to this group, the name filter is going back on... and you are in it. No doubt you will change your "nic", just get attention - but they will go in the same place.

Try looking at other posts before you whine.
You will see that I have postsed figures for non-CB posts in this group - including those people.
In fact, if you check, you will see that I have said that, for the CB content they contribute, certain people may as well go in my killfile.

With a little luck, some people will see how much they are contributing to the problem.
Sadly, I doubt if you will ever see further than your own beer belly... so you will never see what you are stood in.

People like you do not promote legal CB - you make the term seem somewhat dirty. You drive people to illegal CB, as they strive not to end up like you.

sender filter can

You really need to give more details...

What radio is it - is it AM only or AM / SSB?
You say it "barely" receives... do you get a good signal on your meter, is it just sound that is the problem?
Does it seem to transmit a signal, but no sound?

From what you say about transmitting, it sounds like you are getting signal out, but no sound. That would normally point to a microphone problem but, if the receive is also just missing sound, I would suspect the audio IC in the radio.
If the signal is weak both ways, check the antenna and connections.

Peter.

Not in all newsreaders. This newsreader doesn't offer that... I have to manually set up the filter.
But, the trolls keep changing their header details so that you have to keep blocking them.

It is also a good idea to block some subjects and words. Some newsreaders will allow you to "block" a whole thread - but I have to manually block subjects.

While you are at it, get an e-mail filter running. They will try e-mail abuse, but a good filter will stop it totally.

I think this is one of those cases where some people think that their membership is a subscription to QST. Its a lot more than that. ARRL does a lot for Amateurs, even those who hate the organization.

This cannot be overemphasized. No antenna shorter in total length is worth having. Also, the antenna's ground side must make good contact with the truck - which means a mag mount about 5" in diameter if you use a mag mount.

I don't like ARRL because:

1) Membership price too high
2) Can't separate QST from membership
3) QST only counts as $15 of the $39 membership fee
4) Incentive licensing from the 60's
5) Ham radio is a dying hobby
6) 5wpm Extras
7) No value given for the money invested
8) No accountability of the board and Executive staff
9) Really doesn't represent the majority of hams (majority don't belong)
10) Really no different than 'NRA', 'AARP', 'NAACP'. Take your money and use it for their own agenda, NOT yours!

That is enough for a start.

Sorry to see '73' and Wayne Green exit publishing.
Sorry to see 'Ham Radio' exit publishing.

I ask basicly the same thing, which foreign countries, and to provide documented proof that those foreign countries recognized those "licenses", so far nothing from mr. kreep low cycle (just more cb bluster). The ATI is just an international club and any "license/call signs" issued carries no more authority to transmit on any frequency then if the ARRL issued licenses.

Really?? Many local clubs charge anywhere from $20 to $30 and can't do a whole lot for their members except maintain the local repeater.

> 2) Can't separate QST from membership

Why would you want to?

> 3) QST only counts as $15 of the $39 membership fee

Actually you are lucky that it counts as little as that. These days typical magazines generally cost $3 to $4 an issue so they must be getting a good break on the publishing.

> 4) Incentive licensing from the 60's

That was the FCC's idea not the ARRL's.

> 5) Ham radio is a dying hobby

There are more hams than ever before in history.

> 6) 5wpm Extras

So what. The very earliest requirements for licensing hams were, guess what, 5wpm.

> 7) No value given for the money invested

Let's see. Ham radio would have remained closed after WWI if not for the ARRL. They have managed to expand our HF and VHF frequencies. Battled, athough sometimes unsuccessfully, to preserve our allocations. Have lobbying power in Washinton. Convinced the FCC to come up with what is now PRB-1, which gives hams some protection from restrictive city ordinances on antenna height. They are now fighting BPL, which will tear up our HF bands if implemented, and they are working on a bill in Congress to give hams protection from restrictive covenants.

You have and will continue to benefit from the ARRL's work, all without having contributed a dime.

> 8) No accountability of the board and Executive staff

They are accountable to the membership. Any member can challenge them. Any member can get involved, run for a position, and work to change things.

> 9) Really doesn't represent the majority of hams (majority don't > belong)

That is not the ARRL's fault. They keep trying to recruit. That majority of hams that don't belong don't belong to any other organization either nor do they attempt to form an alternate organization.

> 10) Really no different than 'NRA', 'AARP', 'NAACP'. Take your money
> and use it for their own agenda, NOT yours!

The agenda is set by the MEMBERS. Any time the MEMBERS do not like the policies they can elect new officials. The agenda is based on what members decide to push.

You obviously expected the ARRL to ignore all the other member's preferences and expected them to have an agenda 100% tailored to your wants and expectations. That doesn't happen in any organization. If you want them to change, you have to get in there and work hard to get into the thick of the action. Sitting on the sidelines and criticizing doesn't accomplish anything.

Check your local newstand or magazine rack in stores, many carry QST.
You can purchase it without membership, or check you local library, they may carry it and you can read it for free.

I don't like them because the head bosses see themselves as self-appointed gods of ham radio.... at least at one point in time they were trying to get the FCC to hand over authority of the ham radio spectrum to them entirely.

Now thats some gear. still, I wouldn't mind some old halicrafters gear for

Admittedly, I'm almost an old man (at 38 year), but tubes were before my

Why do I not like the ARRL? I will answer that with another question. Would you trust a gang of Yankee carpetbaggers, the same bunch who stole from the southerners at the end of the War Between The States? You would? Good! Sign up for life membership with the rest of the NewingtonYankee

Fair enough.

I dislike some of the policies that the ARRL has promoted in the past, and felt as if the ARRL did not represent me even though I have been a member since 1986.

Luckily, the FCC went over the ARRL's head and showed a little lesdership with respect to licensing issues.

Did you get actively involved? Did you become a section director? Did you campaign to sway the majority to your opinion? Or did you just write a letter or two complaining and were disappointed because it didn't instantly change the ARRL's policies? If you want your point of view to be policy then you have to become very politically active in an organization.

Dee D. Flint, N8UZE

Hey, Dee. Where is it written that one must be a member of the ARRL to dislike or disapprove of their policies? Your opinion is not the end-all of arguments in this arena, shock that this must be to you.
The fact of the matter is that many, many Hams, such as myself, have dropped our memberships because of the failed policies and ever-increasing costs of said membership.
What do we get for the forty bucks a year? (or whatever it is now).
Nada...nothing.
I will continue to work DX and continue to enjoy the hobby, but the only "loss" as I see it is that I will no longer be able to attach the ARRL logo to my QSL cards. No loss there.
By the way, when those of us who used to be ARRL members voiced our dissent, our voices went unheeded. Bottom line...what's the use? One soon learns that it is a useless endeavor to "piss into the wind".
I am but one voice in this maelstrom, but I take comfort in knowing that the ARRL no longer has use of my dollars.
Know what? I am getting along just fine.
I will not give my name or callsign on these news groups.
Even YOU should be able to understand why.

Several years ago (four or five), QST was available at the Barnes and Noble bookstore in this area. But it then disappeared off the shelf and I haven't seen it since. When I asked the manager about it, he looked on the computer and said the magazine was no longer available from the supplier. This was surprising since the magazine sold out almost immediately each month (I missed several issues because of that).

And his wife had to use a 'crank style' telephone, therefore we ALL should have to master that technology PRIOR to using a cell-phone just because they did. Additionally, we should ALL have to learn the computer language known as 'Basic' or 'Fortran' PRIOR to using a PC because I and so many others had to learn it. And EVERYONE should be required to learn an antiquated mode known as CW before they get on HF because some 18th century guy invented it. Either catch-up with the times, or get the HELL out of the way! Like it or not, CW is TOAST!

And just who is hamvideo@juno.com ?????

I have given a real email address and feel free to respond to it.

The ARRL hasn't represented the membership directly---EVER!

The ARRL has had it's own agenda (big money) for years.

The ARRL would be considered a large corp. in most sectors, operating under a non-profit status.

The only good about the ARRL is/was QST and now I can't even find it on the news stands.

Bye bye ARRL.

Bye bye ham radio as we know it.

At $4.99/mo ($59.88/yr) plus tax, I'm sure it wasn't a high volume business for Barnes and Noble, since that's a 53% premium over the membership dues, and you don't get the other benefits which comes with membership. Only an idiot would regularly buy QST from a news stand!

There is no such animal as a 'section director'. Perhaps you meant 'Section Manager'. There is no requirement to be a life member to be elected to that position. Neither is there such a requirement for Division Director or Division Vice Director (I was twice elected to that position, and I'm not a life member.)

No they don't, but I have heard D-104s that sound as you described.
Usually the cartridge has gone bad when they sound like that. One of my amplified D-104's sounded trebly with no bass, but after I purchased a new mic cartridge it had plenty of mid range and bass.
If you have a trebly D-104 you can find new cartridges available on Ebay or on the Astatic web site. Look in the Astatic message forum.

Several of us have already listed the numerous benefits of the ARRL. Again how did you voice your dissent? Did you get actively and heavily involved? Doesn't sound like it. If you did get involved, you did not convince the majority of members to change to your point of view.

Instead you choose to have little to no impact on proposed changes by the FCC. Yes I know individuals can write letters but a decent sized lobby has a far greater effect. An organized body can much more effectively solicit the backing of other affected groups on questions like BPL.

Being "One voice in the maelstrom" is a waste of one's time as it will be completely obliterated by that maelstrom.

Now I do not say that everyone should be a member of ARRL. That is up to the individual. However if you are not, then don't complain about their policies. Don't complain when BPL makes HF useless in your area. Don't complain when VHF/UHF frequencies get reallocated to commercial uses. Don't complain if the government should choose to eliminate amateur radio entirely as it has tried to do twice in the past.

It probably was no longer cost effective to sell it on newstands.

If the ARRL is making money (a no-no for a non-profit corp) then report them to the IRS. If they are not making money, then no matter how big they are, it is not about money since no one is making a profit.

Dee, how very judgemental of you, which is what I've come to expect from the very politically active - The Liberals. No, I didn't burn any bra's or jock straps, and didn't participate in any "Tech-Pride" parades. My greatest dilema was some soul-searching on whether I should continue supporting financially an organization which I thought lacked leadership and supported backward policies. Otherwise, the ARRL is an excellent educational and publishing organization.

As a matter of fact, I did write two letters to the ARRL and I was a member of the field organization. I also participated in the NOI/NPRM process.

Thanks for your concern.

Hi Everyone,

I have a rig here which is a Superstar 3900 Black and was wondering if anyone could give me some advice?

I have heard that there are simple conversions which can be done to these to get extra frequencies by connecting and disconnecting different points on the circuit board? I have found losts of information on these mods but am unsure what their outcomes mean????

These are the mods which I found on internet, but what do they do or mean?

Open Clarifier
1)Find D75 and R135 and cut one end of them.
2)On the back of the clarifier knob follow the green wire to the PC board. Cut this wire from the PC board.
3)Now Solder this wire to a constant 8VDC source, like the collector of TR41.
4)Take the yellow wire and cut it from the knob. Tape this wire it is not needed.
5)This should make the radio TX/RX on the same frequency.

10 Meter Mod
1) Find IC7 near the PLL chip.
2) Get a SPST switch and mount it in the radio.
3) Solder a wire from one side of the switch to Pin #13.
4) Solder a wire from the other side of the switch to Pin #12.
5) That's it .Put the radio on 'Band D' then flip the switch to jump up to 28.300 to 28.500.

Tweak and peak
Audio Limiter - Cut R249
AM Power - VR13
SSB Power - VR12

If anyone has any advice or experience of doing this could they help?

This radio also has a small fault which the channel display keeps flickering and shorting on and off whenever it feels like it, does anyone know if this could be easily fixed?

Best Regards

Steven

There are circumstances that might require one to be an "idiot," Hans. In my case, I purchased it at the news stand because ARRL never seemed able to deliver my copy of the magazine (not fast enough to keep up with me). The first time I joined, my address changed several times in a single year. I joined at my home here. Two months later, I went elsewhere to prepare for our operations in Kosovo. Several months later, I went to Italy for the actual Kosovo conflict itself. Even though a change of address was sent with each move, I received only one issue of the magazine that year.

The second year was pretty much the same as the first. I moved back to the USA, moved several months later, and finally ended up back here again two months after that. I got two issues of the magazine that year and didn't rejoin at the end of the year (and didn't make any effort to get the magazine for several years).

I joined ARRL again this year and have gotten each copy of the magazine so far.

Dee got on early supporting the status quo; hook,line and sinker. She is a perfect mouth-piece for the ARRL, and I've heard her repeating, word for word, the policies of this organization. She is, more or less, an official ARRL spam-bot. Wonder if she is an official bulletin station?

You could have the satisfaction of financially supporting an

Yet you can still participate in their DX awards if you choose.

True.

I understand. They had us doing that in Somalia. The "engineers" that set up the piss-tubes should have consulted with the weatherman on the prevailing wind directions. At least when we had a hole in the ground to piss into, we could choose which side of the pit to stand on.

Anyway, it was a rather unpleasant experience amid many other unpleasant experiences. I'd rather not repeat it.

Now you're going to run into some problems. You see, if you agree with "them," then your anonymity is A-OK. But if you disagree with them, and are anonymous, then you are a coward, guilty of heinous crimes against humanity.

Best of luck, Brian

I happen to be a stout conservative. Regardless of whether one is liberal or conservative, one has to get involved and stay involved to be effective.
Complaining about lack of leadership simply shows that either you didn't want to do the work yourself or that you were unable to convince the majority to back your view.

This is not a particularly effective way to change the policies of the organization.

Not hardly. I disapprove of some of the policies but I do not expect it to change when my view doesn't represent the majority view. I do not consider differences of opinion on some policies to be reason to stop supporting them. Also I merely state that non-members shouldn't think they can change the policies. The ARRL policies, as with any organization, will reflect the opinions of the majority of members. Someone with a minority opinion in any organization will have to work very hard to get the majority to adopt it.
Organizations have no obligation to reflect the opinion of non-members.

Won't happen, Dan. People like that have selective memory. They'll rail about how QST doesn't have articles about what they want to see, and conveniently forget about the important jobs ARRL does for us.

1. That only a minority of hams belong to ARRL speaks much more about hams than it does the ARRL.

2. I would challenge the ARRL haters to come up with scenario's of what the ARS would be like today (if it even existed) if there was no ARRL.

It has been reported that the troops may have mistakenly captured Rupert of Survivor Pearl island instead of Saddam. Confirmation of his true identity will be established after comparing chromosomes of possible subjects. The experts will compare samples from Rupert, KoKo the gorilla, Saddam, and N8WWN.

Very cool, Saddam is worth more alive than as a dead martyr. Making him a martyr would only give strength to his followers. It will be very demorlizing to his followers to see him captured alive, in such a humiliating state, in the hands of the American forces.
Russia, France, and Germany are probably a little nervous now as he may spill the beans about all the weapons they sold to his regime.

Yes I am involved with REACT, the Henry County team #6019, as well as with the Henry County chapter of the American Red Cross. I will make one correction to Twist's comment though, the amateur club that he is refering to is in Toledo, they meet at the Lucas County Red Cross

Creative book keeping and Yankee lawyers keeps them out of trouble.
Are they making a profit? Hell yes. No profit, No ARRL. Can they legally hide their profit? Well sure. With all of the books, CD's, DVD's, tapes and magazines they sell every year you know there is a profit. They are no different than GoodWill when it comes to making a profit except that Goodwill actually helps people. ARRL only helps itself!

Un-friggin-believable.

Non-profits aren't about profit. They're about salaries.

Lessee, just from their website, I've looked up exam dates and locations, Contest dates and rules, Hamfest dates and locations. I've downloaded project and info PDF's from them, looked up callsigns and matched names with callsigns. Looked through the swap section of the site, and been informed and sometimes entertained by the FCC enforcement news. Off the web, I've used their hints and kinks books, and I'd be lost without the Handbook.

And those are just the superficial things, not counting the spectrum work and really critical stuff such as BPL.

Yup, sure signs of an organization that only helps itself!

Good luck with this one now!

Must one become El Supremo Commandant to have an organization that they belong to and pay dues to represent them? Must be so in this case.

Actually, the road the FCC took is closer to leadership of the ARS than the road that the ARRL took.

It is necessary for the ARRL to fight BPL - it threatens their very existence.

Yes, yes, Dee. Of course. Whatever you say. ARRL spam-bot.

Wrong, Dan. And don't go turning into a spam-bot sychophant.

Hanoi Jane tried that approach with the NRA, and none of us seem to have our very own NVA anti-aircraft guns to sit behind.

With respect to the ARRL:

Withholding dues money changes them.

Not purchasing their products changes them.

Denouncing their policies changes them.

Voicing your concerns directly to the FCC cuts out the middleman.

Keith, you're still a Doug-ally who knows nothing of how chili should be made. That garbage of a chili recipe you posted a while back is nothing more than a recipe created on refrigerator clean out day. Be friends with Doug if you choose, but don't come here and attempt to distance yourself from him halfheartedly.

I bought a used Cobra 41 Plus CB, without the manual. The first pushbutton on it is labeled NB. What exactly is this? I can't tell that it does anything when it's pushed.

Also, the mic for the 41 Plus is a smaller DIN-type connector with 5 or so small pins. Do they make adaptors which will allow me to connect a regular 4-pin mic connector to the 41 Plus?

Finally, what is the Dynamike control supposed to do?

It is the Noise Blanker (gets rid of electrical noises from power wires and the air. There ain't no mystery to this!

An extension cord adaptor can be made to convert your 4 pin to the 5 pin din. Dynamic is a MIC GAIN--leave all the way up.

CW has been as good as dead for years. Only the delusional or in many cases senile amateurs think that a CW requirement can actually benefit amateur radio in the long run.

Some believe that a CW requirement is a good filter, but CW itself is a backward step in time. A more current, and better filter would be a higher technical test standard that would include the newer technologies. It should not be a cake walk. If the argument is to filter the undesirables then technical testing should be the filter and should be repeated every few years for all current amateurs.

Only that way can you truly filter the undesirables. The drunks, the sour old men, and the senile idiots that ruin amateur radio today.

P.S. I have no problem with voluntary CW use.

You do realize that the ARRL has the publication and distribution of QST contracted out, don't you? You should crab to them, not the league per se.

I had similar problems when I was globe trotting, like you. But when I finally did settle down I dropped both QST and CQ a note...and guess what? They sent me every single issue I missed.

How... by pointing out how many of their posts are going in my killfile -

Eh... try that in English. A little punctuation may also help.

You said "trying to justify what you did"... but you refuse to say what it is you are suggesting I did.
You have nothing but BS - you don't even know what you are saying most of the time.

>I am like twisty I treat those as they treat others.

What a load of BS.
I see people being friendly and helpful - but I don't see you trying that approach. I see you use foul language and sexual insults against people who are not doing that to anyone.

I have also seen people trying to call a truce - but you refuse to treat them the same way, you prefer the sexual crud posts.
I see people killfile you, but do you killfile them - no, you change your headers to get past their killfile.

You are either a liar, or stupid - you can chose which... but I don't care, you have nowt useful to add to this group, and can go in my killfile.

>> Some other people have shown a willingness to change things for the >> better -
>
>Who are those people and what have they done?

Try reading other posts in this group.
If you still cannot see the answer - go back to school and learn a bit more English. Don't keep asking people to re-post things that have only just been posted and will be on your server and in your cache.
That's just plain stupid.

>Nov 27 those posts were made ROFLMAO funny 3 out of how many posts you >have made that is one helluva average.

I mentioned 3 threads - not three posts.
Now, look at your average... one of the worst on the group.

Now, while you are at it - count how many posts you make using foul language and sexual insults... if you can count better than you can understand English.
Also, I am replying to posts directed at me - what is your problem with that?

Remember what you said... "I treat those as they treat others."
Now, will you killfile me, as I have killfiled you - or just change your header to get noticed?
Will you agree to a truce with those who will do the same?
Or maybe you were just lying all through your post... as usual.

You really do like to waste bandwidth with poinless repetition of the same text. It is pointless because they are already in the previous post, on news servers, and in people's caches.

I have already posted figures and even commented on how many of some people's posts are in troll threads - including people you call "keyclowns". I don't see you commenting on crud from your fellow "antis" - but then you post the same "gay" crud yourself.

I didn't see that name there... maybe you could quote the part where it names "leland scott". Excuse me if I don't hold my breath waiting.

Anyhow, it says that the accused was innocent - the cat did it.

>that my friend

If this is how you treat people you would like to be friends with, then you must be one very lonely person - which explains why you spend so many hours on here, filled with anger.

If not, then you are jumping to conclusions which do not fit - this is

And you are, more or less, the official LHA junior-Unabasher. I want you to be fully aware of your role in rrap, Brian. It goes like this: LHA is the organ grinder, playing a song called "I Left My Heart in ADA, and Newington Won't Give It Back". You are the little monkey in a bright red hat hopping up and down and acting silly for our amusement.

With all best wishes for the recovery of your missing T5 logs,

I don't smoke crack, and N8WWM is on his own. He's a repeater jammer and lives with a felon. I can't bless him more than he has done so to himself.

If they are making a profit, then who is getting the money?? It's got to be going somewhere. There are no stockholders receiving dividends. It doesn't do any good just to sit on the money. And don't say salaries as that is fully documented in the financial records and is not profit. If you believe the salaries are too high, get on the board that makes the decisions and reduce them.

Ha ha yes Brainlessbluster practically admits he wrote it, he does not deny it, he won't say he did not do it, he just says "prove I did it" LOL. Now see him squirming his way out of accusing Leland Scott of shooting a cber of course he will say the name he used is "Lelnad G. Spott" but that is the way this brummie operates. Lie, accuse, then deny. That's his MO. And of course he is here from across the pond simply to troll and defend the illegals in here.

It's more along the use of reverb to get a larger sound out of small speaker or if room acoustics are needing help. (using it for radio ads)

| Some echo may be added, but it is mostly they just up the gain on
| commercials and you don't hear the ending of every word repeated 20

| rules, just making a mess of the radio spectrum. If they don't obey the
| rules about the amount of power they can run, and operate on frequencies

| You have nothing to be proud of in cb, thanks to the cb mentality. Any
| bashing of cb from anyone is well deserved. No dark cloud following me,
| maybe you better look up.
|

Not all CB'rs fit into that catagory, many just like to sit around and chew the fat with their friends in the evenings. For years I ran a stock 148 GTL with stock mic into a shakespear bigstick to talk to the local group on ch.

13. Before that I had a Browning Golden Eagle MK IV. Yeah I hear alot of echo boards, most are irritating yes, but I know of one guy that almost needed one, he had a very soft voice and by using a connex board with no echo and just a bit of reverb he was able to get on the radio and be heard w/o having to scream. Personally I prefer stock mics over amplified mics, my voice carries well enough that I can talk with a stock mic at arms length and still be heard.

These are all pretty common mods that are popular in several ways,
You have a very nice rig there.
the flickering of the channel display would indicate a cold solder joint on the channel selector board if when wiggling the knob it goes off and on.
Unless you have done soldering before, I would not reccommend veturing into this on your own.

Oh, BS, Dee. You just got through saying that if you don't belong, if you don't rise to the top of the food chain, blah blah, horse crap, blah blah.

The ARRL wants to be the -ONE- voice for the ARS. I suggest that they start with forward thinking leadership representing all, not just their CW-centric membership. Or get out of the way.

Brakejob/4ID, the only problem with your little organ grinder/monkey scenario is that is didn't play out here.

You smell like you've been pissed on, so perhaps you've got some other monkey scenario going on there. In any case, its none of my biddness what you do in the privacy of your home so please stop trying to

With all kind wished for a speedy recovery, my T5 logs are intact.
You're still not in them, so don't solicit for an unearned card.

The FCC spoke. And what they spoke was not ARRL majority opinion.

What do you make of that, Dee?

Who said they were too high?

They have to balance their books somehow (to avoid the appearance of profit), and the salary is the most convenient place to dump the excess.

It's about your ignorance of what a non-profit really is.

Of course. I wasn't complaining about not getting the magazine - only explaining why I purchased the magazine at a book store.

Oh yeah...non-profit is the best place to be...And, the greates exploiter of human emotion, etc. With little effort, the dollars churn in--most people don't file for the donation they are entitled to (only large donations whose contributors are also playing the non-profit game).

That's why I'd like to see the tax structure change to some kind of percentage across the board. The only entity that would not have to pay any would be a church--and that only for the church building, its parking lot, and its parish. If they've got a private school, nursing home, etc., they pay. And, no deductions for anyone or anything across the board. Colgate, Mr. Bates, and me all pay the same percentage of tax out of our income; that's it--end of game.

The League doesn't issue Notices of Inquiry or Notices of Proposed Rule Making. As to the other items, you've as much as told us that if the majority of League membership doesn't agree with you, you'll take your ball and go home. Then you'll bad mouth the organization.

WHAT I DO NOT UNDERSTAND IS . . .
= = = The 'same' People Who Want Total Separation of Church and State.
= = = Want to Tax Churches and Any Religious Charitable Activities.

I For One Believe That: There Should be Separation of Organized Church and Organized State. But that there IS the 'personal' FREEDOM to be a Religious Person 'within' the State Setting. NO Taxation of ANY Religious Activities or Properties.

The Simple Fast Is: For about 150 Years before the Personal Income Tax and the Creation of the IRS by the Government of the USofA. The were NO Laws establishing Taxation of Religious Properties and Charitable Giving (Restricting Religious Freedom).

But -all- are required to learn a mode of communication that many have no interest in, to date. That may be changing. Do all General, Advanced, or Extra class operators use CW?

This is true on SSB more than AM. Lots of everyday qso going on, without echo boards and splatter boxes. There's assholes on any band, and since there's so many CBer's there's bound to be more jerks.

I do, but rarely. I know others that haven't since they tested, and I know yet others who recently got their tickets who only work CW and digital modes.

The point is this: Why bitch, moan, and complain about it, especially in a CB newsgroup, where CW has no real bearing? Whatever the requirements to get a license become, there will still be CW ops out there.

Leaving it all the way up (mic gain) can cause it to sound like shit, and

The mod is easy. Look at the band switch. The ten meter side of the band switch is wired a certain way. I can't remember the exact process but wire the 11 meter side the same way.

I typed "1011d" into www.dogpile.com, and down at #8 was Skipp's page:

That's a good place to start.

There you show how out of date you are. In recent years, the ARRL has shifted to a neutral stand on CW. Their efforts have indeed been centered on more important issues. What policies do you think the ARRL should be focusing on? They have to pick and choose. And again they have to pick the issues that the majority of their members want not the minority and not non-members. If they don't, they'll be voted out of office and someone will be put in who will do it that way.

And what efforts did you make to convert the majority of members to your point of view?? While the items you list are worthy activities, they don't do much to change policy.

Very simple. The ARRL only has the power to lobby. They cannot force the Ok where is the money going?? You said they dump it into salaries thus implying that said salaries are artificially inflated and then indicate that you don't think the salaries are too high. Which is it? Facts please, not emotional innuendo.

Something you cannot do, right DouGay? If you can, simply post the proof.

Now see him squirming his way out of accusing Leland Scott of > shooting a cber of course he will say the name he used is "Lelnad G.
> Spott" but that is the way this brummie operates. Lie, accuse, then

And that's your precise MO, DouGay. Lie, accuse, then deny. Funny how that works. It's called "projection". You project your foibles and failings on others and in that manner deny that you have them.

And of course he is here from across the pond > simply to troll and defend the illegals in here.

Not. That's why you are here, however: Simply to troll.

Remember, DouGay: Repeater jamming is also illegal, and you've been caught.

Amateur Radio Newsline™ Report 1374 – December 12, 2003

LISTENER ADVISORY: PLEASE ASSIST IN THIS SURVEY

This is directed only to those who are not currently ARRL members.

Amateur Radio Newsline has agreed to help compile a survey which seeks answers for these two questions:

1: If you are not a member of the ARRL, why not?

2: If you were a member of the ARRL and quit, why?

If you are already an ARRL member, please do not reply as those conducting the survey only want to hear from those hams who never joined or who have dropped their membership.

Please respond by e-mail to hamvideo@juno.com before December 18th. And we sincerely thank-you for assisting in this survey. (The Producers)

RADIO POLITICS: STUDY SAYS WHITE HOUSE SHOULD REGULATE RF SPECTRUM

A new study says that its time for the White House to replace the FCC as the nations regulator of the airwaves. Amateur Radio Newsline’s Bill Pasternak, WA6ITF, is here with the story:

The Center for Strategic and International Studies is a private research organization that analyzes global issues. And in a recent report, it basically posed the rhetorical questions of -- what if the FCC went away -- and -- what if the Executive branch of the federal government -- the White House -- took over management of the nation’s airwaves?

Would it be better or worse for America? The Center says yes. That in its view, such a change would definitely improve the way the finite resource called electromagnetic spectrum is managed, but critics have their doubts. One told Amateur Radio Newsline: -- quote -- “You think the spectrum management is bad now, put it under the executive branch” -- unquote.

Be that as it may, the Center’s report called Spectrum Management for the 21st Century was recently presented to Representative Tom Davis. Davis is chairman of the House Committee on Government Reform and the report recommends a number of steps to stop what the think-tank describes as the increasing number of fights over existing spectrum space.

Among its recommendations are to develop a national spectrum strategy. Increase research support for technologies that make better use of the spectrum and the controversial one. Establish a spectrum oversight advisory board to implement full White House control of all spectrum related matters.

Davis said his committee will weigh the report’s findings, along with the results of five ongoing General Accounting Office reviews and a Presidential Spectrum Policy Initiative study commissioned last June. With all of this information for Congress to gather and digest, any change in who will regulate the nations spectrum is probably years, if not decades away.

With thanks to KC0DGY for bringing this to our attention, I’m Bill Pasternak, WA6ITF, for the Amateur Radio Newsline.

Currently, the Federal Communications Commission oversees commercial use of the electronic magnetic spectrum while the National Telecommunications and Information Administration handles all aspects of government use. Its far to early to speculate on what effect -- if any -- such a change might have on Amateur Radio.

INTERNATIONAL - VK: 20 - 430 MHZ AT RISK IN VK-LAND

Australian hams may loose access to all of 420 through 430 MHZ. This, as demands in this part of the spectrum by non-amateurs increases.

Q-News reports on an e-mail from the Space & Terrestrial Systems Team at the Australian Communications Authority to the Wireless Institute of Australia’s Federal President Ernest Hocking, VK1LK, last Tuesday. It deals with an amendment that was made to the Australian radio regulations recently that prohibits the operation of amateur stations in the frequency band 420-430 MHz in certain locations. This, to minimize the risk of interference to that nations Fire Brigades Network and the Mobile Data Radio Service emergency services that operate in this frequency band.

VK1LK told Q-NEWS that he will continue to adopt the view that the Wireless Institute of Australia is looking for primary allocation in the 430 to 440 MHz band -- or at least some part of it -- to protect ham radio interests. (Q-News)

INTERNATIONAL: BIG HAM RADIO EDUCATIONAL SUCCESS IN ALBANIA

Success reported for 33 students in an internationally sponsored Albanian Amateur Radio training project. We go across the Atlantic to Jeremy Boot, G4NJH, is in Nottinham the UK for the latest:

The following update on the unique amateur radio training course that is ongoing in Albania has been sent in by Martti Laine, OH2BH, in Tirana.

"A memorable second week came to an end when the US ARRL delegation headed by K7WX and K9LA departed Tirana with many fond memories and new friendships taken back home”

"The theory exam was conducted on Wednesday the 26th of November with 33 students gaining a pass at the CEPT 1 level. Now the course will move on to pure amateur radio related subjects under the leadership of Uli, DJ2YA, while John, G3OKA, will head back to the UK after a job well done.”

Britain's RSGB deserves credit for their support of the first part of the program. I’m G4NJH, in Nottingham.

Another wave of lecturers representing Finland and Germany has now arrived. Also, Albanian authorities have released the callsign ZA1UT. This is an acronym for the 'University of Tirana and is meant to assist in commemorating this extraordinary ham radio educational program. (GB2RS)

HAM RADIO IN SPACE: K6DUE OPERATING EVENT UNDER WAY

The K6DUE International Space Station Commemorative Event from the International Space Station is finally under way. What’s described as a challenging schedule kept the crew from getting on the air November 29th and 30th, but the ISS ham station was active during a pass on Saturday, December 6th. We have more in this report:

According to ARISS International Chairman Frank Bauer, KA3HDO, numerous hams across North America and Europe were able to contact with Astronaut Mike Foal, KB5UAC or heard the ISS ham radio station downlink. Those who did qualify for a special ISS Commemorative Certificate. Information on obtaining one is on-line at www.rac.ca/ariss

KA3HDO also reports that the Phase 2 equipment setup has been completed and the gear activated at approximately 11:20 UTC on December 8th. The new radio is a Kenwood D 700 dual band transceiver. It appeared to operate flawlessly but the packet operation was turned off after Russian controllers requested that the crew power down the hardware while bilateral safety paperwork coordination is being completed. Bauer says that hopefully, this will be completed quickly and that the long awaited packet operation will be on the air once again.

The event commemorates the contributions of the late Roy Neal, K6DUE, to manned ham radio space operations and continues through the end of the month. (ARISS)

LAW: HIGH TECH MUST FIGHT CYBERTERRORISM

The Federal government says that technology companies must cooperate in the battle against cyber terrorism. This, according to Homeland Security Secretary Tom Ridge who said that the alternative is to submit to government imposed security regulations.

Speaking at a recent two day conference sponsored by his agency, Ridge said that the enemies of freedom use the same techniques as hackers do and the nations industries must be as diligent and determined as the hackers."

The two-day conference was the first formal brainstorming session to draft security guidelines and a cyberspace attack warning systems. (Published news reports)

ENFORCEMENT: FCC AGAIN WARNS AERO ENTHUSIASTS ABOUT UNLICENSED OPERATIONS

The FCC is once again warning several hang gliding and sky-diving enthusiasts and the operators of a number of training facilities about the use of ham gear by unlicensed persons. Bruce Tennant, K6PZW, reports:

In a letter to sixteen such California based flying groups, the FCC’s Riley Hollingsworth says that the Commission is receiving an increasing number of complaints that users of these facilities are operating Amateur Radio equipment without a license. Hollingsworth specifically notes the use of hand-held radio transceivers as the biggest violation.

Hollingsworth says that while the FCC encourages the use of radio equipment for the safety of flyers, there are numerous alternative radio services that do not require a license. These include the Family Radio Service and the Multiple Use Radio Service.

Hollingswoth adds that the use of Amateur Radio Transmitting equipment is also permissible as long as the users -- in this case the pilots and sky-divers -- are licensed in the Amateur Radio Service. Translated, they must have a ham ticket to put an Amateur band transceiver on-the-air.

For the Amateur Radio Newsline, I'm Bruce Tennant, K6PZW, reporting.

Hollingsworth's letter tells the groups that the use of radio transmitting equipment in a service where a license is required, without obtaining a license, is a violation the Communications Act and will result in criminal penalties. He says that fines normally range from $7,500 to $10,000. (FCC)

ENFORCEMENT: HOMEOWNERS ASSN MUST FIND INTERFERENCE

And a big win for a Pennsylvania ham that could be precedent setting. The FCC has written to the lawyer representing the Pine Ridge Community Association in the city of Stroudsburg. The note informs the counsel that his interpretation of the Community Association's obligations under Part 15 was incorrect and that the Association is required to investigate the source of its radio frequency interference to an Amateur licensee residing within the Association's property. (FCC)

AT THE FCC: CHANGES AT THE CGB

Still with the FCC, word that Louis J. Sigalos has been named Chief and Sherry Dawson has been named Deputy Chief of the FCC's Consumer Affairs and Outreach Division of the Consumer & Governmental Affairs Bureau. This bureau is responsible for conducting outreach to the American public on a broad array of telecommunications issues including the deployment of broadband services, the transition to digital TV, wireless phones and services including local number portability and much more. The Division also promotes public awareness of the Commission's strategic goals and initiatives through consumer advisories and fact sheets, consumer forums and participation in conferences and workshops. CHANGING OF HE GUARD: JULIAN HIRSCH

Some sad news. Famed technical writer Julian Hirsch, W2KFB, who spent most of his life testing the latest developments in stereo equipment and explaining them for Stereo Review magazine has died.

Hirsch was a graduate electrical engineer from Cooper Union University. He and Gladden Houck created the Hirsch-Houck Laboratories to test electronic equipment in 1957.

Hirsch went on to author more than 4,000 reports on stereo systems, speakers, turntables and other equipment until his retirement in 1998. He was 81 when he passed away on November 24th. (LA Times, other published news reports)

INDUSTRY NEWS: JVC TO CLOSE US VHS TAPE PLANT

A not so happy Christmass for some employees of JVC America. This, as the company announces that it will shut down its VHS tape production plant in Tuscaloosa Alabama by January 31st.

The reason given for the closure is the loss of the VHS market to Digital Video Discs. About 115 people will be laid off from the VHS tape plant closing. JVC already has compact disc and DVD plants in Tuscaloosa and Kennesaw, Georgia that employ about 550 people. (KB4KCH)

ARNEWSLINE(TM) NEWS: WE THANK YOU

I'm Andy Jarema, N6TCQ with a list of people to thank.

It's been since March that we did this, and we were in big trouble financially at the time. The following is only the first half of who helped us in April:

George Jacobs W3ASK of Silver Spring, MD. He's the former Propagation and Space Communications Editor of CQ Magazine.

Benton Bonney, W4PE of Orlando

David Ziskind, KE4QLH of Atlanta

Joseph Bartzi, Jr., KC8DKF of Wadsworth, OH, who since became a recurring contributor

The Hiram's Ham Amateur Radio Society of Reynoldsburg, OH

Donald West, W9DEW of Fortville, IN

Paul Lebzelter, K8PFL of West Branch, MI

Michael Leahan, N9PQK of Sun Prairie, WI

Gary Harrison, K0BC of Bolivar, MO

Kent Stutzman of Newton, KS

George Ancell, N5LEZ and B&G Communications of Electra, TX

That wasn't everybody in April- we'll continue trying to catch up in the weeks that follow.

Finally, in the entertainment industry, oftentimes one of the biggest stars is listed at the end of the opening credits, such as: "and starring Martin Sheen as President Bartlett."

We at Newsline also have one of those: "and starring Roy Blanchard, N5YHS,” as an occasional, but extraordinary benefactor. Roy, you're amazing!”

Thank you to everyone. Your April response to our crisis was exceptional, and got us all the way to December. We promise to do our best to continue to earn your care and support.

A reminder that Newsline is a 501(c)(3), federally chartered, California non-profit corporation. FCC regulations prohibit us from telling you exactly how to support us, but that information is on our website at www.arnewsline.org.

ON THE AIR: 6 METERS IS BIG IN KNOXVILLE

If you live near Knoxville Tennessee and like to operate vintage ham gear, listen up. This one is for you.

The Repeater Journal reports that a group of local hams have gone back to the future and created a new Six Meter Nostalgia Net that meets on 50 point 4 Megahertz -- or should we say Megacycles in this case. The gathering takes place every Thursday night at 8:30 P.M. local time and anyone with gear capable of running full carrier A-M is invited to take part.

And what if you are not into A-M operation? Well the same group also sponsors F-M and S-S-B nets on Sundays. The F-M gathering takes places at 9 P.M. on the 53.770 MHz repeater. Five minutes after the F-M net is secured the S-S-B net takes to the airwaves on 50 point 200 MHz.

And if that’s not enough, yet another Knoxville area 6 meter F-M net has just started up on the 53 point 610 MHz repeater. It meets on Thursdays at 8:00 P-M local Eastern U-S time. (Repeater Journal)

EMERGING TECHNOLOGY: RADIO RESEARCH: NAVY AND AIR FORCE AGREE ON NEW JOINT COMMUNICATIONS SYSTEM

The Air Force and Navy have agreed to merge their two formerly separate programs for the acquisition of improved radio systems. The result will be the development of a single family of radios designed to replace incompatible units in use across the services.

Called the Joint Tactical Radio System, this joint Air Force-Navy initiative is expected to produce more than 17,000 units. Initial deliveries of the new radios are expected to begin in late 2008. (Science OnLine)

INTERNATIONAL - CANADA: VE9HC RE-ELECTED

Radio Amateurs of Canada reports that Hugh Clark, VE9HC was recently re-elected Section Manager in the Maritimes Section. This, for a two-year term that will begin on March 1st, 2004. Clark ran unopposed eliminating the need for a balloted election. (RAC)

INTERNATIONAL - IRAQ: BAGHDAD COMES TO ECHOLINK

Ian Abel, G3ZHI, reports that Iraq is now on Echolink. Ian says that on December 4th he held a 90 minute cyberspace QSO with YI1SRA in Baghdad using the Echolink program. Laith was operating from an Internet cafe as full Internet access has yet to be widely restored in the city.

YI1SRA reported that he and fellow members of the Baghdad Radio Club are hoping to install a 2 meter repeater in the city. It would be linked to Echolink network allowing on demand around the clock contact with the city and provide communications back home for any foreign ham in Baghdad.

YI1SRA also now has e-mail. Messages to him go to laithtariq@yahoo.com (G3ZHI)

DX

In D-X, now its your chance to QSO the real Santa Claus on the air. This, as station OH9SCL is active from Santa Claus Land near the Arctic Circle. OH9SCL will take to the ham radio airwaves from December 17th through the 21st. Operation will be 80 through 10 meters on cw, ssb, rtty, psk31 and slow scan television. The digital modes will be primary focus durning the weekend hours. Santa’s ham radio helpers this year include Finnish amateurs OH2BH, OH2NWG, OH3BHL and several others. QSL via OH9UV. (Via e-mail)

Meantime, the ARRL says that its new Logbook of the World secure contact-verification database continues to grow. ARRL Membership Services Manager Wayne Mills, N7NG, reports that nearly 5000 users have uploaded logs containing some 25.4 million Amateur Radio contacts. This has resulted in more than 1 million QSL records to date. (ARRL)

THAT FINAL ITEM: BRINGING THE DEAD BANDS BACK TO LIFE

And finally, its that time of year that the V-H-F frequencies are pretty dead as far as propagation goes. So here's as idea from Terry Hosack, W-A-3-L-T-B, on how to bring them to life.

Terry suggests over the V-H-F Reflector that you download a copy of the W-S-J-T program for digital high speed meteor scatter, weak signal, trop and E-M-E. He says to be certain that you get all the current updates including the new JT65 mode.

Hosack says that other than skeds, activity may be found on 144.140 and 50.260 Mhz mainly during contest and activity periods. If you are on the East Coast just beam west. Conversely, if you live out West, beam to the East and you might be surprised at what you might hear.

Terry says to just put the program in the monitor mode and see if you can decode any signals. If you find an interest in the mode you can buy or build an interface to actually transmit and help bring the dead VHF bands back to life.

The following web site is used for Skeds and chat about WSJT and meteorscatter: http://www.pingjockey.net/cgi-bin/pingtalk (VHF Reflector)

It was 6 years old in November.
Only in the Software industry, with companies such as MS, would something 6 years old be considered 5 years out of date.

I am still using software designed for Windows 3.1 - and my children still use some DOS games and graphics software. It all still works fine.
In fact, my old version of CorelDraw still produces better graphics than some modern software. Not much good for the Web, unless you convert to bitmap first, but better for schematics than any bitmap type software.

Many CBs in use now are much older than 6 years - possibly the majority here in the UK.

Regards,

Peter.

Dee, what ARRL office(s) do you hold in your effort to stem the tide
